The Weather
Today—Fair, warm, and rather windy.
Yesterday—High, 71; low, 45.

The Washington Post

Single Copy Price 5c

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA LIBRARY

NO. 24,976 — Entered as Second Class Matter, Postoffice, Washington, D. C. — Copyright, 1944, By The Washington Post. — WASHINGTON: THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1944

CARRIER DELIVERY. CITY ZONE—Daily and Sunday $1.10 per Month. Daily Only, .65 per Mo.—Sun. Only, .45 per Mo. SINGLE COPY PRICE: Daily, $0.05. Sunday, .10

Allied Ships Reported Nearing Antwerp

Democratic Party Is 'For Sale,' Dewey Says

Roosevelt Accused Of Offering It to 'Highest Bidder, Which Is PAC'

Roston, Nov. 1 (AP).—In a dual attack on President Roosevelt and his "violent supporters," Gov. Thomas E. Dewey declared tonight that his Democratic opponent, in an overwhelming desire to perpetuate himself in office for 16 years, has put his party on the auction block—for sale to the highest bidder."

And the highest bidder, Dewey said in a prepared broadcast, is not the "notorious One Thousand Club," but the "Political Action Committee of Sidney Hillman and the Communists of Earl Browder."

While asserting he had no quarrel with communism in Russia, the Republican presidential nominee flayed both Hillman and Browder as leading a fourth term move "so our form of government may more easily be changed."

"Biggest Political Boss"

Re-echoing the phrase which he has attributed to Mr. Roosevelt—"Clear everything with Sidney"—Dewey said:

"Sidney Hillman has become the biggest political boss in the United States, and in the words of David Dubinsky, Sidney Hillman is a 'front for the Communists.'"

Dubinsky, president of the potent International Ladies Garment Workers Union, split with the American Labor Party last spring over the Communist issue. He formed a right wing element of the party.

Dewey, addressing a Republican rally in the 13,500-seat Boston Garden, declared that with Hillman's aid "the Communists are seizing control of the New Deal, through which they aim to control the Government of the United States."

"If they should succeed," he said, "the fundamental freedoms of every American would stand in gravest jeopardy."

Coercion Charged

The former New York prosecutor said Hillman "stalks the country squeezing dollars for the fourth term campaign out of the working men and women of America, under threat that if they do not give the dollar, they will lose their jobs."

"But the working men and women of America are rising in protest all over the Nation," Dewey said. "Letters have been pouring in

See DEWEY, Page 2, Column 5.

400,000 See Gov. Dewey in Boston Streets

By Edward T. Folliard

Boston, Nov. 1.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey stormed into the Irish Catholic stronghold today with a clear realization that Massachusetts may decide Tuesday whether he is to take over the greatest job in the world—the Presidency.

Arriving here three days in advance of President Roosevelt, he was acclaimed by crowds estimated by police at 400,000—and this at an hour when most Bostonians ordinarily are at work.

The Republican challenger, now near the peak of his drive for the White House, found that anti-New Deal fires were flaming high in Boston and threatening to eat away the edge that President Roosevelt is widely conceded to have on Massachusetts' 16 electoral votes. He found this to be especially true among those of Irish and Italian blood.

Walsh Support "Offended"

Accordingly, in a tumultuous rally tonight in the Boston Garden, Governor Dewey "poured it on" with a speech charging that, at a time when a "pagan philosophy" is sweeping much of the world, President Roosevelt is letting the forces of communism "capture" the Democratic Party.

The most dangerous situation for the Democratic ticket—and conversely the most hopeful for the Republican—was created by the "unfortunate remark" of President Roosevelt's running mate, Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri.

Truman was here over the week-end and then went to Providence, R. I. In a press conference he was asked what the difference was between the isolationist records of Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.) and of the eight Republican Senators he had asked Governor Dewey to repudiate.

"No difference," said Truman, "except that Walsh has two years to See COLOR, Page 2, Column 6.

Quads' Parents

Associated Press WIREPHOTO

ALL DOING WELL—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cirminello of Philadelphia, to whom quadruplets—three girls and a boy—were born yesterday. The mother, a former Government girl, and all four babies were reported doing well

4 Die, 3 Hurt In Tobacco House Fire

More Bodies Believed In Embers of Large Virginia Market

South Boston, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Flames which early today destroyed the massive Virginia-Carolina tobacco warehouse claimed the lives of at least four persons.

Authorities were still directing a search of the smoldering debris for bodies of others believed to have perished in the fire.

The charred bodies of three were taken from the ruins, while a fourth victim died at a local hospital a few hours after the building caught fire about 3:30 a. m. and quickly burned to the ground.

Two of the bodies were identified by an examination of watches and knives—the only remaining articles not destroyed—as Edgar Hamlett, 64, of Rice, and Walter Day, 70, Negro, of Nelson. The third body taken from the ruins had not been identified late today.

Tom Fuller, Negro, of Jeffress, died in the South Boston Hospital shortly before noon from burns.

C. L. Gibbs, 42, Burkeville tobacco grower, was said to be in a critical condition. The others, Preston Lingfore, 27, of Nelson, and Richard Foster, Negro, of Cumberland County, were less seriously burned.

Some private automobiles as well as seven or eight trucks were lost in the blaze, it was reported. An estimated 140,000 pounds of tobacco in the building was lost.

Total property damage from the fire, which was attributed to the explosion of an oil stove in the warehouse waiting room about 3:40 a. m., was said to be about $104,000, counting an estimated $65,000 worth of leaf which was to have been sold today.

Belgians to Receive Food

Brussells, Nov. 1 (AP).—The first consignment of more than 8 million pounds of food which the Allied armies are to give Belgium between now and November 20 will be delivered to the Belgian government Friday.

1st Caesarian Quads Born to Ex-D. C. Couple

Philadelphia, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Quadruplets were born to Mrs. Joseph Cirminello, 30, Upper Darby, Pa., in a history-making caesarian multiple delivery today and spent their first hours of life in incubators in a special nursery at the Philadelphia Lying-in Hospital.

The operation, believed to be the first caesarian delivery of quadruplets in the history of obstetrics, was performed by Dr. John C. Ullery, 37.

The three girls and a boy, delivered two minutes apart were reported by Dr. Ralph M. Tyson, pedistrician, who attended them after birth, as appearing "perfectly healthy."

Their mother, an attractive, dark-haired 118-pound woman whose only other child died following a caesarian delivery four years ago, was reported in good condition.

Formerly Worked Here

[Both parents formerly worked in Washington as Government employes for the Securities and Exchange Commisison before it moved to Philadelphia. According to SEC officials, Mrs. Cirminello worked as a Government stenographer from February, 1937, to 1942. Cirminello began work in Washington as a SEC messenger in 1936. At that time, both parents were living at 1653 Colonial Terrace, Arlington, Va., officials said.

[The mother of the quadruplets is on leave from her position as secretary to SEC Commissioner Robert K. McConnaughey. Cirminello is now an analyst with the commission —Editor's note.]

["I've never seen so many hands and feet in my life," said Dr. Ullery, according to the Associated Press. Quadruplets are born on an average of once in every 658,503 births.]

Before the operation, Cirminello said his wife believed she would have twins.

The operation required approximately 15 minutes, Dr. Ullery said, and was witnessed by about 10 leading obstetricians, in addition

See QUAD, Page 2, Column 2.

$60,000 Building Unused

1300 Children Play in Streets As Custodial Cost Is Argued

More than 1300 Negro children from the Parkside and Foote st. war housing developments have been forced to play in the streets for the last seven months while Federal and District government officials argue about paying custodial costs on a $60,000 community building located at these National Capital Housing Authority projects, it was learned yesterday.

Representatives of the Parkside Tenants' Council appeared before Commissioner Guy Mason yesterday to seek aid in opening the building but were told to appeal to NCHA, which built the developments.

Admitting that the tenants had "just cause" to complain since their children have little more than a "piece of grass" for play space, Commissioner Mason pointed out that the local government should not pay custodial costs to operate the building.

He said that the District's Recreation Department has appealed to the Federal Works Agency for funds to staff the structure in question.

John Ihlder, executive officer of NCHA, answered yesterday that his agency also did not have funds for such service. Since the building serves the entire neighborhood around the two war housing projects, he felt raising rents of tenants for that purpose would be unjustified.

He explained that the building is a temporary structure, owned by the Federal Public Housing Authority, which authorized its construction. The matter of financing the custodial services now has been referred to FPHA, he said.

See COMPLAINT, Page 2, Col. 2.

Stilwell Case Facts Hidden, Judd Says

GOP Representative Promises Full Story Within 24 Hours; Nelson to Go Back

Minneapolis, Nov. 1 (AP).—Representative Walter H. Judd (R., Minn.), in a speech at a Republican rally here today, said "certain essential facts (which I know to be true) which really forced the showdown in China and the withdrawal of Gen. Joseph Stilwell were skillfully omitted from the Administration's statement."

Promising a formal and complete statement within 24 hours, Judd declared "all we got from the White House was the official, regular whitewash of the American position, leaving practically all of the blame on China."

"I think it is deplorable that such a statement should be issued now, leaving practically all the blame on China when all of our hopes for an early victory over Japan depend on Chinese morale and her and our ability to work together with maximum efficiency against the Japs on the mainland of Asia."

Dr. Judd only recently returned from the Far East.

Nelson Back to China

By John M. Hightower
Associated Press Staff Writer

Donald M. Nelson, President Roosevelt's production troubleshooter, is slated t oreturn to China soon to help set up munitions production. The White House evidently believes the Stilwell affair has not prejudiced his chances for success.

In fact, it was learned yesterday that some of the arrangements previously made for invigorating China's war effort are believed not to have been upset by the President's recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell at the request of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

That is the interpretation authoritatively placed on Mr. Roosevelt's emphatic assertion that the trouble was a clash of personalities on the part of the general and the generalissimo and that policy and strategy issues were not involved.

There are several such issues involved in the Chinese situation, however, and the progress made in solving them can be reported on the highest authority as developing along these lines:

Before Nelson and Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley went to China two months ago Chiang Kai-Shek had fully agreed that his armies should have an American combat commander. He had agreed, despite a long record of past differences, that that commander should be General Stilwell.

Principle Not Changed

Stilwell's recall did not change the principle but merely the man. Presumably, if the shifting strategy of the war still calls for major combat use of Chinese forces at this stage of fighting Maj. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, or some one

See STILLWELL, Page 2, Col. 4.

Political Talks Scheduled Today

7:30 p. m. MBS—Recorded rebroadcast of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's Boston speech sponsored Republican National Committee. (WOL.)

7:30 p. m. (Blue Eastern network only)—Republican National Committee program to include Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts; Governor Edge of New Jersey; Governor Baldwin of Connecticut; Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, and Senator Austin of Vermont. (WMAL.)

6:15 p. m. MBS—Representative Joseph W. Martin, sponsored Republican National Committee. (WOL.)

8:30 p. m. Blue—Barbara Stanwyck, five-minute speaker. Sponsored Republican National Committee. (WMAL.)

9 p. m. NBC—President Roosevelt from Washington. Sponsored Democratic National Committee. (WRC.)

9:30 p. m. CBS—Gov. John W. Bricker. Sponsored Republican National Committee. (WRC.)

9:55 p. m. NBC—Representative William L. Dawson of Illinois. Sponsored, Democratic National Committee. (WRC.)

10:15 p. m. Blue—Program under sponsorship of ILGWU Campaign Committee for Roosevelt and Truman, Russell Davenport, Walter Huston and Adele Rogers St. John. (WMAL.)

10:30 p. m. NBC—Phillip Murray. Sponsored by CIO. (WRC.)

Seesaw Battle Raging for Big Leyte Base

Dismounted Cavalry Meets Large Enemy Force at Carigara

MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines (Thursday), Nov. 2 (AP).—Dismounted First Cavalry troops were locked today in a seesaw battle with a large Japanese force at Carigara for control of that town 7 miles east of the only escape highway open to the retreating enemy on Leyte.

Maj. Gen. Verne Mudge's men, moving west along the Carigara Bay coast from Barugo, opened the vital engagement yesterday just east of Carigara town.

Moving ahead after the skirmish, the troops encountered a larger enemy force and engaged it in the town itself whose fall would pave the way for a drive on Pinamopan, northern terminus of the escape road to Ormoc.

While this fight continued, other Japanese strove with counter-attacks, concentrated artillery and bridge demolitions to check another peril to Carigara town posed from the south by Twenty-fourth Division troops of Maj. Gen. Fred Irving.

Heavy mortar fire pinned down the Yanks for hours. Irving countered with an intense bombardment. Still the Japanese held on. Sherman tanks tried to break through over broken terrain but failed in the face of point-blank fire.

The Nipponese were dislodged only after the American infantry-

See LEYTE, Page 2, Column 3.

Addressed to 50 Nations

President Pleads for Freedom Of Air to Heal Wounds of War

By James V. Piersol
Post Aviation Editor

Chicago, Nov. 1.—"Air transport will be the first available means by which we can start to heal the wounds of war," President Roosevelt said in a message to the opening session of the International Civil Aviation conference here late this afternoon.

More than 700 persons, including the official delegates and their counselors from 50 countries, applauded the message when it was read by Adolf A. Berle, Jr., Assistant Secretary of State, who is temporary president of the conference.

The President of the United States made a clear plea for freedom of the air when he urged the delegates to "work together so the air may be used by humanity to serve humanity."

He expressed the hope that the conference, before adjournment, would make the necessary arrangements "to start using the air as a great peaceful medium instead of a battle area."

The President pointed out that "the progress of the armies, navies and air forces of the United Nations has already opened great areas to peaceful intercourse which had been closed for four black years."

"Rebuilding of peace means reopening of the lines of communication" the President said, adding that "it would be a reflection on the common sense of nations if they were not able to make arrangements at least on a provisional basis . . . for the opening of much needed air routes."

Air commerce "has reached maturity and is a pressing necessity," the President said.

He urged the confernece to "not dally with the thought of creating great blocks of closed air, thereby tracing in the sky the conditions of possible future wars," and "to see to it that the air which God made for everyone shall not become the means of dominance over anyone."

Of special interest to the organizations now operating, and others proposing to operate, international airlines was the President's reference to the availability of transport planes to implement established services and to start new lines. None of the 200-odd operating companies in this country has enough planes to take care of current demands for transportation of either cargo or passengers.

Additional planes "should be available" . . . "when either the German or Japanese enemy is defeated," the President said. More would become available when both are defeated. But to whom they shall become available first, what country and what operating company, is a question unlikely to be

See CONFER, Page 2, Column 3.

Tokyo Radio Reports B-29 Daytime Raid

Not Confirmed by War Department; Confused Accounts Disclose 'Jitters'

By Ben W. Gilbert

Revealing a plain case of jitters as a result of Japan's increasing vulnerability to attack by air, the Japanese radio yesterday broadcast confused and conflicting accounts of a daring daylight raid on Tokyo by American B-29 Superfortresses.

According to Tokyo, some factories "lost their calmness," during the raid which was said to have occurred shortly after 1 p. m. yesterday Tokyo time. There was no confirmation of the raid report from the War Department here.

Earlier broadcasts stated that only one of the powerful flying giants was seen over the Japanese capital. Later accounts stated that "two" or "several" planes were involved.

Used as Defense "Peg"

Japanese announcement of the raid was used as a peg to urge the Japanese to strengthen the "air defense fighting spirit," and one broadcast told how to put out air-raid fires, including the comment that it was important to have "ample water" available.

One home broadcast cautioned that Japanese homes are "fire-traps," another said they "burn easily."

If the raid occurred, it was the first American appearance over Tokyo since April 18, 1942, when carrier-based B-25s commanded by Lieut. Gen. James Doolittle bombed Tokyo.

Office of War Information and Federal Communications Commission listening posts heard no report that the raiders dropped bombs or caused any damage, but the Japanese broadcasts insisted that interceptors and ground batteries forced the B-29s to flee.

One broadcast report which the Japanese acknowledged to be without confirmation said that "one of the enemy planes is believed shot down by our interceptors."

See Political Purpose

Early Tokyo broadcasts to the Japanese homeland implied that the raider or raiders came from the Marianas, where, according to the Japanese, B-29s are based.

A broadcast to India stated: "The enemy did this for reconnaissance purposes, also for political effect in the presidential campaign, and also to interfere with Japanese offensive activities in the Philippines."

A Domei press wireless dispatch which United States monitors picked up called the raid a "Roosevelt face-saving aerial stunt" to cover up American "debacles" in the Philippines and Formosa naval battles.

Some broadcasts indicated that the planes may have flown over nearby Yokohama as well as Tokyo.

Russ President Sees Allies in Germany Soon

Moscow, Nov. 1 (INS).—Soviet President Mikhail Kalinin in an article featured in the Russian press today declared that the day is not far off when Soviet and American troops will meet on German soil."

"This will be the day of our complete victory," he predicted, and added a warning that more fierce battles were yet to come.

No Cure Is Known

Third Victim of Rabies Dead, Doctor Calls It 'Most Unusual'

The third rabies victim in Washington within 12 months, a 16-year-old Mount Rainier youth, yesterday was reported to have died of the disease for which no cure is known.

Dr. James J. Feffer, 2703 Upshur st., Mount Rainier, the boy's physician, said the case would be "one of the most unusual" in medical history if the parents' assumption is true that he was infected with rabies some 14 months ago by his pet dog.

The dog was taken to a hospital on Labor Day, 1943, after he acted "peculiarly" and appeared to be sick, according to Dr. Feffer's information. Several days later, it was said, the dog died after he had apparently strangled himself in a net at the hospital. No examination for rabies was performed, Dr. Feffer said.

Dr. Feffer pointed out that no bite would have been necessary from his pet dog as he could have become infected with saliva through scratches on the skin. The doctor said the boy showed no signs of any illness all the time he supposedly carried the deadly infection. He became ill suddenly October 13, was taken to George Washington University Hospital October 15 and died there four days later.

Reported yesterday by Dr. John M. Byers, Prince Georges County, Md., health officer, the death was established in an autopsy as caused by rabies.

Last March, a 65-year old woman died at Gallinger Hospital five months after being bitten by a rabid dog. In November, 1943, a soldier stationed here died after being infected by a dog.

Downs Nine Japs In Single Flight

Associated Press Wirephoto from U. S. Navy

COMDR. DAVID McCAMPBELL of Los Angeles, who shot down nine Japanese planes in a single flight in combat in the Philippines area. McCampbell, top-ranking Navy carrier-plane ace, has 30 enemy planes to his credit

'Several Ships' U. S. Loss in Philippines

Three Small Carriers Are Included in Nimitz Summation

Pearl Harbor, Nov. 1 (INS).—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today that "several" United States warships were damaged in last week's sea-air battle of the Philippines in which 60 Japanese ships were blasted, 24 of them sunk.

American losses included three small aircraft carriers, two destroyers, a destroyer escort and some lesser craft.

Admiral Nimitz said he would maintain his usual policy of not making public the names of the damaged units.

Nimitz explained that such information, revealing the extent of American naval damage, would be valuable to the Japanese Admiralty in estimating the strength of American sea forces now deployed in the western Pacific.

Nimitz also announced new attacks by U. S.-land-based planes on Japanese positions in the northern Urile Islands, northern Marianas, the Carolines, northern Palaus, and eastern Marshalls.

De Gaulle Escapes Injury as Shells Spray Cemetery

Paris, Nov. 1 (INS).—Gen. Charles de Gaulle missed possible death by minutes today when an exploding ammunition train threw projectiles into a cemetery on the outskirts of Paris where the chief of the French provisional government had just concluded making a memorial address.

In less than 15 minutes after the departure of the general and his staff, at least two shells were hurled into the area where he had been standing and exploded with great force. Two persons were killed.

[French officials initially expressed the opinion it was sabotage which had no relation to De Gaulle's appearance, according to the Associated Press. In connection with this theory, there have been reports that as many as 10,000 Germans still are in Paris, hiding or disguised.—Editor's note.]

Shock Units Storm Island At Estuary Entrance

Bulk of 40,000 Nazis Elude Trap; British Broaden Maas Foothold

BULLETIN

London (Thursday), Nov. 2 (AP). Allied shipping already has entered the 3-mile-wide Schelde River Estuary with supplies bound for the great Belgian port of Antwerp, the Berlin radio said early today.

London, Nov. 1 (AP).—Allied shock troops, including British commandos thrown ashore under cover of a blazing naval bombardment, smashed onto Walcheren Island at the entrance of the Schelde Estuary in Holland from the east, west and south today in a strong assault to knock out the last German batteries barring Antwerp to Allied shipping.

Troops of the British Second Army broadened their foothold on the Maas River in south central Holland to more than a mile and maintained relentless pressure against German rearguards.

A spokesman for Lieut. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey, commander of the British Second Army, tacitly admitted that a skillful withdrawal from the Breda pocket had saved the bulk of some 40,000 German troops who for several days were threatened with entrapment. He said only enemy rearguards were left south of the Maas and that the main German Fifteenth Army now was fortifying a new Rotterdam-Arnhem defense line.

Making Good Progress

British commandos swarmed ashore on the southern and western coasts of Walcheren Island—which measures only 8 by 10 miles square—in the early dawn and were reported making good progress at the end of the day. Canadian troops at the same time fought their way through a virtual wall of Nazi steel in storming across a causeway from South Beveland Island on the east and establishing a firm foothold on Walcheren.

One commando force made a direct assault on the harbor and town of Vlissingen (Flushing) in 50 or 60 landing boats. The German radio said a "heavy battle" was raging for the town, which sits at the southern tip of Walcheren Island and commands the 3-mile wide entrance to the Schelde from the North Sea.

A second landing was made at Westkapelle at the extreme western tip of Walcheren and 8 miles northwest of Vlissingen. A heavy fog obscured the landing boats from German shore batteries. When the weather cleared after noon Allied medium and fighter bombers swarmed over the island.

Strong Naval Support

Heavy naval gunfire supported the seaborne landing. Berlin said that Nazi fliers had seen a British battleship of the King George V (35,000-ton) class, four cruisers and numerous landing vessels standing offshore "which indicates that other attempts on Walcheren are to follow."

Late frontline dispatches said all German guns on Walcheren were silent, perhaps knocked out by naval gunfire. The only German guns on Walcheren which escaped the flooding of the island last month when Allied bombers breached North Sea dikes were believed to have been at Vlissingen and at Middelburg.

2000 in Coastal Pockets

With Walcheren Island finally freed of the Nazis, who were said to be putting up only nominal opposition there, the long Scheldt waterway to Antwerp will be cleared to Allied traffic except for a job of minesweeping.

Some 2000 battered Germans still held out in tiny pockets on the Belgian coast outside the entrance to the estuary, but they had lost fortifications near Breskens, across from Vlissingen, which commanded the big waterway. These Germans were being driven back through the streets of the little coastal village of Knocke, 4 miles east of

See WAR, Page 2, Column 2.

Today's Index

	Page		Page
Columnists	8, 9	Mary Haworth	12
Crossword	6	Marquis Childs	8
Death Notices	3	Nelson Bell	6
Drew Pearson	9	Radio	13
Editorials	8	ShirleyPovich	10
Federal Diary	3	Sports	10, 11
Financial	14	What's Going On and Where	13
Gentler Sex	12	Women	12
Leonard Lyons	6

Last Budapest Key Captured by Reds

War Sidelights

Properties Of Duce, 'Best Girl,' Seized

Rome, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—All the properties of former Italian Premier Benito Mussolini, and those of his favorite mistress, Clara Petacci, were seized today under an order of the Rome Tribunal.

The order applied also to all the possessions of Miss Petacci's father, sister and brothers. It was assumed by the court that the Petacci holdings had been acquired through her relationship with the former Duce.

However, it was readily admitted, the seizures affected only a small part of Mussolini's total wealth, most of which reportedly is cached in Brazil.

The only Mussolini property not covered by the order are the contents of the Villa Torlonia, where he lived here.

The villa is owned by the Torlonia family, the present head of which is Prince Alessandro Torlonia who is of American ancestry.

Parliament 'Picketed'

London, Nov. 1 (AP).—About 1000 London aircraft workers demonstrated outside Parliament today against being laid off at aircraft plants after certain quotas were completed. "We want jobs," they chanted, and waved banners reading "Jobs, not doles," and "8000 sacked."

No Coal Till New Year

Paris, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Parisians, already shivering from the first raw wintry spell, were told officially today that no coal will be available for heating homes until the New Year at the earliest. The announcement pointed out that the disorganization of transport and vital military needs makes it impossible to bring coal to Paris.

To Die for Treason

Paris, Nov. 1 (U.P.).—Count Armand Chastenet de Puysegur, 75-year-old founder of a collaborationist chain letter organization, was sentenced to death today by the special treason court in the Palace of Justice.

De Puysegur readily admitted his guilt and name; Camille Arden, a director general of the Societe General, one of France's largest banks, as the man who paid him 20,000 francs a month to carry on the work. The banker was called to the witness stand and denied the accusation.

Germans Reportedly Have Cleared Out Of Petsamo Region

London, Nov. 1 (AP).—The Red army thrust armored spearheads within 40 miles of Budapest today, capturing more than 100 communities, including the big railway center and major defense bastion of Kecskemet, in an offensive rolling northwestward between the Danube and Tisza Rivers.

A Moscow communique, which also announced that the Germans had been completely cleared from the Petsamo region of Arctic Finland, said nothing of the Polish, east Prussian and west Latvian sectors of the long eastern front.

It made clear, however, that a big-scale drive across the plains of Hungary was progressing steadily toward its goal, Budapest.

Beside Kecskemet, the last important barrier in that open country, the Russians reported the capture of Kesdoros, railway junction town 30 miles southwest of Kiskemet.

Germans Retreating

Indicating the speed with which the Germans fled the communique said that at the airdrome at Iszak, 17 miles southwest of Kecskemet and captured Tuesday, they had seized 48 enemy planes.

The companion Soviet drive more than 100 miles northeast of Budapest in the northeast corner of Hungary, also progressed during the day, Moscow said, with capture of more than 40 places northeast and west of the district center of Nyiregyhaza.

Kecskemet itself is 44 miles southeast of Budapest, but German commentators admitted the Russians had broken through on both sides.

No Front Line

On the northern front, the Germans said their trapped troops in southwestern Latvia had sealed off a deep Soviet breach south of Priekule and held firm against another Russian thrust 30-odd miles southeast of Liepaja. But it was added that their lines at some points had been pulled back several miles and "a recognizable front line does not exist any more" in the whole devastated area.

In the Arctic, the Germans asserted their "movements in Finland progressed according to schedule," but premier Stalin announced the entire Petsamo nickel-producing area had been fully cleared of Nazis.

The comparative lull in East Prussia continued.

Prince Georges Session Shift To Be Studied

A proposal for the county commissioners to alternate meetings in Hyattsville and Upper Marlboro, will be discussed by the Prince Georges Federation of Citizens Associations at a meeting today at 8 p. m. at the Service Building, Hyattsville. At present the commissioners meet every Tuesday at the Upper Marlboro Courthouse.

It is also expected the federation will urge an increase in the police force. The commissioners last month approved the plan.

Daniel M. Greene, chairman of the laws and legislation committee, will speak on the proposed refunding of State income taxes to special improvement districts in the same proportion as they are now refunded to incorporated towns.

Health conditions in the county will be discussed by Dr. John M. Byers, county health officer.

Luis A. Granados, chairman of the county affairs committee, will explain the proposed amendments to the State constitution, which will be presented to voters at next Tuesday's election.

Women Name Delegates

The Democratic Women's Club of Prince Georges has appointed delegates to attend the United Women's Democratic Convention at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore today. They include Mrs. Parthia Rhea, Marlboro; Mrs. Betty Tayman, Cheverly, and Mrs. Henry O'Neill, Bladensburg. Alternates are Mrs. Lillian Mansfield, Cheverly; Mrs. John Corey, Landover, and Mrs. Charlotte Sheffer, Hyattsville.

Club to Meet Today

The Anti-Fourth Term Club of Prince Georges will hold a rally today at 8 p. m. in the Masonic Hall, Hyattsville.

Former Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore will speak. S. Marvin Peach, former State's attorney for Prince Georges, will be master of ceremonies.

Orphans Court to Meet

Judge Vincent A. Osterman announced yesterday that the Prince Georges Orphans Court will meet Monday because the scheduled meeting for Tuesday is election day.

Wounded Veterans Get Coast Reception

San Diego, Calif., Nov. 1 (AP).—A group of 298 wounded Marines and bluejackets from Saipan, Tinian, Guam and Palau were bedded down at the naval hospital today after their arrival by special hospital train from a northern port.

Turkey and trimmings were served the veterans as soon as bunks had been assigned to them.

How to Torture Your Wife

YES, SHE'S HERE. NO, WE'RE NOT DOING A THING. FINE! COME RIGHT OVER.—UH—WAIT A MINUTE—MABEL IS MAKING SOME WILD MOTIONS AT ME—WHAT DID YOU SAY, MABEL? UH-ER—HERE'S MABEL. SHE WANTS TO TALK TO YOU
PST! PST!! TELL HER I'M NOT HOME! I DON'T WANT TO TALK TO HER! OH! NOW YOU'VE DONE IT!

CONFER

From Page 1

settled here because it involves manufacturers' standing orders, priorities and commitments.

In this connection, the British delegation was on hand to press a claim for allotment of planes for routes throughout the United Kingdom. Several hours before the President's message had been received, Squadron Leader W. Munro of the British Royal Air Force, barged into the press room to point out that "we have an agreement with the United States to build bombers and fighters while the United States furnishes transports."

No Transport Agreement

While there was no immediate means of determining that agreement the British officer referred to, it is believed to be an understanding entered into several years ago by the United States Air Forces and the Royal Air Force as a matter of military expediency. At the time of the arrangement, there was no agreement to furnish transport planes for commercial use.

Lord Swinton, Britain's new Minister of Civil Aviation and chief of the British delegation, is scheduled to outline views and aims of his country and its dominions at tomorrow's session.

While plans were being made for official discussions of all phases of international commercial flying, absence of the recalled Russian delegation continued to be cloakroom topic. Today it was recalled that Russia was not invited to the first International Civil Aeronautics Conference, held in Washington in December, 1928, because the United States did not then recognize the Soviet republics.

QUAD

From Page 1

to Dr. Ullery's two assistants, Drs. Clifford B. Lull, chief of the obstetrics department, and H. Charles Franklin, resident obsetericians.

Six Weeks Premature

The children, six weeks premature, all weighed less than 4 pounds each. The three girls were born first.

It was a dazed Mrs. Cirminello who heard, from the doctor, that she was the mother of four. Under observation at the hospital since mid-September, she understood there would be more than one baby, but believed they would be twins.

As the quads were born, their 30-year-old father declared he was "slightly dazed."

Unlike his wife, he knew of the approaching quadruplet birth, and said he worried himself from a normal 155 pounds to 143 pounds in recent weeks.

"I was often worried, and I guess I still am," he said, "but thank God and the doctor and the hospital—from the bottom of my heart.

"This is something we wanted for a long time, and after our unfortunate experience of a few years ago, our prayers have been answered—fourfold."

The Cirminellos have been married six years.

Cirminello said that the names of the children would be left to his wife because "she did the hard work."

COMPLAINT

From Page 1

but only after the District government rejected the responsibility.

Ihlder insisted that the District should be willing to pay all operating costs on the rent-free building since the local government receives money from the Federal Government equivalent to taxes on the projects. He added that the war housing projects will be converted into low-rent housing developments after the war.

A petition signed by 541 tenants of the Parkside and Foote sts. area was handed to Commissioner Mason yesterday by Ernest E. Johnson, chairman of the tenants' council.

The tenants pointed out not only the plight of 1300-odd children, but added that normal development of the community has been retarded by the inability of groups to organize, meet and plan activities for their own welfare.

"As citizens of the District as well as tenants of the project in question," their petition read, "we cannot applaud a District government which authorizes or permits the construction of an attractive plant as has been placed at Parkside and which has just as carelessly allowed it to remain unused except as the graciousness of the project manager has been inclined."

Justice of Peace Who Renewed Stamps Sought

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 1 (AP).—U. S. marshals carried warrants today for William Teal, 63, Forest Lake, Minn., justice of peace, who was indicted by a Federal grand jury on a charge of removing the cancellation from more than 75,000 postage stamps of denominations from one-half to 50 cents.

WAR

From Page 1

Zeebrugge, and were about ready for the clean-up.

Since they opened their campaign October 6 to clear the Schelde the Canadians had captured 18,000 prisoners and liberated more than 850 square miles.

Stiff Fighting Under Way

Boggy terrain and scarcity of good roads held back the surge of American, British, Canadian, Polish and Dutch troops to the Maas north of Antwerp as much as German resistance. One Allied column striking northwest from captured Raamsdonk fought into the outskirts of Geertruidenberg, where a bridge crosses the Maas. Stiff fighting was in progress along the Mark River, 4 to 5 miles south of the Maas.

On the eastern flank of the Dutch corridor, British Tommies reached a canal nearly 2 miles east of the recaptured town of Lieseel and advanced another 2 miles southeast down a road to Meijel. The Nazis, who launched a heavy counterattack on this front last week, appeared to have pulled back their armor.

Acknowledging that the Germans had lost the battle for Antwerp, Capt. Ludwig Sertorious, Nazi military commentator, said "it remains now to be seen whether Field Marshal Montgomery considers his base great enough to start his big offensive from the Nijmegen bridgehead to the northeast or whether he intends to push forward in central Holland to the Lek River between Rotterdam and Arnhem, or even beyond to the Zuider Zee."

Montigny's Fall Reported

The German radio reported that on the French Front southeast of Nancy a strong American force of more than 100 tanks and an infantry division drove down a main highway toward Strasbourg and captured Montigny, 15 miles east of Luneville. The official German communique said French troops had entered Baccarat, 14 miles southeast of Luneville.

These attacks, the first of importance by the Allies in the cold and sodden southern sector of the front for several weeks, were not confirmed by official Allied sources. General Eisenhower's headquarters reported only local actions, including capture of Les Poulieres, and a drive against stubborn resistance into St. Benoit, east of Rambervillers.

Some 17,000 Nazi troops holding out in the French port of Dunkerque were reported to have opened sluice gates and flooded more ground, forcing besieging British troops to withdraw slightly.

LEYTE

From Page 1

men had outflanked the enemy positions.

Today's communique placed the Twenty-fourth within 6 miles of Carigara, but field dispatches put the mmuch closer, one saying they were only 2 miles from joining up with the First Cavalry in the showdown fight.

Clarifying the Japanese intentions, the communique said flatly the fighting around Carigara was intended by the Nipponese to hold open an escape route south toward Ormoc.

This would indicate the Japanese already have written off Leyte Island as lost except for the usual delaying actions.

The Japanese, however, kept up reinforcement of Ormoc.

First Cavalry units, which a few days ago actually entered Carigara from Barugo and then withdrew, were once more approaching the stronghold.

To the south, where the Japanese have been so scattered that only cleanups remain, the erasure of holdout Japanese at Catmon Hill northwest of Dulag was reported.

Fifth Air Force fighters based on Yeyte and speedy patrol torpedo boats constantly disrupted the Nipponese reinforcement activities at Ormoc, blasting barges and also blowing up a big ammunition dump in that area. A small freighter and lugger were sunk.

The weakend enemy airforce tried more harassing attacks. Six were shot down by fighters, a seventh by antiaircraft fire at a cost of one American fighter.

Defendant Appeals Fines, Sentences in Alexandria Thefts

Appeals to the Alexandria Corporation Court were entered yesterday by Wilson Edmonds, 23, truck driver, of 1021 Duke st., Alexandria, who was fined a total of $1000 and given sentences totaling two years in jail on two counts of petty larceny by Judge Harry F. Kennedy in Alexandria Civil and Police Court.

Edmonds, who was arrested yesterday, was charged with stealing a fountain pen from Mrs. E. M. Badgett of 226 West Glebe rd., on October 22, and on the following day taking a vacuum cleaner owned by Lieut. Robert W. Phillips, USNR, of 33 West Grove dr., from the storage warehouse of Walter Smith & Co., at 111 South Pitt st.

Edmonds is out on $500 bond pending the hearing in Corporation Court.

Kentuckians Cast Firs tDewey Votes

Erie, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP).—Three Kentuckians hold the honor of casting the first civilian votes of the general election in Erie County.

The out-of-Staters, using absentee ballots, told reporters they voted for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for President. They asked that their names be withheld.

STILWELL

From Page 1

agreed upon by him and Chiang, will still take the command.

The President sent Hurley to China as his special representative with direct access to the White House. The Chinese wanted it that way. The situation reflected a breakdown in the diplomatic functions which should have been exercised by Ambassador Clarence E. Gauss, whose relations with the Chinese were limited to formalities. Now as part of Mr. Roosevelt's clean sweep of top American assignments in Chungking, Gauss is coming home to stay.

Hurley also had a specific mission. It was and is—since he is still in China—to bring together Chiang and the Chinese Communists in the north. The two factions have openly fought or covertly feared each other for many years—but the prospect of an agreement between them now is considered better than it has been at any time in the past.

Nelson's Mission

Nelson was sent to China to see what he could do about encouraging the Chinese to make better use of even their limited production facilities. He found much to be done, due chiefly to lack of organization experience on the part of the Chinese. He is said to believe that still more can be accomplished and he is going back.

With a political system based on outmoded warlordism and family supremacy, Chungking presents problems to such men as Hurley, Nelson and Wedemeyer which are unlike the intergovernmental problems anywhere else in the world.

But the stake is large. If the Chinese can be persuaded to make full use of their potential strength against Japan, the United States will not have to fight a major war against the Japanese on the continent of Asia.

Otherwise it will either have to do the job itself at a great cost in manpower and time, as well as wealth, or hope that Russia can do it, which probably would lead to a postwar world of three, instead of four great powers, with the United States and Russia having to share direct responsibility for order and peace in Asia.

DEWEY

From Page 1

to me denouncing this Roosevelt poll tax imposed by Sidney Hillman. As one of them said: "They can force my dollar out of me by threatening to take my job away, but they can't force my vote because it is secret . . ."

Dewey's Boston speech climaxed a day-long train tour of Massachusetts with speaking stops at Pittsfield, Springfield and Worcester.

The text of the Boston address follows:

Once in every four years, late in October, my opponent announces that he believes in the enterprise system. Then, for the remaining three years and eleven months he wages war against the American enterprise system day in and day out. That is why there were still 10 million Americans unemployed in the spring of 1940. That's why we had to have a war to get jobs. That's why it's time for a change.

Because of our magnificent military command, the heroism of our men in uniform, and the efforts of our warworkers at home, victory is coming closer every day. And by installing a fresh and united administration in Washington, the day of total victory and the return of our fighting men will be speeded up greatly. Then, what do we face?

As I pointed out last night, if we go into the postwar period with nothing better than the New Deal has offered us in the past, we can expect no better results than we had under its peacetime years before.

But if we go in with a new and vigorous administration, pledged to a program of constructive action, we can and will succeed. With a Government in which the President works in harmony and mutual respect with the Congress, we can unite America for effective world leadership in a world organization for lasting peace.

"Collection of Parties"

Now, one reason why the New Deal cannot provide jobs and opportunity after this war—one reason why it cannot give our country the unity we need—is because of the kind of people to whom it would owe its election. The New Deal is not a party. It is a collection of parties, all of which hate each other.

In my own State of New York, they hate each other so much that they won't vote except under their own emblems, and Franklin Roosevelt is running on three different party lines in the State of New York.

No, the New Deal has become a collection of warring factions, tied together only by a consuming passion for power. That's why my opponent is compelled to solicit the support of bigoted reactionaries on the one hand and of Communists on the other.

For 12 years the great Democratic Party has been under the crushing dominance of one man. As a result, it is weakened and divided. It is vulnerable to capture by forces hostile to every tradition for which that party has stood. Beyond that, Mr. Roosevelt, in his overwhelming desire to perpetuate himself in office for 16 years, has put his party on the auction block—for sale to the highest bidder.

Who will buy it? Will it be the notorious One Thousand Club, which sponsored and paid for Mr. Roosevelt's speech last Saturday? This is the organization, formed at the President's own suggestion, which offers "special privilege," a voice "in the formulation of Administration policies" and a chance to visit the President on Thursday afternoons, all for $1000.

"Higher Bidders in Market"

Will these purchasers of "special privilege" be the successful bidders for control of the captive Democratic Party? I doubt it. The Thousand Dollar Club members are being taken in. They will not get the "special privilege" or the influence they were offered. There are higher bidders in the market.

These higher bidders are the Political Action Committee of Sidney Hillman and the Communists of Earl Browder.

In this campaign, the New Dealers attempt to smother discussion of their communist alliance. They smear any discussion of this major question of our day. They insinuate that Americans must love communism or offend our fighting ally, Russia. But not even the gullible believe that. In Russia, a communist is a man who supports his government. In America, a communist is a man who supports the fourth term on our form of government may more easily be changed.

No, the question of communism in our country has nothing to do with our Allies any more than it has to do with where a man was born. Every American—every one of us—traces his ancestry to some foreign land. As a Nation, we owe our genius, our culture, our traditions to nations all over the world. The keystone of the arch of American freedom is our opposition to intolerance. The foundation of our American system of civil liberties is an equal respect and an equal opportunity for men of every race, creed and color and regardless of national origin. The mighty bulwark of these liberties is the Constitution of the United States.

Browder on Communism

These are the things that have given America leadership in the world. These above all others are what America must continue to stand for if she is to give leadership to the world again.

The proof that communism has nothing to do with national origin is the fact that Earl Browder, the avowed leader of communism in America, was born in Kansas.

Now, who is Browder? He is the man who was convicted of draft dodging in the last war. He was again convicted—this time of perjury—and pardoned by Franklin Roosevelt in time to organize the fourth term campaign. Browder stands for everything that would destroy America.

Everyone knows that communism is for State ownership of all property, including your house, your farm and the factory, the shop, the office in which you work. It stands for absolute dictatorship, the abolition of civil rights and total political and economic bigotry. It stands for something else.

A few years ago, Mr. Browder wrote a book called "What Is Communism?" He said: "We stand without any reservations for education that will root out beliefs in the supernatural . . ." He concluded: ". . . We Communists do not distinguish between good and bad religions, because we think they are all bad for the masses."

Now, Mr. Roosevelt in his recent speech from the White House very softly disavowed communism. But the very next day, at a meeting right here in Boston, Earl Browder made a speech for Mr. Poosevelt and a collection was taken up for the fourth term. And not a voice in the New Deal was raised in protest. So much for Earl Browder.

Who Sidney Hillman Is

Now—who is Sidney Hillman? He has held one official post after another in the New Deal, in addition to important duties as the head of a labor union. When the fourth-term campaign came along, he went to New York to concentrate on politics.

There, in the primaries this year, he organized a movement to take over the previously respectable American Labor Party. And he succeeded with the help of Earl Browder's Communists.

What is the American Labor Party today—the party whose nomination Mr. Roosevelt has accepted and whose votes he hopes will give him 16 years in the White House?

Listen to the words of another set of my opponent's violent supporters. David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, was one of the founders of the American Labor Party. Here is what he said last spring about that party as of today: "I regard the former American Labor Party as a Communist labor party . . . Mr. Hillman can act as a front for the Communists; I never did and never will." So said David Dubinsky.

The New York Post, formerly the mouthpiece of the Labor Party, says editorially that Mr. Hillman "fronts for the Communists by serving as chairman for their American Labor Party."

The last candidate of that party for Governor, who polled 400,000 votes in 1942, is another violent supporter of my opponent. But it was he who said last spring that he intended "leaving Mr. Hillman and his fellow travelers to stew in their own juice."

"New Political Boss"

"Political action by coercion is repugnant to our form of government . . .," he also said, "liberals throughout the country should beware of dealing with Mr. Hillman for he no longer comes to them with clean hands. He has set himself up as a new and dangerous type of political boss."

Just four months after that statement was issued my opponent ordered the Democratic national chairman to "clear everything with Sidney." The prophecy has come true. Sidney Hillman has become the biggest political boss in the United States, and in the words of David Dubinsky, Sidney Hillman is a "front for the Communists."

In addition to being chairman of the Communist-controlled American Labor Party of New York, Mr. Hillman is also chairman of the Political Action Committee. This is the committee which summarized the degradation of New Deal politics in a pamphlet, two million copies of which were sent out on behalf of Mr. Roosevelt. That pamphlet, put out by Sidney Hillman's PAC, began with the words: "Politics is the science of how who gets what, when and why."

Under that cynical motto, Mr. Hillman today operates the National Citizens Political Action Committee with his lieutenants who have taken leave of absence from high Federal posts. He stalks the country squeezing dollars for the fourth-term campaign out of the working men and women of America, under threat that if they do not give the dollar, they will lose their jobs.

"Roosevelt Poll Tax"

But the working men and women of America are rising in protest all over the Nation. Letters have been pouring in to me denouncing this Roosevelt poll tax imposed by Sidney Hillman. As one of them said: "They can force my dollar out of me by threatening to take my job away, but they can't force my vote because it is secret. I am going to vote Republican to save my own freedom."

It is not just his freedom that man will save when he goes into the secrecy of the voting booth. He and millions like him will exercise their precious right of a secret ballot and save the freedom of the American people.

Now, American liberty means that every man has a right to believe and vote as he will, even to vote Communist. But liberty involves a corresponding duty to defend our country from what we consider evil. I have never hesitated to expose and denounce the cynical alliance of the New Deal and the corrupt big city machines which depend on the most criminal and degraded elements in our big cities. And I do not propose now to be silent when the New Deal, through the President's political lieutenant, Sidney Hillman, strikes up a cynical alliance with Earl Browder's Communists.

For a long time it has been the fashion to brush aside the Communists as of little importance because of their small numbers. The Communists themselves have cunningly played upon our respect for the very civil liberties which they themselves hold in such contempt. Yet the fact is that the Communists wield an influence far out of proportion to their numbers.

"Secret Conspiracy"

They are not themselves a political party. They are a fanatical, secret conspiracy of well disciplined, highly trained zealots who work at their purposes every hour of the day. Falsehood, deception and smear propaganda are part of their technique. They are adept at working behind the false front of those they contemptuously describe as "innocents." They love to fish in troubled waters. They place their members at strategic points where they can seize control of large organizations. Millions of Americans have seen this happen time after time. Liberal, intelligent organizations suddenly turn out to be Communist propaganda fronts.

Similarly, millions of workers have seen their union organizations captured by compact minorities who attend all the meetings, vote in a bloc and thereby seize the union machinery. Once in control, they cannot be dislodged. It was by just such tactics last spring that the Communists were able to seize possession of the American Labor Party of New York which in 1940 provided the balance of power that carried New York for Mr. Roosevelt.

Now, by the self-same tried and familiar tactics and with the aid of Sidney Hillman, the Communists are seizing control of the New Deal, through which they aim to control the Government of the United States. If they should succeed, the fundamental freedoms of every American would stand in gravest jeopardy.

Throughout the ages man's greatest struggle is the struggle to be free—free to worship God; to have a family and family life; free to educate his children; to live in economic security in his own home; to be able to have work of his own choosing, and to have a Government which is a servant not a master.

Our Nation was founded by men and women who came here to achieve those things. They built their institutions in a deeply religious pattern and, by the Bill of Rights, they bound their Government to respect freedom of religion and the dignity of the individual.

Because of what they did, we call America "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

But we cannot take our freedom for granted, nor can we afford to stop being brave. There always have been and always will be, those who seek to destroy our freedoms.

"We Reject Communism"

Nazism and Fascism are dying in the world. But the totalitarian idea is very much alive and we must not slip to its other form—communism. All of these concepts are enemies of freedom and we must equally reject all of them. They would make the state supreme, give political power only to those who deny the supremacy of God and use that power to force all men to become cogs in a great materialistic machine.

Under these systems, the individual cannot worship, vote, or think as he would, or conduct his life as his own. Slavish obedience to the will of the state is the first great command and the price of non-conformity is liquidation, either through violence or slow economic strangulation.

Today that pagan philosophy is sweeping through much of the world. As we look abroad we see that in country after country, its advocates are making a bid for power. We would be fools not to look for that same danger here. We have not far to look. Even Mr. Roosevelt has felt he must say that he does not welcome the support of any person or group committed to communism. That is as may be. The important facts are, first, that Mr. Roosevelt has so weakened and corrupted the Democratic Party that it is readily subject to capture, and, second, that the forces of communism are, in fact, now engaged in capturing it.

That danger can be surely met only by ending a situation which leaves vast power in tired hands. The Republican Party is not perfect. But one thing at least is sure: Neither the Communist group which Mr. Roosevelt professes to repudiate nor any other totalitarian group is making an effort to capture the Republican Party. They know how useless it would be.

"Young and Vigorous Party"

The Republican Party is young and vigorous. In 26 States, Republican governors are bringing alert, progressive, competent and honest administration to the affairs of two-thirds of the American people. First in local governments, then in the States, the people have turned to our party. Now it is prepared to assume the responsibilities of national Government. It is rich in able leaders steeped in the American tradition. It is close to the people. It wants to continue the American way of life and to perpetuate American institutions founded upon the God-given right of individuals to be free. Millions of Democrats are voting Republican this year to save their own party and their country.

Under a Republican administration there will be no danger that the power of Government will slip through tired fingers into hands which would destroy that free America for which our sons are fighting and dying.

I have a letter from an American soldier fighting in the far Pacific. He says: "When we come home there will be flags waving and people will exult in victory and cheer. But the greater effort will only begin then. We here are only securing the bridgehead to freedom. Will our generation forget that fact? If we do, this victory will be only the beginning of defeat for us and our children."

Let us tonight resolve that we will be equal to the duty we owe that soldier and his comrades. Let us at home seize and hold that bridgehead to freedom. Let us install on January 20 a Government which, under God, will dedicate its purpose to the preservation of the individual dignity and freedom of every American.

COLOR

From Page 1

serve and we have a chance to reform him."

Truman "Boner"

Senator Walsh, the most powerful vote-getter in the history of the Democratic Party in Massachusetts, a reputation he strengthened in 1940 when he won with a lead of 250,000 as against a majority of 136,000 for President Roosevelt, was reported to be deeply hurt by Truman's remark.

The Boston Post quoted unidentified Democratic leaders as saying that Truman's "boner" would cost the Roosevelt-Truman ticket thousands of votes next Tuesday.

However, Mike Hennesy, veteran political writer for the Boston Globe, reported late today that President Roosevelt will invite Senator Walsh to sit on the platform with him Saturday night at Fenway Park and that the Senator will accept.

The Gallup Poll, after first giving President Roosevelt a lead over Governor Dewey in Massachusetts, has recently called it a dead heat in the State.

Question of Racial Groups

Most of the Boston political reporters expressed the belief today that President Roosevelt had the edge. Yes, the Irish were breaking away from Mr. Roosevelt, they said, but that had been happening ever since 1936, when Al Smith took his famous "walk."

"Just the same," one of them said, "there's usually enough Irish to put Roosevelt over."

Republican leaders, speaking privately, said Governor Dewey had a good chance to carry Massachusetts. But they appeared to be counting largely on the Truman remark about Walsh to do the trick.

Massachusetts politics, like New York politics, is a question of racial groups and the emotions of those groups. Generally speaking, outside of the old Yankee stock, there are the Irish, French, from Canada), Italian, Polish, Portuguese and Jewish.

Irish Lead Defection

With the exception of the last-named, these groups are overwhelmingly Catholic.

A sharp defection from the Democratic Party is reported among the Irish, but this is said to be largely among the older people, especially those from the Emerald Isle. The second and third generation Irish do not always share the feelings these people have about England, about the threat of Communism and about Mr. Roosevelt and the war.

According to political analysis here, the same might be said for the Polish group.

But the Italians, angry over reports that the people in the old country are worse off under the Allies than under the Germans, are reported to be away off the Democratic reservation. One source estimated that President Roosevelt, instead of getting 85 per cent of this vote, as he might be expected to do normally, will be lucky to get 45 per cent. There are about 150,000 persons of Italian blood in Massachusetts.

The French group is causing Democratic leaders no concern, while the bloc of Jewish votes is expected to go 95 per cent for Mr. Roosevelt.

Off-setting Democratic defections will be a good deal of apostasy on the part of Republicans, especially among the Beacon Hill type of Yankee who admires Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy, and among persons of English descent who have moved here from Canada.

Governor Dewey's campaign train arrived in Boston this afternoon after a leisurely trip through the Berkshires. A total of about 20,000 persons turned out to cheer the GOP nominee as he stopped to make speeches in Pittsfield, Springfield and Worcester.

Bucharest Crowds Ask New Government

By the United Press

The Soviet Tass Agency, in a Bucharest dihpatch, reported Wednesday that "not less than 70,000" inhabitants of the Romanian capital staged a four-hour demonstration in the streets of the city Monday, demanding the "immediate resignation of the present government and the formation of a new one, capable of fulfilling the demands of the people as outlined in the program of the National Democratic front."

The dispatch, transmitted from Moscow to the Soviet Press and recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, added that representatives of the "National Democratic front" spoke to the crowd in the streets in front of the Royal Palace.

Advertisement

Worth walking a mile for . . . "Terry and the Pirates" in next Sunday's comic section—and Camel Cigarettes as advertised in 41 comic sections of Metropolitan Group.

Advertisement

For ROOSEVELT

WBAL Tonight 9:30

HEAR

DOROTHY

THOMPSON

ANSWER

the malicious lies in this campaign

Authority Wm. Preston Lane, Jr.

Baltimore Set To Welcome Dewey Today

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Democrats opposed to President Roosevelt, as well as Republicans, prepared tonight to take part in the welcoming tomorrow of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York when he bids for Maryland's eight electoral votes with a visit to Baltimore.

The Republican presidential nominee, accompanied by Mrs. Dewey, is expected to arrive shortly before noon, tour the business section of Baltimore and then speak at a theater at 12:30 p. m. before going to Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, Pa.

Former Mayor Howard W. Jackson, life-long Democrat who said he has voted three times for President Roosevelt, will be among the Democrats for Dewey who will participate in the welcome for the Republican candidate.

Jackson in Same Car

Jackson will be a member of the reception committee which will greet Dewey when he arrives at the Pennsylvania station, and will ride in the procession preceding the New York Governor's speech.

The former mayor, defeated when he ran for a fifth term, has been stumping the State in opposition to a fourth term for the President.

Chairman Galen L. Tait of the Republican State Central Committee and National Republican Committeeman Jacob France, the two who persuaded Dewey to change his plans and come to Baltimore from Boston instead of visiting Connecticut, also will greet the candidate.

The theater, including standing room, accommodates about 3000 persons, but Republican officials said loudspeakers had been installed to permit the expected overflow crowd to hear Dewey's address. No tickets have been issued for seats, and it will be a case of first come, first served.

Randall to Speak

Approximately 600 police have been assigned to keep order at the railroad station, along the parade route and at the theater.

The theater meeting will open with speeches by Blanchard Randall, Republican candidate for United States Senator from Maryland, and the nominees for United States representative.

Dewey's address is to be extemporaneous, and is expected to require from 20 to 30 minutes.

Immediately after the address, the New York governor will return to his special train and continue to the "hard coal" region of Pennsylvania, speaking at Scranton tomorrow night. From Scranton he will return to Albany.

Broadside at Dewey

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Senator Tom Connally (D., Tex.) asserted tonight that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and his Republican running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker, were supported by "the multimillionaire Pews of Philadelphia" and "John L. Lewis, the most sinister and arrogant man in America today."

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech prepared for broadcast (WBAL, 10 p.m.) at a major Democratic mass meeting, declared that Republican campaigners "talk so much about the company the Democrats are keeping. Let's see who are some of the company Governor Dewey and Governor Bricker are keeping."

"What about that great patriot, John L. Lewis, who is supporting Dewey and Bricker—John L. Lewis who calls strikes in time of war to try to force the Government and people to do his bidding—John L. Lewis, the arrogant, bulldozing, so-called leader.

"When they throw Hillman at me, I hurl back into their teeth John L. Lewis, the most sinister and arrogant man in America today."

Connally praised Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy and asserted that the President must be kept in office during the critical peacemaking period to insure that the Allies' faith in the United States is maintained.

Train Hits Truck At Md. Crossing; Boy Killed, 2 Hurt

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Two Anne Arundel County Negro boys were treated in University Hospital today for injuries received in a truck and train collision last night in which their companion was killed.

Danile Chase, 14, of Ferndale, was injured fatally when a Washington-bound Baltimore & Ohio train struck a truck at a Lansdowne crossing, dragging the vehicle 1000 feet.

Seriously injured were Melvin Conaway, 16, Glen Burnie, and James Edwards, 15, Ferndale. All three were occupants of the truck.

Halethorpe Police Officer Martin Ashman said he attempted to warn the trio, but as one train cleared the crossing the truck drove into the path of a following train.

In another accident, Andrew C. Roseberry, 50-year-old Pennsylvania Railroad conductor, was killed when he was caught between two trains near the Baltimore Bay View yards.

Opening of Hospital Wing Is Delayed

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—Shortages of material and manpower difficulties will delay the occupancy of the new wing of the Washington County Hospital until the first of December, hospital authorities have reported.

The new wing will be devoted to housing a personnel cafeteria and is expected to greatly alleviate crowded conditions at the hospital.

Pranksters Put Shed in Road; 2 Die in Crash

Oakley, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—Albert Butler, 21, and Henry Fenwick, 17, were killed and Dunbar Curtis, 18, seriously injured last night as a result of what was believed to have been a Halloween prank.

The three Negroes were returning to their homes here last night when their automobile struck a shed which had been placed in the road, went out of control and hit a culvert on State Highway 5, about 5 miles from Leonardtown, police reported.

It was believed that a heavy fog prevented the youths, all of whom worked at the Patuxent River naval base, from seeing the obstacle, the police said.

Local authorities were investigating the case in an effort to discover the culprits.

D. B. Bushong Buried; Retired Md. Physician

Charles Town, W. Va., Nov. 1 (Spl.)—Services were held today at Lappans Crossroads, Md., with interment here, for Dr. Daniel B. Bushong, 75, who died Monday evening in a Hagerstown (Md.) hospital where he had been a patient but six hours.

He was taken ill suddenly Saturday morning. He was a member of Zion Episcopal Church here.

He came to Charles Town eight years ago following retirement from active practice at Lappans Crossroads. He was one of this city's best known residents.

He was twice married, his first wife, the former Miss Sallie Robinson of Summit Point, this county, dying some years ago. Fifteen years ago he married Miss Stella Avery of Pensacola, Fla., who survives with three children by the first union: Mrs. Mills Kitchen, Washington; James Bushong, editor of the paper at Madison, Va.; Attorney Stuart Bushong, Hagerstown; one sister, Miss Bessie Bushong, Woodstock, Va.

Mrs. Mary M. Lohr

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Mary M. Lohr, 34, wife of Ernest R. Lohr of Staunton, died yesterday at the Martha Jefferson Hospital, this city, after an illness of only two days. Besides her husband, she is survived by three sisters and three brothers.

Willie Musselman

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 1.—Willie Musselman, 65, died at his home near Five Mile Fork in Spotsylvania County yesterday following a brief illness. Surviving are his wife, a son, Pfc. Granville Musselman, USA, stationed at Camp Gilbert, Ala.; a daughter, Mrs. James Salisbury of Memphis, Tenn., and two sisters, Mrs. Etta Brown of Fredericksburg, and Mrs. Sarah Grinna of Stafford County.

Mrs. Sarah G. Sherrard

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 1.—Stricken while at work in an apple processing plant at Inwood, near here, Mrs. Sarah Graham Sherrard, 70, of Gerardstown, died a few hours later at her home at Gerardstown yesterday. Death was laid to a heart attack. Surviving are a daughter and four sisters.

Mrs. Ruth I. Myers

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Ruth I. VanMetre Myers, 71, of Hedgesville, this county, descendant of a pioneer and distinguished Berkeley County family, died yesterday in a local hospital. She was a member of William Henshaw Chapter, NSDAR, Spring Mills Farm Woman's Club, and Mount Zion Episcopal Church at Hedgesville, this county. She had been president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the church for the past 35 years. Surviving are the husband, Phillip C. Myers, to whom she was married in 1889; one daughter, Mrs. Paul Lingamfelter, this county.

Mrs. M. Isabell Olcott

Berryville, Va., Nov. 1.—J. W. Olcott, Clarke County agriculture agent, has had three deaths in his family since last May. Yesterday he was advised of the death of his mother, Mrs. M. Isabel Olcott, 90, at her home in Washington, D. C. Mr. Olcott's wife died last May. His son died in August.

Steward G. Fawcett

Winchester, Va., Nov. 1.—Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon for Steward G. Fawcett, 70, who died Tuesday morning. He never married and is survived by three sisters.

State Training School To Get Clinic Director

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Approval of a $2,765 budget amendment for the Rosewood State Training School, to be used to employ a clinic director, was announced today by Goverpor O'Conor.

O'Conor, commenting that every institution of this type having 1,000 or more patients "is entitled to a clinical director," said that the new post would be filled by one of the school's present doctors now holding the classification of physician, mental disease.

Darden Claims GOP Opposed Prewar Arming

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—What he termed opposition of the Republican Party to attempts by the Democratic Party to arm the Nation in the years prior to the war was excoriated here last night by Governor Darden.

Speaking at a Roosevelt-Truman-Daughton rally sponsored by the Holt Street Independent Voters' League, the Governor said that with exception of Congressman Maas, of Minnesota, Wadsworth, of New York, "and a few like-minded Republicans, every naval bill had an overwhelming majority of Republican members opposed to it."

His statement was in reply to what he called "accusations" that the Democrats had made no attempt to arm the Nation prior to the war. "Certainly," the Governor added, "in the attempts that were made, we received only the most meager support from the Republican Party."

The address before the Independent Voters' Organization was the second of the day for Governor Darden. En route from Richmond to Norfolk, the chief executive stopped at Smithfield and spoke briefly in support of the candidacy of State Senator Ralph H. Daughton, of Norfolk, Democratic nominee for Congress from the Second Virginia District. Daughton is being opposed by Thomas L. Woodward, of Suffolk, Republican Party candidate, and W. Bruce Shafter, of Norfolk, an independent.

The Governor spoke on what he termed "bitter Republican opposition" to the Nation's preparedness program while he was a member of the House of Representatives, declaring that he felt unable to "sit idly by and see the Republican Party take credit for the preparedness measures."

Bland Record Criticized

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Walter Johnson, Republican candidate for Congress from the First District, asserted in an address today that the First District has been going backward with Representative S. Otis Bland (D., Va.) ever since Bland first went to Congress.

Johnson, speaking over Radio Station WTAR, said "it is a fact which cannot be denied that the district has gone backward and continues to go backward economically when it is continually losing population instead of gaining."

The Republican candidate said "it is true that in the Newport News and Fredericksburg sections there has been a gain in population, but that gain is far from what it should have been."

Backs Robertson

Buena, Vista, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Mrs. H. Russell Robey of Buena Vista, a member of the Women's Action Committee for Victory and Lasting Peace, said today Representative A. Willis Robertson had satisfactorily answered a questionnaire from the group on international coöperation for lasting peace, and she urged women of the Seventh Congressional District to vote for him next Tuesday.

She asserted that D. Wampler Earman, Republican opponent of Robertson, had declined to state his stand on the subject.

Servicemen Parties Planned in Manassas

Manassas, Va., Nov. 1.—The Girls' Service Organization of Manassas will sponsor an informal party for servicemen from nearby camps every Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Manassas Service Club. Arrangements are in charge of Miss Elizabeth Lloyd, chairman, and chaperones from the various community organizations will be in attendance. Members of the GSO will be hostesses.

Blenheim, Historic Va. Estate, Is Sold to North Carolinian

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 1 (Spl.).—Blenheim, historic home located north of Carters Bridge, this county, and owned by Henry Hyde, has been purchased by J. Albert Moss of Asheville, N. C.

Blenheim plantation was established over 200 years ago by John Carter, secretary of the colony and eldest son of "King" Carter. Thqugh Secretary Carter never lived in the county, he maintained two establishments upon his estate, one being Carters Mill, on the North Hardware, and the other Blenheim. During the detention of the convention troops at "The Barracks," General Phillips, the British commander, was stationed at Blenheim.

In 1836, Andrew Stevenson, Congressman, Speaker of the House and Minister to England under President Jackson, purchased Blenheim and it was he who erected most of the present buildings, following in many respects the English Gothic cottage architecture of rural England. He made it his home until his death in 1857.

Many interesting anecdotes of Albemarle history are connected with Blenheim. It was Stevenson's wife, Sally Coles of Enniscorthy, who during their life in London presented two dozen Albemarle Pippins to Queen Victoria from her orchards. The apples proved so delicious that, at her majesty's order, the Pippin was made the court apple of England and for many years was exempt from duty.

It was at Blenheim that Thomas Jefferson and his bride, returning from their wedding trip, were stalled by the greatest blizzard Albemarle had ever known. After they had rested, they rode on to Monticello on a couple of Edward Carter's saddle horses over the mountain trails in 3 feet of snow.

After making extensive improvements on the place, Mr. Moss and his family will take up their residence at Blenheim.

33,450 War Ballots Cast So Far in Md.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—More than 5000 voted ballots were ready for distribution today to Maryland election boards, bringing to 33,450 the total of soldier ballots returned and cleared through Governor O'Conor's office.

The Governor said that another distribution probably would be made Monday if the number of votes received in the interim warranted. Last-minute arrivals on election day will be delivered to representatives of county and Baltimore city boards Tuesday at Annapolis.

The ballots—2994 of them Federal—will be tabulated as soon as the election supervisors complete their official canvass of the votes cast in person Tuesday.

Secretary of State William J. McWilliams mailed a specially prepared identification of official Federal war ballots yesterday, indicating scientific tests to be made in any case where presence of improper voting forms is suspected.

Jug Imbedded In New Bridge Over Monocacy

Frederick, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—It's considered patriotic to bring back the bottles these days, but employes of a construction company who have just completed a new bridge over the Monacacy River on Route 40 buried an old brown whisky jug in the concrete against a bridge abutment.

They were merely carrying on an old tradition.

For legend in these parts says that when the builders of the old bridge finished the structure they also finished an old brown jug of whisky and constructed a concrete monument to their "dead soldier" in the form of a mammothe jug, which gave the old Jug Bridge its name.

Campbell to Draw Plans for Memorial

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 1.—Prof. Edmund S. Campbell, head of the School of Architecture at the University of Virginia, has been engaged to prepare an architect's drawing of the proposed War Memorial to be erected in Harrisonburg.

As contemplated, the Rockingham-Harrisonburg memorial will assume the form of a community auditorium of modified Colonial design, with a seating capacity of approximately 3000. It is aimed at providing a practical monument to all service men and women from Harrisonburg and Rockingham in World War II, as well as a memorial to Rockingham County veterans of all wars.

Judges Differ On Proposed Court Plan

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Two retired judges, both of whom served 17 years on the Maryland Court of Appeals, were at loggerheads today on the question of the proposed reorganization of the Apppellate Court.

The amendment reducing the number of appeals judges from eight to five will come before the voters Tuesday.

Francis Neal Parke, former Carroll County judge, said in an article in the Daily Record, Baltimore financial and legal journal, that the amendment constituted a "betrayal of the confidence of absent servicemen."

Such a "vital and fundamental" change," he wrote, should not be attempted unless and until it has been considered, approved and submitted to the voters by the representatives of the people of the State in a constitutional convention duly assembled."

The question cannot receive adequate consideration now, he contended "and those in the armed service . . . will be insufficiently informed."

On the other hand, former Chief Judge B. Lindley Sloan told the Cumberland Rotary Club that the existing judicial system was "archaic, antiquated and inefficient."

It imposes a gruelling burden upon the judges and causes inconvenience and delay to litigants, he said, adding that the proposed constitutional revision would remedy matters by relieving appellate members of trial work.

Sloan also declared that an even number of judges was unfair to litigants because when the court was divided equally, the issue stood as decided in the lower court.

U. S. Funds Asked For Water Works Project in Calvert

Solomons Island, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—A request for Government funds for a water works system at Solomons Island to remedy an acute water shortage was before the Federal Works Agency today.

Dr. John T. Singewald, jr., director of the Maryland Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, reported that demands of three naval stations recently established in the vicinity had reduced the water supply to a point where 64 of 77 wells were dry and many householders were without water.

The Calvert County commissioners requested the Federal agency to finance the installation of pumping, storage and distribution equipment, to cost an estimated $75,000.

Dr. Singewald said that similar shortages might occur in other newly industrialized Maryland communities.

Livestock and Produce

Baltimore Livestock

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP) (WFA Office of Distribution).—CATTLE—Receipts, 300; represented classes slow, about steady; feeder steers, day; small lot steers around 975 lbs., 14.50; common and medium beef cows, 8.00@11.00, but not offered early above 10.00; strong weight canners and cutters, 5.00@7.50; light weight and shelly canners, 4.00@4.75; top sausage bulls, 11.00; bulk, 8.00@10.50; stockers and feeders fairly active, steady with Monday; several lots medium and feeder steers, all wights, 10.00@12.50; common, 7.00@9.50.

CALVES—Receipts, 50; nominally steady; good and choice 120-250 lb. vealers 15.00 to mainly 16.00; common and medium, 9.50@14.50; culls around 8.00 down to 5.00; medium and good 300-450 lb. slaughter calves, 10.00@13.50; common, 7.00@9.50.

HOGS—Receipts, 500; active, steady with Tuesday; practical top, 14.75; unchanged.

SHEEP—Receipts, 50; active, steady with Tuesday; practical top, 14.50; truck-lot good to mostly choice around 82-lb. wooled lambs, 14.50; common and medium, 9.00@12.00; culls around 7.00; slaughter ewes scarce; choice lightweight offerings 5.50 down.

Richmond Markets

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1 (AP) (USDA) (Prices represent sales on wholesale market).—WHITE POTATOES—New: Receipts heavy. Market stronger. 100-pound sacks, New York and Maine, 2.25@3.50.

SWEET POTATOES—Receipts fairly heavy. Market steady; 1.75@2.00.

CABBAGE—Receipts heavy. Market steady. 50-pound sacks, Virginia and New York, mostly fair quality, 1.50@1.75.

APPLES—Receipts heavy. Various varieties, small and 1¾-inch size no demand. 2½-2¾ inches and up, 1.50@2.00, some few higher; Red Starks, Delicious, 2¾ inches and up, U. S. No. 1, 3.25@3.50.

TOMATOES—Receipts light. Market strong-er. California, 3.00@4.00, some higher.

EGGS (Prices paid net to producers, f. o. b. Richmond)—Receipts light. Market firm. Federal-State grading stations: Whites and browns, U. S. grade A, large, 53@55; U. S. grade A, medium, 43@46; U. S. grade A, small, 33; U. S. grade B, large, 40@43; U. S. grade B, medium, 33@35; U. S. grade C, large, 33. Pullets, 30. Nearby ungraded current receipts, whites and mixed colors, 38@42, according to weight.

LIVE POULTRY (Prices paid net to producers, f. o. b. Richmond—Receipts of chickens and hens light. Market about steady. Broilers and fryers, 24@25. Leghorns, 17@18. Old roosters, 16.

HOGS—350. Market, 15 cents lower than Tuesday. 180-240 pound grain-fed hogs, 14.00; 100-120 pounds, 7.00; 120-140 pounds, 12.60; 140-160 pounds, 13.10; 160-180 pounds, 13.85; 240-270 pounds, 13.40; 270-300 pounds, 13.10; 300-330 pounds, 12.85. Weights, 330 pounds up, 12.60. Good sows, under 350 pounds, 12.40; 350-500 pounds, 11.90; over 500 pounds, 10.90. Good stags, 8.65.

CATTLE—Top dairy type cows bring 8.00@9.00; medium to good, 6.50@8.00; common, 4.50@6.00; shelly kinds, 3.50@4.00. Good butcher bulls sell 8.50@9.50; sausage bulls according to fatness and quality, 6.00@8.00. Good and choice vealers bring 13.50@14.00; medium grades, 11.00@13.00; common calves, 8.00@10.00.

SHEEP—No lambs, 13.50; medium to good, 12.00@13.00; lower grades, 9.00, and hard to sell.

Chicago Livestock

Chicago, Nov. 1 (AP). (WFA)—SALABLE HOGS—Receipts 12,000; total, 25,000; market closed active after slow start, steady to 10 cents lower, mostly steady with Tuesday's average; good and choice, 190-300 lbs., 13.85@13.85, top 13.90; few good and choice, 160-180 lbs., 13.25@13.75; sows steady, mostly one price, 13.50; complete clearance.

SALABLE CATTLE—Receipts 10,000; total, 11,000; salable calves, 1000; total, 1300; choice fed steers and yearlings fully steady; early top 18.50, some held higher; best yearlings 18.25; heifers 17.50; other grains steers more active than Tuesday, mostly steady; bulk 14.50@17.75; common and medium grades, 10.75@14.00; all heifers steady to weaker; bulk fed offerings 15.00@17.00; cows steady to weak; bulls steady; vealers unchanged at 15.50 down; stock cattle less active, but steady, mostly 11.00@13.50, with outstanding Western yearlings to 14.00.

SALABLE SHEEP—Receipts, 3000; total, 9000; market opening rather slow, few early sales around steady; few scattered lots good and choice native lambs, 14.00@14.25, with bucks 1.00 less; native slaughter ewes mostly 4.00@5.50, according to grade.

Leading Heads Listed In Prince William

Manassas, Va., Nov. 1 (Spl.)—The Clover Hill Farm herd, Manassas, led the Prince William Dairy Herd Improvement Association in October with an average production of 41 pounds butterfat and 786 pounds milk, Nelson French, association tester, announced.

The herd of Wilmer M. Kline, Manassas, was second with 35.4 pounds butterfat and 893 pounds milk per cow. The J. Carl Kincheloe herd, Nokesville, was third with an average production of 35.1 pounds butterfat and 893 pounds milk per cow. The Charles C. Lynn herd, Manassas, was fourth with 33.9 pounds butterfat and 919 pounds milk per cow. Hurst's Broadview Farm herd was fifth with an average production of 31.5 pounds butterfat and 681 pounds milk per cow.

Forum Series Slated

Winchester, Va., Nov. 1.—Under the sponsorship of the local Junior Board of Trade a series of public forum meetings are scheduled to be known as "Town Meeting for Winchester and Frederick County." The first will be held on November 17 with State Superintendent of Schools, Dr. D. S. Lancaster as the speaker.

Weather Good For Harvest Of Va. Crops

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—The last week in October proved to be the most favorable of the month for outdoor farm work with fair, cool and somewhat windy weather prevailing over the State, the Virginia Crop Reporting Service report shows.

A few light scattered showers fell in some sections but caused little hindrance to harvesting and seeding of crops. Heavy frost occurred in some widely separated areas and light frost was general over the State with the exception of extreme southeastern counties. Frost practically ended the snap bean season in some areas, caused some deterioration in pastures and in hays remaining to be cut.

Through October 28, 58 per cent of the State's small grain crops had been seeded. As a result of wet weather in October, the seeding of fall grain was behind the usual headway made at this date.

The harvesting of peanuts and tobacco is nearing the end. About 31 per cent of the soybean crop had been combined through the last week in October. About one-fourth of the corn has been husked and cotton picking continued to be slow as the farmers gave precedence to peanut and tobacco harvesting. Eighty-six per cent of the apple crop had been picked compared with 90 per cent on October 23 last year.

35 Students Stay Out of Md. School In Bus Protest

Frostburg, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—Thirty-five out of a group of about 90 students from the Mt. Savage-Barrelville section remained away from Beall High School today in protest against conditions on buses while 10 from Consol village went on strike because they have no bus service.

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said State police and school officials are investigating and that a statement would be issued when the facts are ascertained. Sergt. Harold C. Carl, Maryland State police, and Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education, were at Beall today when the Mt. Savage buses arrived with 27 and 22 students, respectively.

Six others used private transportation.

Arthur W. Taylor, Beall principal, was notified yesterday that 17 Consol village students would not come to school today unless they were given transportation. The community is about two miles from the school.

Farm Releases Due After Nov. 15

Hagerstown, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—No Washington County farm worker will be released from his farm job to enable him to enter industrial employment before November 15, County Agent Mark Miller announced.

Miller said that a large number of workers have sought releases but added that none would be given as long as there were farm jobs open anywhere in the county. He added that there were more than 100 such jobs open in the county.

Workers will be allowed to take industrial jobs until March 15, 1945, at which time they must return to the farms, Miller said.

Weather Favorable For Harvest Cleanup

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Despite two killing frosts and freezing temperatures, the mean temperature in Maryland and Delaware for the week ended October 31 was slightly above normal, the U. S. bureau reported today.

The weather was favorable for harvesting, for sowing grains and other field work, the bureau said, and for the growth of early grains, grasses, pastures and of autumn crops.

The weather bulletin, last of this season for the Maryland and Delaware section, fixed the sunshine during the week at 15 per cent above normal.

The Federal Diary

By Jerry Kluttz

Negroes in U. S. Service Win Improved Status

NEGROES: A check made by the Fair Employment Practices Committee shows that 40 per cent of them in Government now have clerical and professional ratings. A few years ago 90 per cent of the Negroes were in the custodial service. The forthcoming Civil Service order on reductions in force will not give Negroes preferential treatment, such as a proportionate layoff. They'll be treated exactly like everyone else. . . . VETERANS: Civil Service yesterday notified Federal agencies that veterans of World War II may be hired by Government agencies from private industry, or vice versa, without a referral certificate. However, they may not be transferred or reappointed to other agencies without negotiation and release by Civil Service.

KLUTTZ

STORY: George Healy, who's retiring as chief of the OWI domestic division, tells this story on himself: Shortly before he took leave of absence from his newspaper to come here 10 months ago, he had a visit in New Orleans with the late Wendell Willkie, who was a close friend of his two predecessors, Mike Cowles and Ep Hoyt. He told Willkie that Mike and Ep had urged him to take the job. Willkie chuckled and said: "Well, your case reminds me of a sideshow that came to Elwood, Ind., when I was a boy. Outside the tent was a large sign saying: 'Pay a dime and see a horse whose tail is where his head ought to be.' A big crowd paid to see a horse turned around in his stall, his tail in the feed box. The suckers didn't complain. They went outside and encouraged more people to get stung. And you know," Willkie commented, "Mike and Ep have been inside that tent." But now that Healy is returning to the Times-Picayune he says he has no regrets and he believes the OWI has done a good job.

POLITICAL CRISIS: A minor one occurred last week on Capitol Hill. Government Printing Office wasn't able to supply millions of envelopes in which political material was to be mailed. Now the folding room has cleaned up most of its work and last Friday 45 part-time employes were released . . . President Roosevelt has told friends that the welcomes he received in Philadelphia and Chicago were the greatest evidence of democracy he had ever witnessed in all his years of campaigning. He may take Fala on his weekend tour of New England because so many people asked about his pet Scottie in Philadelphia. Fala was kept home, he explains, to deflate his head. He created too much notice on the New York trip.

Dr. Leonard Carmichael, who has resigned as director of the National Roster, will remain as a consultant. Paul McNutt also will appoint an advisory board to assist Dr. George A. Wells of the University of Chicago, the new director. It will be composed of the Nation's outstanding scientific and professional people, including William Batt of WPB and Dr. Vannevar Bush, chief of the Office of Scientific Research and Development. The Roster, incidentally, is one war activity that's likely to be continued and expanded. The plan is to tie it in with the U. S. Employment Service and to refer all calls for scientific and professional people to it. The Roster has proved its value and its records are priceless. It serves both industry and Government.

David Meeker, formerly special assistant to Agriculture Secretary Wickard, will handle the disposal of surplus war goods to the farmers . . . Employes in the office of the Navy Secretary will hold a dance Saturday night at the Shoreham. Lieut. (j. g.) Eddie Albert, former movie and stage star, will be the MC . . . Dr. Robert H. Felix has been appointed medical director in charge of the mental hygiene division in the Bureau of Medical Services at Public Health. He succeeded Dr. Lawrence Kolb, who resigned . . . Carl A. Heinz has succeeded C. L. Shartle as chief of War Manpower's division of occupational analysis. Shartle was a member of the Puryear that passed on deferment of Federal employes.

It seems strange that there should be so many different interpretations placed on the White House order that gives Federal workers up to a full day off on election day to vote. Apparently some supervisors don't want their employes to vote. Some employes report they haven't approval of annual leave to return home to vote. Of all groups, Federal employes should vote . . . Mrs. Roosevelt is arranging an all-day conference with the War Recreation Workers Association to be held late this month . . . And tonight the recreation committee at War Manpower will entertain at dinner 30 soldiers from the Forest Glen rest home. WMC officials are being asked to buy a soldier a dinner.

$15,000 Is High Bid For Thaw Estate

Winchester, Va., Nov. 1 (Spl.).—The 56-acre country estate which the former Pittsburgh millionaire Harry K. Thaw purchased here about 18 years ago, but unused in recent years, was offered at public auction recently. Dr. C. R. Anderson of Winchester, made the top bid, $15,000, subject to the approval of Thaw.

Died

ASHBY, DELL L. On Monday, October 30, 1944, at Naval Hospital, DELL L. ASHBY, First Sergt., USMC (retired), beloved husband of Fanny B. Ashby and father of Corpl. Delbert I. (overseas), Fred M. and Fanny L. Ashby. Services at Chambers funeral home, 517 11th st. se., on Thursday, November 2, at 1 p. m. Interment Arlington National Cemetery.

BROCK, MYRA JOHN. On Monday, October 30, 1944, MYRA BROCK, beloved wife of Lewis S. Brock of 614 Rye st. ne.; daughter of Love and Bob L. Roy. Funeral from the Timothy Hanlon funeral home, 641 H st. ne., on Thursday, November 2, at 1 p. m. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery. Relatives and friends invited.

CRAMER, MARY E. On Monday, October, 30, 1944, at her residence, 4514 Arkansas ave. nw., MARY E. CRAMER, wife of the late William E. Cramer and mother of Mrs. Lillian Cramer Ramey, Mrs. Alice V. Hetherington. Services at the S. H. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. nw. on Thursday, November 2, at 3 p. m. Interment Rock Creek Cemetery.

FRITCH, JOHN WILLIAM. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at Georgetown University Hospital, JOHN WILLIAM FRITCH of 1400 Meridian pl. nw., beloved husband of Rena Ora Fritch (nee Brooks). Services at the S. H. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. nw., on Thursday, November 2, at 1 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Rock Creek Cemetery.

KING, JEANETTE HARRIS. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at her residence, the Broadmoor Apts., 3601 Connecticut ave., Mrs. JEANETTE HARRIS KING, widow of Philip King, mother of Phillip King jr., and sister of Mrs. Maurice Bandler, Mrs. Edmund Rhodes, Mrs. Sigmund Rothberg. Services at Gawler's chapel, 1756 Pennsylvania ave. nw., on Thursday, November 2, at 2 p. m. Interment Rock Creek Cemetery.

KLUG, NELLIE. On Monday, October 30, 1944, at her residence, 1212 K st. nw., NELLIE KLUG, beloved mother of Mrs. Charles Lehner of San Antonio, Tex. Funeral from the Flanagan Northeast funeral home, 412 H st. ne., on Friday, November 3, at 9 a. m.; thence to St. Patrick's Church, where mass will be offered at 9:30 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Mount Olivet Cemetery.

LOEFLER, WILLIAM J. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at his residence, 3725 13th st. ne., WILLIAM J. LOEFLER, beloved husband of Ella Loefler and father of Evelyn M. Shortell and stepfather of Robert E. Linthicum. Friends may call at the Lee funeral home, 4th st. and Mass. ave. ne., until Thursday, November 2, at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Anthony's Catholic Church where mass will be offered at 10 a. m. for the repose of his soul. Interment Mount Olivet Cemetery.

McGEE, LAWRENCE A. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at his residence, 1307 12th st. nw., LAWRENCE A. McGEE, beloved husband of Mrs. Florence Lewis McGee and father of William Lawrence McGee. He is also survived by four sisters, Mrs. Maude Schoepflin of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Pettichatt, Mrs. Blanche Brenner and Mrs. Florence Dugas of Kansas City, Mo. Remains resting at Hysong's funeral home, 1300 N st. nw., where services will be held on Thursday, November 2, at 1 p. m. Relatives and friends invited to attend. Interment Valley Falls, Kans.

SCHEURING, ELIZABETH MARY. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at her residence, 4805 8th st. nw., ELIZABETH MARY SCHEURING, beloved wife of the late Franz Scheuring, beloved mother of Frank and John Scheuring and Mrs. Margaret Allison. Funeral from her late residence on Thursday, November 2, at 8:45 a. m. Requiem mass at St. Dominick's Catholic Church, 6th and K sts. sw., at 9:30 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment Arlington National Cemetery.

SMITH, GEORGE H. On Sunday, October 29, 1944, at his residence, 3721 No. Capitol st., GEORGE H. SMITH, beloved husband of Bessie Dingee Smith of Washington, D. C.; brother of Miss Elizabeth E. Smith and Miss Anna T. Smith, both of Pawtucket, R. I. Remains resting at Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin st. nw., until Thursday, November 2, at 10:30 a. m. Requiem mass at the Church of the Nativity, 6900 Georgia ave. nw., at 11 a. m. Interment Cedar Hill Cemetery.

WICKING, GEORGE. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at Suburban Hospital, GEORGE WICKING, beloved husband of Kathryn Wicking of 107 Glenbrook rd., Bethesda, Md. Funeral services at the Bethesda-Chevy Chase funeral home of Wm. Reuben Pumphrey, Thursday, November 2, at 2 p. m. Interment Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

YOUNG, EVA V. On Tuesday, October 31, 1944, at her residence, 623 Keefer pl. nw., EVA V. YOUNG, beloved wife of J. Criswell Young and mother of Loretta Y. Hopping and Norma E. Young and daughter of Mrs. Grace Faulkner. Services at the S. H. Hines Co. funeral home, 2901 14th st. nw., on Friday, November 3, at 11:30 a. m. Interment Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Attention Please!

DANIEL J. TOBIN,

General President, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen & Helpers of America, will speak to the nation under the auspices of that organization, over National Broadcasting Co.

Fri., Nov. 3, 1944, from 9 to 9:30 P.M., Eastern War Time

Mr. Tobin has some interesting things to say to the Nation – to members of the Brotherhood – and to labor in general, organized and unorganized.

Station WRC, 9 to 9:30 P. M.
Friday, Nov. 3d

TEAMSTERS JOINT COUNCIL NO. 55

Paid Advertisement

BARNABY — By Crockett Johnson

No, Barnaby. Our meeting's not over. I stepped out for a day or so. The Ex-Senator is concluding a filibuster over our platform plank dealing with Education . . .
Publisher Wurst is strong for Education. Up to the third grade . . . But the Ex-Senator steadfastly is opposing this.
He wants all schools abolished. Claims they're subversive . . . An investigation he headed found they teach people how to write.
You see, he was defeated in the primaries by a write-in vote . . .
CROCKETT JOHNSON

Prince Georges Bar Opposes Reorganizing Judicial System

The proposed constitutional amendment to reorganize the State judicial system, has been "unalterably opposed" by the Prince Georges Bar Association, it was learned yesterday.

The proposed amendment, to be voted on by Maryland residents at next Tuesday's election, would reduce the size of the Court of Appeals, redistrict the State's judicial circuits and provide for a head of the entire judicial system.

The bar association declared that no demand has come from the people for any change in the Court of Appeals. That the court has functioned under the present system for 77 years and has given "most excellent and satisfactory service to our people."

Adoption of the proposed amendment, the group contended, would "preclude the Southern Maryland counties from ever again having representation on the State's highest court."

If the amendment is favored at the polls it will mean that the number of judges on the Court of Appeals will be reduced from eight to five members—one from each of the three new judicial circuits to be set up and two from Baltimore, which would be designated as a fourth judicial circuit. At the present there is one judge from each of the seven judicial circuits in the State and one from Baltimore.

In addition members of the Court of Appeals would be prohibited from trying cases in any of the State's circuit courts while the chief judge of the appellate court could assign any circuit court judge to any other court in the State.

The Prince Georges Circuit Court, which now includes Prince Georges, Charles, St. Mary's and Calvert Counties, would be changed to a circuit composed of Prince Georges, Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Charles, St. Mary's, Calvert and Harford Counties.

Md. Methodists Launch Drive

Frederick, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—Dr. C. Irving Benson of Melbourne, Australia, called today for church leadership to meet the "challenge of the times" in an address before more than 700 ministers and lay delegates of the Baltimore conference, Methodist Church.

Dr. Benson, who asserted that "availability is more important than ability," spoke at a one-day meeting called to launch a Methodist campaign for 25 million dollars to reconstruct churches devastated by war.

Dr. J. Manning Potts, a member of the Virginia conference and director of the campaign, also called for a "revitalized church."

Donald Duck — By Walt Disney

Alexandria Seal Sales Must Climb Again, Clarke Says

Recalling that Alexandria's Christmas seal sale last year rose $2000 above the quota, State Senator Andrew W. Clarke of Belle Haven, campaign chairman, yesterday told committee leaders the upward trend must continue to achieve this year's goal of $15,500.

The 1944 goal is $3000 higher than last year's.

Senator Clarke presided at a luncheon attended by officers of the Alexandria Tuberculosis Association and volunteer committee heads including Thomas C. Graham, large gifts; Irving Diener, speakers bureau; Miss Margaret Nowell, schools; Mrs. A. J. Heine, Parent-Teacher Associations; Charles Henry Mason, window displays; Mrs. W. J. Burch, booths, and Mrs. William Moor Kabler, publicity.

Dr. John A. Sims, Tuberculosis Association president, reviewed achievements of the year 'round disease prevention and diagnosis program financed by the sale of seals. It consists of monthly physicians' conferences on tuberculosis at the Alexandria Hospital, tuberculin tests in the schools, clinic examinations and mass X-ray surveys.

"Our failure is that we have not been able to place cases in sanatoria. Every month, and at least twice a month we have that problem brought up by doctors. If we are going to complete our program we must place these patients," Dr. Sims said.

Mrs. Ruth K. Powers, association executive secretary, said the Alexandria Health Department found 66 active cases of tuberculosis in the city between January 1 and October 1 of this year, out of 6000 persons examined.

Mrs. Heine said that the Parent-Teacher Associations in Alexandria are seriously concerned over the lack of hospital facilities for known cases.

Mrs. Powers and V. J. Sallak of the National Tuberculosis Association, who is assisting with the sale in Alexandria, said administration of the Alexandria organization costs only eight cents of each dollar donated.

Clarke said that volunteers are needed in the association office at 110 North St. Asaph st. to work a few hours a week in checking consumer lists and typing envelopes.

Sun-Cured Tobacco Auctions Open Dec. 5

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Richmond's sun-cured tobacco auction will open Tuesday, December 5, with an outlook for about 2,500,000 pounds of the leaf and with prices expected to compare favorably with those of 1943-44, M. B. Bowles, secretary-treasurer of W. L. Hazell & Co.'s Shockloe warehouse, announced today.

Last year, 2,089,583 pounds of the tobacco were sold here at a season average of $34.51, believed to be the highest in at least 50 years if not an all-time record.

Virginia's sun-cured is grown chiefly in Hanover, Goochland, Louisa, Fluvanna, Orange, Spotsylvania, Caroline, King William, King and Queen, Essex, Henrico, Chesterfield, Amelia, Buckingham, Cumberland and Powhatan Counties.

NIGHT COUGHS due to colds . . . eased without "dosing". Rub on VICKS VAPORUB
APPROVED BY 2 GENERATIONS

Were Stomach Ulcer Pains Napoleon's Waterloo?

The great Napoleon who conquered nations was himself a victim of after-eating pains. Those who are distressed with stomach or ulcer pains, indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, bloat and other conditions caused by excess acid should try Udga. Get a 25c box of Udga Tablets from your druggist. First dose must convince or return box to us and get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Gas On Stomach
Relieved in 5 minutes or double your money back
When excess stomach acid causes painful suffocating gas, sour stomach and heartburn, doctors usually prescribe the fastest acting medicines known for symptomatic relief—medicines like those in Bellans Tablets. No laxative. Bellans brings comfort in a jiffy or double your money back on return of bottle to us. 25c at all druggists.

Itching of ECZEMA
Get quick, welcome relief with the active medication in soothing Resinol. Enjoy lingering comfort.
RESINOL

©King Features Syndicate, Inc., All Rights Reserved.
DIONNE 'QUINTS' promptly relieve coughing of CHEST COLDS WITH MUSTEROLE

Schindler's
PEANUT BUTTER
—Flavorful!

Brenda—Will You Step Out With Me Tonight?

I know I've been an awful grouch not taking you any place lately. But after standing all day at my new job, my feet darn near killed me with callouses and burning. Now I've reformed—or rather my feet have—thanks to the Ice-Mint you advised. Never tried anything that seemed to draw the pain and fire right out so fast—and the way it helps soften callouses is nobody's business! Been able to get some extra overtime money—so what do you say, let's go dancing tonight. You can step on my Ice-Mint feet all you want.

'INVISIBLE' LIQUID proves great success for SKIN IRRITATIONS
Promptly relieves itching—aids healing
Here's a Doctor's formula—Zemo—a stainless liquid which appears invisible on skin—yet so highly medicated that first applications relieve itching, burning of Eczema, Psoriasis and similar skin and scalp irritations—due to external cause. Zemo also aids healing. Won't show on skin. Apply any time. In 3 different sizes. → ZEMO

WCHV
1130 Kilocycles.
THURSDAY
MORNING.
7:00 Musical Clock
7:28 News.
7:30 Musical Clock.
7:55 News.
8:00 Martin Agronsky
8:15 Morning Melodies.
8:30 News.
8:45 Lucky Lady.
9:00 Breakfast Club.
10:00 My True Story
10:30 Cliff Edwards.
10:45 Listening Post.
11:00 Breakfast at Sardi's
11:30 News Summary
11:45 Jack Berch.
AFTERNOON.
12:00 Glamour Manor.
12:30 Devotions
12:45 Town Crier.
1:00 News; Baukhage.
1:15 Music of the Masters
1:45 Bienvenidos Amigos.
2:00 Kiernan-News.
2:15 The Mystery Chef.
2:30 Ladies Be Seated.
3:00 Morton Downey
3:15 Star Time.
3:30 Appointment With Life.
4:00 Waltz Time.
4:30 Time Views News.
4:45 Hap Harrigan.
5:00 Terry and the Pirates
5:15 Dick Tracy.
5:30 Jack Armstrong.
5:45 Rhythm Roundup.
EVENING.
6:00 News; Music.
6:15 Texas Rangers.
6:30 News; Music.
6:45 Henry J. Taylor.
7:00 Fred Waring.
7:30 Longines Symphonett.
8:00 Ray Henle, News.
8:15 Lum and Abner
8:30 America's Town Meeting
9:30 Spotlight Bands
10:00 Raymond Gram Swing.
10:15 George Hicks, News.
10:30 Side Show.
11:00 Music You Want.
11:30 Concert Orchestra.
12:00 Sign Off
VIRGINIA BROADCASTING CO.
Charlottesville, Va.

WINC
1400 Kilocycles.
THURSDAY
MORNING.
7:30 Morning Clock.
8:00 War Journal.
8:15 Records.
8:30 News.
8:45 Morning Devotions.
9:00 Breakfast Club
10:00 True Story.
10:30 Martinsburg Wheel.
10:45 Listening Post
11:00 Breakfast at Sardi's.
11:30 News.
AFTERNOON.
12:00 Music.
12:30 Farm and Home.
1:00 Baukhage
1:15 Radio Bible School.
1:45 Little Jack Little.
2:00 News.
2:15 Mystery Chef.
2:30 Ladies, Be Seated.
3:00 Morton Downey.
3:15 Star Time.
3:30 Appointment With Life.
4:00 Blue Frolics
4:15 The Rev. Harry James.
4:30 News
4:45 Sea Hound.
5:00 Terry and Pirates.
5:15 Dick Tracy.
5:30 Jack Armstrong.
5:45 Captain Midnight.
EVENING.
6:00 Hit Tune.
6:15 That's My Name.
6:30 Evening Reveries.
6:45 Henry Taylor, News.
7:00 Blondie.
7:15 Modern Romances.
7:30 Concert Hall
8:00 News
8:15 Lum and Abner.
8:30 Town Meeting.
9:30 Spotlight Band
10:00 Raymond Gram Swing.
10:15 Tony Dalton.
WINCHESTER, VA.

WFVA
1300 Kilocycles.
THURSDAY
MORNING.
7:30 Music.
8:00 Martin Agronsky.
8:15 Your Life Today.
8:30 News Summary.
8:45 Morning Devotions.
9:00 Breakfast Club.
10:00 True Story
10:30 Name the Tune.
10:45 Listening Post.
11:00 Breakfast at Sardi's.
11:30 Oil Martyn, News.
11:45 Gossip for Girls.
AFTERNOON.
12:00 Hit Band of the Day
12:15 Today's Hit; Luncheon Dancing.
12:30 Farm and Home Hour.
1:00 Baukage, News.
1:15 Lum 'n' Abner.
1:30 Concert Hall.
2:00 News, Kiernan.
2:15 Hollywood Show.
2:30 Candi Cromwell.
2:45 Money Man.
3:00 Morton Downey.
3:15 Hollywood Star Time.
3:30 Vogue Show
4:00 Ethel and Albert.
4:15 Mary Washington College.
4:30 Time Views the News.
4:45 Hop Harrigan.
5:00 Terry and the Pirates.
5:15 Dick Tracey.
5:30 Jack Armstrong.
5:45 Capt. Midnight.
EVENING.
6:00 Melody Time.
6:30 Sign Off.
FREDERICKSBURG BROADCASTING CORPORATION.

WJEJ
1240 Kilocycles.
THURSDAY
7:00 Early Bird.
8:00 News.
8:05 Early Bird.
8:45 Family Altar.
9:00 Organ Melodies.
9:30 Man with a Band.
10:00 News, B. Repaid.
10:15 Morning Devotions
10:30 Shady Valley Folks
11:00 News; Arthur Gaeth.
11:15 Saddle Pals.
11:45 Health Talk
11:50 News Parade
AFTERNOON
12:15 Music in the Letter Vein.
12:30 U. S. Navy Band
1:00 Ray Daly.
1:15 Terry's House Party.
1:30 Lunch With Lopez
1:45 American Woman's Jury.
2:00 Cedric Foster.
2:15 Saddle Pals.
2:30 Open House.
2:45 Real Life Stories.
3:00 Morton Downey.
3:15 Palmer House Orch.
3:30 The Smoothies.
3:45 Time Was.
4:05 Romantic Cycle.
4:15 Johnson Family.
5:00 Bandstand.
5:15 Interlude.
5:30 Superman.
5:45 Tom Mix.
EVENING.
6:00 News; Sports.
6:15 City Hillbillies.
6:30 Candlelight and Silver.
7:00 Fulton Lewis, Jr.
7:15 Sen. O'Daniel.
7:30 Confidentially Yours.
7:45 Organ Melodies.
8:00 F. Sinzlser.
8:15 Sunny Skylar.
8:30 Preview.
9:00 Gabriel Heatter
9:15 Sir Walter Scott Trio.
9:30 Joan Davis.
10:00 Henry Gladstone.
10:15 Front Page Drama.
11:00 News, Sports.
11:20 Sign Off.
MUTUAL—HAGERSTOWN, MD.

FOR CONSTIPATION TAKE Espotabs

Expect great things when you taste
PARK & TILFORD
Private Stock
—a harmony of great American Whiskies has made it
America's Luxury Whiskey
Luxurious in taste whether used STRAIGHT, in a HIGHBALL OLD FASHIONED or MANHATTAN
PARK & TILFORD Private Stock
A BLEND OF STRAIGHT WHISKIES
Over 100 Years of Knowing How!
PARK & TILFORD DISTILLERS, INC., NEW YORK, N. Y. • A BLEND OF STRAIGHT WHISKIES • 86 PROOF

You can't have Everything!

Blackie: "This is good food, Whitey, but I prefer the kind we used to get."

Whitey: "So do I, Blackie, but these days we sometimes have to forget our preferences."

You're right, Whitey—especially when it comes to Scotch Whisky! Although BLACK & WHITE is coming into this country in quantities equal to other Scotches, the demand is so great that occasionally you may find it difficult to get a bottle. In that case, may we suggest that you try one of the other well-known brands. There are many other good Scotch Whiskies. The makers of BLACK & WHITE are confident you'll come back when there's enough for all.

The Scotch with Character
"BLACK & WHITE"
BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY 86.8 PROOF • THE FLEISCHMANN DISTILLING CORPORATION, NEW YORK, N. Y. • SOLE DISTRIBUTORS

LAST AUGUST WAS A TIRE KILLER!

AT 100° F, TIRES WEAR OUT 5 TIMES FASTER THAN AT 40° F!

LET YOUR ESSO DEALER HELP PUT YOUR TIRES IN SHAPE NOW FOR FALL AND WINTER DRIVING, SWITCH THEM SCIENTIFICALLY TO BALANCE WEAR!

SURE, WE FEEL THE MANPOWER SHORTAGE—BUT IT WON'T CUT THE QUALITY OF OUR WORK EVEN IF WE MAY SOMETIMES NEED A BIT MORE TIME

CHANGE YOUR OIL! WITH THE AVERAGE THICK 'SUMMER' OIL, YOUR BATTERY MUST FURNISH AS MUCH AS 65% MORE POWER FOR STARTING IN FREEZING WEATHER!

GASOLINE POWERS THE ATTACK—DON'T WASTE A DROP!

COPR. 1944, ESSO INC.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEW JERSEY

LET YOUR ESSO DEALER DO IT!

ESSO DEALER

CARE SAVES WEAR

november 7
you have a date

Women will go to the polls on November 7th with a special obligation to the millions of men overseas. Because your ballot represents their fight for freedom and democracy, you owe it to them (and to yourself) to understand the issues at stake.

November GLAMOUR features an article by Volta Torrey on Choosing Between Candidates. GLAMOUR urges you to find out how your candidates stand on such basic issues as taxes, labor, foreign relations, racial problems and women's rights. Analyze these questions from every angle... make your vote voice your convictions.

Each month, GLAMOUR meets its alert, inquiring audience of young leaders with a variety of contemporary comments and significant news on clothes, jobs, beauty and beaux. Get a copy and see how well GLAMOUR is serving Young America's needs.

GLAMOUR
A Condé Nast Publication
the magazine for the girl with a job

Advertisement Advertisement Advertisement Advertisement

Alexandria Girl Scouts To End Session

Alexandria Bureau of The Post, 110 North St. Asaph St. Temple 6538.

Meetings of Alexandria Girl Scout troops today at the George Washington High School will climax observances of Girl Scout week which began Sunday when the uniformed girls attended the city churches in groups. "Friendship pennies" are being donated at the various meetings for the World Friendship Fund aiding children in Europe and China.

On Tuesday, the birthday of Juliette Lowe, founder of the Girl Scouts, Troop 24, led by Mrs. Howard Kennedy, dedicated shrubbery at the meeting place—the Westminster Presbyterian Church on Cameron Mills rd. A flag ceremony, songs and stories and the reading of Juliette Lowe's Halloween letter to Girl Scouts highlighted the event.

Troop 14, composed of high school girls led by Mrs. L. W. Glowa, is studying preflight aviation and has named the troop the Grasshopper Flight in recognition of the L-4 plane used in the war as well as in training civilian pilots.

Mrs. Ellenor Burchell is leading a senior troop which is working to become a Senior Service Scout unit. In addition to attending meetings, each girl spends at least one hour a week in community work at the Alexandria Hospital, Alexandria Library, Red Cross chapter or Alexandria Tuberculosis Association. Frieda Beyers has established a record of 165 hours' work at the hospital and Frances Gasser, who plans to begin nurse training after graduating from high school in February, has worked 117 hours.

Civic and welfare groups needing volunteers have been supplied with workers from the enrollment of 800 Scouts by Mrs. Frank Heileman, director of scouting, wife of Brigadier General Heileman, who lives at 8 Woodmont rd., Belle Haven.

Woman Eludes 2 Halloween Misadventures

By Betty McDevitt

Mrs. E. M. Douglas, 86, 6833 Eastern ave., Takoma Park, Md., mother of Willard R. Douglas, purchasing agent of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, was none the worse yesterday for the ordeals she went through on Halloween.

Alone in her home she was reading when an electric lamp fell, the heat of the bulb setting a magazine afire. In her excitement in calling the Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Department, Mrs. Douglas gave her former house number, 6751 Eastern ave., where the fire engines and rescue squad sped within a few minutes, only to find no fire.

Meanwhile, according to police, Mrs. Douglas extinguished the fire. But as she attempted to make another call to the fire department she dropped the telephone receiver and fell down a flight of stairs where she lay until her moans were heard by a couple passing by the house. They broke into the front door and found Mrs. Douglas seriously hurt. Before they had time to help the woman, however, the Takoma Park police arrived due to the alertness of a telephone operator who had taken the previous fire call from Mrs. Douglas but sensing something wrong when the receiver was off the hook, summoned the police.

The latter carried the elderly woman to a couch, then notified her son, at 217 Holly ave., Takoma Park. Mrs. Douglas was examined by Dr. A. B. Little, who said she suffered only nervous shock.

Mollegan Writes Smith to Restate His Opposition

Dr. A. T. Mollegan, professor of ethics at Alexandria Theological Seminary, yesterday reaffirmed his indorsement of the candidacy of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Murray for Representative from the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia.

In a letter to Congressman Howard W. Smith, who is running against Mrs. Murray, Dr. Mollegan said, in part:

"Political opposition to you and most of your policies is a matter of duty with me, since in my judgment your political outlook is obsolete, unenlightened and fraught with danger both to international security and to democracy at home.

"As long as this record continues, I shall make use of all legitimate means to supplant you in office with Mrs. Murray, a person of democratic and progressive views."

Two Candidates for Council In Alexandria Give Views

Two answers to questionnaires sent to the three candidates representative at large on the Alexandria City Council by the West Alexandria Citizens Association were made public yesterday by Thomas M. Jones, president, and the executive committee.

Jones said the candidates were asked for their views on the maintenance of existing zoning laws, particularly those affecting A residential property and the disposition of the Chinquapin Village and Cameron Valley emergency housing projects; on the present method of assessing real property values and the advisability of establishing separate courts for juvenile and domestic relations on one hand and civil and police cases on the other.

The most complete reply was furnished by Frederick L. Flynn, attorney, who answered all of the questions, while Robert E. Knight, jr., hardware dealer, wrote that he is in favor of the maintenance of existing laws respecting zoning and particularly A-1 residential zoning, Jones said. He added that the executive committee is still awaiting a reply from John A. Logan, building contractor.

According to his letter, Flynn favors retaining and protecting areas suitable for A-1 residential purposes, advocates razing both Chinquapin Village and Cameron Valley and asking for the removal of Government trailer camps in the city as soon as the emergency is over; believes there should be a uniform ceiling on the assessment of all property with a rate rather than assessment to govern raising or lowering of taxes.

Leonard Quits as State OPA Enforcement Aide

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—State Director Leo H. McCormick of the Office of Price Administration announced today he had accepted the resignation of Chief Enforcement Attorney Daniel Leonard, who will return to private law practice.

Leonard will be replaced by Thomas E. Barrett, jr., who has served as chief attorney for the OPA rent division.

Senator Wilson Improves

Rochester, Minn., Nov. 1 (AP).—U. S. Senator George A. Wilson (R., Iowa), who underwent an operation two weeks ago at a hospital here, said today he is "feeling fine" and plans to leave Friday for his home in Des Moines for a few days before returning to Washington.

Dr. Edwards' Great Formula For CONSTIPATION
Benefits Nation of Sufferers!

Ever Feel Like This? HEADACHE—NO PEP MENTALLY DULL UPSET STOMACH

If liver bile doesn't flow every day into intestines—constipation often results.

So take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets tonight to pep up bile flow and insure gentle yet thorough bowel movements. Olive Tablets being purely vegetable, are wonderful! Used successfully for years by Dr. F. M. Edwards for relieving patients with constipation and sluggish bile flow. Test Olive Tablets tonight! Follow label directions.

DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS

Kidneys Must Clean Out Acids

Do you suffer from Getting Up Nights, Backache, Nervousness, Leg Pains, Dizziness, Swollen Ankles, Rheumatic Pains, Bladder Weakness, Painful Passages, or feel old and run-down, due to non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles? If so, here is good news: The very first dose of Cystex (a physician's prescription) usually goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess acids and wastes which may have caused your trouble. So take Cystex exactly as directed and watch for quick help and a rapid increase in pep, more youthful feeling and joy of living. Cystex must surprise and delight you and satisfy completely or you simply return the empty package and your money back is guaranteed. Don't suffer another day without trying Cystex—only 35c. Tear this out; take to your druggist; be sure to get guaranteed Cystex.

Give SALAD DRESSINGS zestful flavor by adding

LEA & PERRINS Sauce
THE ORIGINAL WORCESTERSHIRE
Famous for over a Century

WORLD'S OLDEST AIRLINE
TO ARUBA - CURACAO
Same Day Connections to LA GUAIRA
Wednesday and Saturday from Miami
K.L.M. ROYAL DUTCH AIRLINES
1919 - 1944 25TH ANNIVERSARY
521 Fifth Avenue, New York 17, N. Y., Mu. 2-7994, Holland-America Line, 29 Broadway, New York 6, Wh. 4-1900 or Air Express International, Inc., Columbus Hotel Bldg., Miami, Tel. 2-1753.

W. L. GREGORY, V. P.
Plaza Bank,
St. Louis, Mo.
"Roosevelt's known plans for successful conclusion of the war and the peace are far superior to any suggestion that Dewey has offered ..."

HARRISON M. ROBERTSON
General Counsel,
The Brown and Williamson Tobacco Corporation,
Louisville, Ky.
"Roosevelt's experience and his masterly conduct of the armed forces and the wartime domestic economy make him the best leader for war, for making peace and for post-war conversion ..."

SAMUEL RUBIN, Pres.
Faberge Perfumes,
New York City
"We who deal with facts and figures, shudder at the thought of a return to Hoover days and Dewey is a protégé of Hoover ..."

JAMES H. McGILL
Chairman of the Board,
McGill Mfg. Co.,
Valparaiso, Ind.
"Roosevelt believes as I do that the greatest good for the greatest number is good business ..."

We are BUSINESS MEN for ROOSEVELT and here is why ...

ANDREW J. HIGGINS
Higgins Industries, Inc.,
New Orleans, La.
"I am for Roosevelt because his vision and actions in national and international affairs have inspired the confidence of America and the respect of the world ..."

S. J. HOVICK, President
Electronic Corp. of America,
New York City
"I refuse to trade Roosevelt's proven ability and statesmanship for the promises of Mr. Dewey, who is without the experience and maturity that these critical times demand ..."

WALTER F. WANGER
Walter Wanger Prod., Inc.,
Universal City, Calif.
"I am for Roosevelt because I believe he is the only candidate who has proven his concern for all the people. He has achieved prosperity for both the owners of business and their employees ..."

J. LOUIS REYNOLDS
Metals Manufacturer,
Richmond, Va.
"Roosevelt has made American life more abundant. He saved the banks and home owners; he rescued the land and built great dams. Roosevelt assures full production, full employment and continued prosperity ..."

EMMET J. McCORMACK
Moore-McCormack
Steamship Lines,
New York City
"Roosevelt's insistence upon having great shipping facilities to foster American world trade is typical of his business acumen and his world vision. Mr. Dewey cannot begin to match these essential qualities ..."

Sympathetic business men are urged to support our newspaper and radio campaign in key states. Time is short. Send your check today—now...

BUSINESS MEN for ROOSEVELT, Inc.
ANDREW J. HIGGINS, Honorary President
J. LOUIS REYNOLDS, Chairman, Executive Council
Hotel Delmonico • 502 Park Ave., N.Y. 22 • PLaza 8-2463-4
"We believe that the re-election of Franklin Delano Roosevelt provides the best assurance for the continuation of the free enterprise system."

BUSINESS MEN FOR ROOSEVELT, INC.
502 Park Avenue, New York 22, N. Y.
Here's my check for $_____ to help your campaign.
NAME_____
COMPANY_____
ADDRESS_____
(Contributions are neither solicited nor accepted from corporations or government employees.)

FALSE TEETH?

STERA-KLEEN! A good way to keep FALSE TEETH more natural-looking! Daily for 15 or 20 minutes or overnight, soak your plate in ½ glass of water with ½ teaspoonful of STERA-KLEEN. This helps to remove ugly mucin scum, food or tobacco stains. Dentures remain clean... fresh tasting. Use STERA-KLEEN regularly and enjoy its cleansing aid to keep your FALSE TEETH as natural-looking as the day you got them. 30¢ at any drug store.

Stera-Kleen

NOW! REGULAR APPEARANCES!
WHITEY, the Wonderful Seal
IN HIS UNPARALLELED
BALANCING ACT!

Balances ALL the Choicest Whiskey Virtues in ONE Magnificent Pre-war Quality Blend!

HEARTINESS & MILDNESS
RICHNESS & LIGHTNESS

Acclaimed Again in EVERY Bar & Package Store—DON'T MISS IT!

CARSTAIRS WHITE SEAL WHISKEY
The Perfectly Balanced Blend

BLENDED WHISKEY 86.8 PROOF - 72½ GRAIN NEUTRAL SPIRITS - CARSTAIRS BROS. DISTILLING CO. INC. - BALTIMORE, MD.

Post Want Ads Bring Results

Nelson B. Bell About The Showshops

Earle and Palace Introduce Two Films Of Divergent Interest

PERHAPS THE TIME IS RIPE for just such a picture as Paramount's Technicolor production of "Frenchman's Creek," which this morning will make its first appearance on a Washington screen at the Earle Theater in a special prerelease engagement.

JOAN FONTAINE

Pitched back into the English coastal period of 1664, this Talbot Jennings adaptation of the novel by Daphne du Maurier, directed with a punctilious regard for eye-filling detail by Mitchell Leisen, unbuckles more swashes than have been seen on the screen since Rafael Sabatini's "The Sea Hawk" or his later "The Black Swan," in which Tyrone Power pirated his way into a picturesque and also Technicolored popularity.

What we have here is the purely escapist story of an ennuied seventeenth century young wife, who launches herself upon a brief and exciting sabbatical as the innocent accomplice of a romantic pirate whose forays are raising hob with her husband and his aristocratic, heavily bewigged, overdressed and utterly ineffectual associates in the velvet life.

It is purely "escapist" and as remote from the present tenor and purpose of English life as could be conceived by the liveliest imagination.

A Super-Production

This, it seems to me, is one occasion upon which it may honestly be said that the magnitude and magnificence of the production pretty thoroughly outweighs the intrinsic value of the tale it embellishes.

Technicolor has seldom, if ever, been employed to better advantage. The picture from first flash to last is a visual delight.

It is not always quite so dramatically satisfying, although in it have been combined most of the elements that unfailingly have added to the widespread appeal of the sort of high-tension melodrama that pits the independence and wit of a beautiful young woman against opposing forces that by every right ought to have overwhelmed her. Most emphatically, she was fantastically outnumbered.

However, when Dona St. Columb casts her lot briefly with the daredevil French raider whose presence in home waters brings such panic to the high-born fops who have caused her such boredom, events so shape themselves as to make it seem vaguely possible that she might have conducted herself precisely as she did.

That was to indulge in a 36-hour period of intense exhilaration and then give the handsome pirate a comparably handsome conge because, after all, Dona's two small children were first concern.

Villain Ironed Out

That, to be sure, is not borne in too strongly upon her consciousness until after her husband's best friend has proved himself a villain of deepest dye, as the saying goes, and Dona has expunged him by splashing a convenient suit of armour in his face, in the course of an intramural chase that was activated by distinctly ulterior motives.

There isn't much in the way of fanciful entertainment that has been left out of "Frenchman's Creek." Neither is there very much of solid worth that has been included in it.

A vagrant guess would be that the casual spectator will either like it immensely, or he won't like it at all. No appreciable amount of "middle ground" is involved. It all depends upon the individual "stretch" to which romantic inclinations will lend themselves.

As we were saying, Director Mitchell Leisen has achieved something in the nature of a masterpiece of minutiae in this production. His property man, one assumes, still must be under treatment for a nervous breakdown.

The principals in the cast probably underwent no such strain. Flamboyant and picturesque as their assignments are, there is nothing in any of them to bring about a complete collapse.

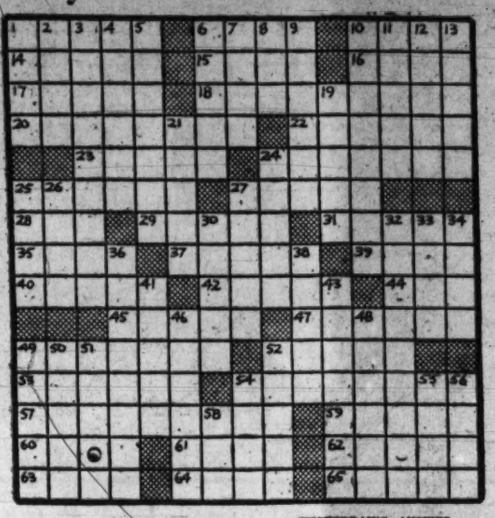
A Radiant Fontaine

Joan Fontaine, whose radiant charm is immeasurably enhanced by the color cameras, is wholly disarming in the role of Dona, and Arturo de Cardova, as Jean Benoit Aubery, "The Frenchman," quite fulfills all of the glowing prophesies made for him prior to his appearance in his first role of importance on the American screen. He is a genial and gallant sort of buccaneer, whose like may hardly be expected to be found outside of Miss Du Maurier's novels or the kiddies' picture books.

In support are such lusties as Basil Rathbone, who succumbs to the iron suit; Nigel Bruce, as Lord Godolphin; Cecil Kellaway, as one of the most understanding servitors the cameras ever have turned up; Ralph Forbes and a huge number of others who labor assiduously and successfully to maintain the imaginative quality of the fiction.

This week's patrons of the Earle will be further diverted by a quick stage bill, enlisting the services of such as Tommy Wonder, Jerry Lewis and a versatile young artiste by the name of Jane Clemens, augmented, of course, by the Roxyettes. Their activities will be considered here at a later date.

Daily Cross Word Puzzle



ACROSS

1 Shanty
6 Footfall
10 Egyptian
14 Straighten
15 Good promise
16 Protest
17 Tolls
18 Institute
20 Fashion shop
22 Pointed beard
23 Apathetic
24 Transmitters
25 Ancient Italian
27 Wheel spoke
28 Time
29 Abraham's wife
31 Curvet
35 Eminence
37 Retiring
39 Hub
40 Part of fishline
42 Medicinal cigarette
44 Lease
45 Cripples
47 Pans
49 Printed cotton cloths
52 Evicts
53 Wing-footed
54 Scholars
57 Attic
59 Phrygian king
60 Whet
61 Smoke
62 Fend
63 Quill
64 Twelve months
65 Niduses

DOWN

1 Misfortune
2 Hodgepodge
3 Sustain
4 Motor
5 Contracts
6 Succinct
7 Die-hard
8 Pintail
9 Plodded
10 North American
11 Oviform
12 Fall
13 Arbors
19 Architectural order
21 Use
24 Indian title
25 Female swans
26 Fetter
27 Branch
30 Grains
32 Cliffs
33 Equal
34 Macerates
36 Ovals
38 Formal introduction
41 Tattings
43 Baseball player
44 Lower
48 Struggle
49 Hoard
50 Pineness
51 Climbing plant
52 Tanker
54 Tibetan monk
55 Sharp
56 Adherents
58 Inkling

YESTERDAY'S ANSWER

F I N A L E S	T O W S E R S
O D I N I T E	E P I T H E T
R I T E S	R A R E L Y	G E
M O R T	C E L E R Y	L A M
U T E	S O N A T A	G O L A
L I	R E B A T E	S O B E R
A C C O L A D E	P I C A R D
A B E L	T R E A T
D I R E C T	P R O S P E R S S
I N E R T	R E V E T	P E
S T E T	R A I S E D	A R T
P E N	G A L O P S	S U I T
O G	C A M E R A	H O R N E
R E V E R B E	S T O R A G E
T R E S H E	N S E T T L E S

Bay Ship Readied For 63d Season

Cambridge, Md., Nov. 1 (AP).—The Richard Smith, one of the Chesapeake Bay's oldest sailing vessels which has dredged oysters every year since 1881, was being readied today for her sixty-third season, and her skipper expects it to be among her best.

Capt. Brady Dean, veteran of more than 20 years of dredging, said he expects one of his greatest strikes of small oysters in the Choptank River.

"It seems nature's time to act," he said.

His father, Capt. George Smith Dean, helped build the 64-foot Richard Smith, which also has been used to transport Eastern Shore produce and for sailing parties.

Doubles War Fund Goal

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 1 (Spl.) Although its canvass is still incomplete, King George County has collected $2,859, approximately double its goal, in the 1944 National War Fund drive.

WSVA

550 Kilocycles.

THURSDAY

MORNING.

6:15 Barnyard Time.
6:30 Rev. Maloney.
6:45 News and Markets.
7:00 Sleepy McDaniels.
7:15 Trading Post.
7:30 News.
7:45 Plough Boys.
8:00 Curley Joe.
8:15 Smiles.
8:30 Lee Moore.
9:00 Kitchen Frolic.
9:30 Johnson Trio.
9:45 Mixing Bowl.
10:00 10 o'Clock Favorites.
10:15 Government Show.
10:30 Two Pianos.
10:45 Woman's Page.
11:00 News.
11:15 Reed Organ.
11:30 Lee Moore.

AFTERNOON.

12:00 Juanita.
12:15 Farmers on Parade.
12:30 News.
12:45 Marietta.
1:00 Political Speech.
1:15 Campfire Roundup.
2:00 News.
2:15 Town Crier.
2:30 Doc Williams.
2:45 Buddy Starcher.
3:00 Lee Moore.
3:30 News.
3:45 World Feature.
4:00 The Goldbergs.
4:15 Life Can Be Beautiful.
4:30 Ma Perkins.
4:45 News.
5:00 Story Lady.
5:15 Jimmy Allen.
5:30 Hayden Family.
5:45 News and Markets.
6:00 Sign Off.

SHENANDOAH VALLEY BROADCASTING CORPORATION, Harrisonburg, Va.

a FACT!
Motorola A-M FM Radio
PIONEERS IN COMPACT RADIOS
the famous "Handie Talkie"—another Motorola FIRST!
SIMON DISTRIBUTING CORPORATION
Exclusive Wholesale Distributors
2501 H Street N.W., Washington, D. C.
REpublic 2180

Show Time in the Downtown Theaters

STAGE

National—"Harriet," at 8:30 p. m.

Gayety—Burlesque at 12, 2:30, and 8:30 p. m.

SCREEN

Capitol—"Marriage Is a Private Affair" at 10:40 a. m., 1:30, 4:20, 7:10 and 9:55 p. m. Stage shows at 12:55, 3:45, 6:30 and 9:20 p. m.

Earle—"Frenchman's Creek" at 11:10 a. m., 1:45, 4:20, 6:55 and 9:40 p. m. Stage shows at 1:15, 3:50, 6:30 and 9:10 p. m.

Metropolitan—"Arsenic and Old Lace" at 11:15 a. m., 1:50, 4:25, 7:05 and 9:40 p. m.

RKO-Keith's—"None But the Lonely Heart," at 11:48 a. m., 2:15, 4:40, 7:10 and 9:35 p. m.

Palace—"Laura" at 11 a. m., 1:05, 3:15, 5:25, 7:35 and 9:45 p. m.

Columbia—"An American Romance" at 11:35 a. m., 2:05, 4:30, 6:55 and 9:20.

Little—"Catherine the Great," at 11 a. m., 1:05, 3:15, 5:20, 7:30 and 9:40 p. m.

Pix—"Mademoiselle Ma Mere," at 2, 4:40, 7:35 and 10:15 p. m. "Diamond Empire," at 3:15, 5:55 and 8:50 p. m.

Trans-Lux—Newsreels and shorts, at 10:15 and 11:30 a. m., 12:45, 2, 3:15, 4:30, 5:45, 7, 8:15, 9:30, and 10:45 p. m.

Ambassador — "The Conspirators," at 1, 3:10, 5:20, 7:30 and 9:50 p. m.

Advertisement

quired medical attention . . . Louella Parsons, now on leave of absence from her Hollywood chores, was supposed to go to Johns Hopkins for an operation. Miss Parsons had to make other arrangements, because her doctor got sick . . . President Osmena of the Philippines, who just returned to his homeland, sometimes visited the New York night clubs because he likes to dance. His friends suggested that perhaps this was undignified. Osmena agreed to have the decision rest with his physician, who listened to both sides and then decided: "Never mind your dignity. Dancing is good for your health."

Argentina and Turkey are the only two countries which, as yet, have not decided about participation in the forthcoming International Business Conference at Rye . . . Bea Lillie, who arrived from England on Saturday, rehearsed all day Sunday in "The Seven Lively Arts." The beloved star who has sacrificed more for this war than has any other actress in the world, told us that she can't quite accustom herself to a metropolis which not only has its lights burning but also its tall buildings intact.

Alexandria Lions Club Sponsors Benefit Dance

The Alexandria Lions Club is sponsoring a benefit dance Saturday evening at Gadsby's Tavern, 136 North Royal st., for the club's promotion of eye conservation and work for the blind.

Nicholas A. Colasanto, Lions president, is in charge of arrangements. Tickets are being distributed by all club members. Tom Breslin and Charles D. Pulman are assisting on the committee.

LEONARD LYONS

Broadway Potpourri

New York, Nov. 1.—Howard Hughes, the film producer and plane manufacturer, and Jack Frye of TWA will be the next American industrialists to visit Russia at the invitation of the Soviet Union . . . Harold Ickes, the only Cabinet member now campaigning, is the only Cabinet member to submti his undated resignation to the President, to take effect whenever the President wants to accept it . . . Attorney General Biddle, author of an Oliver Wendell Holmes biography, claims the right to participate in the profits from the pending movie of Justice Holmes' life. Tommy Corcoran will represent Biddle in the negotiations with the film producers.

HOWARD HUGHES

Sam Goldwyn, who broke the theater monopolies in the various States where the big-chain exhibitors wouldn't give him a theater in which to show his Danny Kaye picture, will continue his fight in New York. Goldwyn can't get a major New York movie house for his new Bob Hope picture, and will start his legal attack shortly . . . The President ruled, last weekend, against holding press conferences until the campaign ends. Instead, he'll issue announcements.

The Biltmore Hotel, where the Democratic National Committee staff works, has sent word that the staff members mustn't sign their tab by initialing them "D. N. C.," because it's confusing. The waiters have been instructed for years that "D. N. C." means "Do not credit," not "Democratic National Committee" . . . As proof that the curtailed overseas work by movie stars is not their fault, the USO can point this week to Frank McHugh, who has been waiting in New York for more than a month, to go abroad.

Comdr. Jack Dempsey is back from his overseas mission. A heavyweight prospect asked him: "Mr. Dempsey, how can I too become world's champion?" Dempsey gave him this simple advice: "Pal, remember to do three things. Keep your guard up, your chin down and your seat off the canvas" . . . The President will share a platform with Margaret Connors, Clare Boothe Luce's opponent, during his visit to Bridgeport . . . Contrary to all speculation, when Economic Stabilizer Vinson takes over Jimmy Byrnes' job, after the latter's resignation, no successor will be named. Both jobs will be combined, and Vinson will handle them both.

Artur Rubinstein, the pianist, who had a concert and a Toscanini broadcast, was hit in a taxi smash-up on his way to the Toscanini rehearsals, and re-

NOW ON THE BLUE NETWORK
SAME TIME - 10:30 P.M.
SAME DAY - THURSDAY
NEW STATION - WMAL
THE MARCH OF TIME
IT'S A BLUE NETWORK PROGRAM

Never says die!
• Clicquot Club Sparkling Water is the mixer that gives any drink the tingle that never goes away! A long life and a happy one with Clicquot Club.
CLICQUOT CLUB SPARKLING WATER
Clicquot Club Beverages
1345 Florida Ave. N.E.
Washington, D. C. LIncoln 0112
Try Me Bottling Co.

OLD FITZGERALD
Old Fashioned BUT STILL IN STYLE
BOTTLED IN BOND
100 PROOF KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY
STITZEL-WELLER DISTILLERY, INC., SHIVELY, KENTUCKY

Advertisement

Can Brand Advertising Take Up Where War Production Leaves Off?

TODAY, American business has two enormous customers.

First, a group of nations fighting an all-out war.

Second, a public of 130,000,000 people with more money than they ever had in their lives.

Thanks to these two huge customers, America's income for 1944 has now hit an all-time high—158 billion dollars a year.

* * * * *

Compared to the national income of 98 billion dollars in boom-year 1928, this 158 billion dollars would seem to be cause for complacency.

Not so. It should actually be cause for alarm.

For when war buying stops, and War ceases to be our leading customer, America cannot go back to its 1928 income level. Instead, America must create 55 million peacetime jobs. And economists agree that to support these 55 million jobs, we must produce at least 140 billion dollars of goods and services per year.

In short, America must find a new customer to replace War—or else face a crisis that will make the Great Depression seem tame by comparison.

—And this means that brand advertising is face-to-face with the most tremendous job it ever was called upon to tackle.

* * * * *

It is self-evident that a country which has production facilities to attain 158 billion dollars of income in wartime, can utilize that same production capacity to attain 140 billion dollars of income for Peace.

But production alone is not the answer. Production alone is not enough.

For after these goods have been produced, they must be sold before they can be turned into income. And selling is where brand advertising comes in.

Brand advertising is a public service, which enables the American public to judge quality, price and value, and gives millions of people a logical impulse to buy.

Put brand advertising to work on a product, to meet any need, and three dynamic economic forces—greater demand, greater production, and lower and yet lower prices—swing into action.

This is how jobs are created. This is how wages are paid. This is how factories and mills are kept humming. This is how stores and shops keep open.

This is how brand advertising works.

* * * * *

During the war years, the day-to-day requirements of the American public have built a tremendous, ready-made accumulation of needs.

A great postwar buying surge is in the making.

Right now, as you read these words, the American public needs 6,000,000 new cars—merely to replace those which have gone to the junkyards since 1941.

Right now, America's housewives need 3,500,000 new vacuum cleaners, 7,000,000 clocks, 23,000,000 radio sets, 5,000,000 refrigerators, 10,000,000 electric irons, 3,000,000 washing machines, and hundreds of millions of other household items that have been war-restricted for two or more years.

Right now, American girls need 450,000,000 pairs of nylon stockings, 850,000,000 items of lingerie, 176,000,000 pairs of shoes, 85,000,000 leather bags, 90,000,000 pieces of metal costume jewelry, 500,000,000 frilly peacetime dresses.

And the American public has over 100 billion dollars in savings—ready to go out and buy.

* * * * *

What with all these needs, and all this money, it looks as if the American public can replace War as a customer, right off the bat.

So perhaps it might seem that "no brand advertising is needed."

Nothing could be further from the Truth.

Even if the public bought like mad for one year, two years—what would happen after this first all-out buying spree had run its course?

What force would then swing into action—to get frightened dollars out of the cyclone cellar and put them back to work on Park Avenue and Michigan Boulevard and Main Street?

What would happen to these vital 55 million postwar jobs, and the 140 billion dollars of national income necessary to support them?

Here is where brand advertising will step into the breach.

Brand advertising is the father of sales. And it will take sales—not production alone—to do the job.

Infant industries are ready to go. Plastics. Plywood. Television. Electronics. Private aviation. Frozen foods. Low-cost housing. All they need is greater demand—greater production—lower and yet lower prices—to send them into high-gear.

That is the job of brand advertising.

* * * * *

You have only to look at what happened after World War I—when a postwar depression was actually underway—to see how whole new industries sprang up to supply jobs, build income, and get business back on the beam.

In 1920 the automobile, by and large, was still a luxury. Brand advertising brought it within anybody's reach, sold 50 billion dollars' worth of lower-priced cars, and in doing so created the need for 440,000 gas and service stations, 95,000 repair shops and garages, and made jobs for over 10,000,000 men.

In 1920 the electric refrigerator was still in embryo. Brand advertising went to work and put 4 billion dollars' worth of them into America's kitchens.

In 1920 the radio was still a squealing, squawking infant. Brand advertising sold 6 billion dollars' worth of radio sets, dotted the landscape with radio stations, and flooded America's 35 million homes with entertainment, education and news.

In 1920 toothpaste, safety razors, sanitary napkins, soap flakes, baking mixes, kitchen cleansers, floor waxes and hundreds of other products were comparative newcomers. Brand advertising enabled them to create employment for millions of people, pay billions in annual wages.

* * * * *

This great economic force, brand advertising, is the reason why America's standard of living, even under the stress of war, remains the highest in the world today—and will climb higher and yet higher in the postwar years to come.

With scores—yes, hundreds—of new giant industries ready as soon as the Armistice is signed—brand advertising can and will sell America into solid postwar prosperity. Can and will take up where war production left off.

Thus, in postwar America, will come those 55 million jobs, and the 140 billions of income necessary to support them.

American postwar prosperity can be just as simple as that.

FAWCETT PUBLICATIONS INC., 1501 BROADWAY, N. Y. 18, N. Y.

NOTE: This advertisement is appearing in 1000-line space in large-city newspapers and in leading industrial and business magazines. It is the fourth of a series, pointing out how greatly everyone benefits by brand advertising. Proofs available on request.

Girl Acquitted in Slaying

After deliberating for 10 minutes, a Prince Georges County Circuit Court jury yesterday found Margaret Foran, 17, Hyattsville, not guilty of charges of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of William Earl Sweeney, last Christmas Eve, at the farm of Guy Hamilton, Piscataway, Md.

The trial was concluded yesterday noon at Upper Marlboro, Md., before Judge John B. Gray, jr. In her testimony Tuesday the defendant said Sweeney threatened to kill her while arguing with Hamilton. When Sweeney approached her with an object which appeared to be an electric cable, she told the jury that she then took a rifle in the hallway of the Hamilton home, where she was living, and warned him not to come any closer. It was after Sweeney threw the cable at her that she shot him in the abdomen, she said.

Leroy C. Dillon, 35, Riverdale, was sentenced by Judge Gray to serve two years in the Maryland House of Correction after he was found guilty of embezzling $100 from Hoffman's Home Appliance Shop, Hyattsville, former employers of Dillon.

Found guilty of bigamy, Robert O. Welch, Mount Rainier, was sentenced to serve 18 months in the House of Correction.

Soldier Wires Flowers, News of Death Follows

Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 1 (AP).—Mrs. William A. Weigher received a bouquet of red roses yesterday, her eleventh wedding anniversary, and, ten minutes later received a telegram.

The roses were from her husband, an Army private, 33, who made arrangements for their delivery before he went overseas.

The telegram was from the War Department. It said Weigher had been killed in action in France.

Somerville Named Chairman Of National Law Group

Arlington-Fairfax Bureau, The Post, 1630 N. Buchanan St. Tel. CH. 3339.

James W. Somerville, Fairfax resident and a member of the legal staff of the Social Security Board, has been named chairman of a committee on bar admission requirements of the American Bar Association, it was learned yesterday.

Somerville, who is now assigned to the staff of the Senate Judiciary Committee, was named to head a committee purpose of which will be to "advance admission standards" throughout the Nation for membership in the bar association. The committee was named by Albert J. Harno, dean of the University of Illinois Law School.

Somerville, who was a member of the secrtiarial staff of Senator Carter Glass and Representative Clifton A. Woodrum before assuming his present duties, has been active in civic affairs in both Arlington and Fairfax Counties. He attended the College of William and Mary and is a graduate of the George Washington University Law School.

Red Cross Drive

Mrs. Joseph Beard, chairman of Junior Red Cross for the Fairfax County Chapter, announced yesterday that she has distributed enrollment materials to all the schools in the county this week which opens the drive for membership. One hundred per cent membership is the goal set for November 1 to 15 for the Fairfax County schools.

Two hundred and fifty carnival caps and tray favors were made by the school children for Halloween parties at the Fort Belvoir station hospital, and 30 bushels of apples were collected to be distributed by the Red Cross Motor Corps to Bolling Field, St. Elizabeths and Fort Belvoir hospitals.

Fairfax Electors

Judges and clerks to serve at Fairfax County's 25 voting precincts have been appointed by the Fairfax County Electoral Board and were announced yesterday by Benjamin B. Iden, board chairman.

Judges, clerks and polling places for the county's precincts will be as follows:

Centerville District: Centerville Precinct—J. E. Harrison, R. H. Hawes and Chaney Hutchison, judges; Stuart DeBell and C. L. Mohler, clerks; Mrs. G. R. Turberville's residence, poll. Clifton Precinct—A. J. Kidwell, J. B. Cross and Anthony B. Hart, judges; Alice Woodyard and Fannie Hart, clerks; Masonic Hall, poll. Pender Precinct—Clarence Manuel, A. A. Birch and Lydia B. Palmer, judges; Mary Birch and W. A. Thompson, jr., clerks; R. F. Gooding's residence, poll. Sweetsam Precinct—C. H. Kruse, Dorothy B. Collier and Henry B. Jones, judges; E. L. Mahoney and C. P. Jones, clerks; Clarence Krusee' residence, poll. Wells Precinct—Stuart A. Gheen, C. A. Hylton and Daisy B. Wells, judges; Lois Mohler and T. C. Weatherholtz, clerks; Mrs. Daisy B. Wells' residence, poll.

Dranesville District: Dranesville Precinct—Marion S. Money, Christie Hammond and Daisy M. Rooney, judges; Mary P. Conner and Mrs. Carl D. Niswander, clerks; Dranesville Tavern, poll. Forestville Precinct, R. L. Lanham, D. C. Cornwell and Paul E. Rhinehart, jr., judges; W. C. Walker and Samuel P. Millard, clerks; Great Falls Grange Hall, poll. Herndon Precinct, D. W. Bickaler, E. E. Gillette and M. A. Yount, judges; Russell A. Lynn and Katherine M. Kirk, clerks; Herndon Fire House, poll. Pleasant Valley Precinct—R. E. Wagstaff, Holcomb Rogers and Marvin Perkins, judges; R. E. Rector and Frank Peck, clerks; Rector's store, poll. Thompson Precinct—Pete Dove, Jether Dove and B. W. Middleton, judges; R. Townsend Harrison and H. M. Middleton, clerks; Pete Dove's store, poll. Thornton's Precinct—Mark L. Money, J. Leo Crowell and A. Vernon Thompson, judges; William A. Wine and J. A. Wheeler, clerks; Wheeler's Mill, poll.

Falls Church District: Annandale Precinct—R. T. Crest, A. J. Dean and Della E. Frye, judges; Barbara A. Bladen and Mabel Crandall, clerks; Annandale Firehouse, poll. Falls Church Precinct—Samuel R. Styles, John W. Kerns and W. T. Westcott, judges; Marie Groves and Mrs. O. B. Livingston, clerks; Town Hall (next to State Theater), poll. West End Precinct—Charles N. Cockrell, M. G. Sanborn, sr., and J. B. Harlowe, judges; Robert Murphy and J. B. Dowden, clerks; J. N. Cockrell's store, poll.

Lee District: Burke Precinct: J. Golden Blincoe, Neta R. White and G. W. Hopkins, judges; Mary A. Marshall and J. William Harlow, clerks; J. E. Staub's residence, poll. Lorton Precinct—Frank C. Davis, Louise H. Davis and Milton F. Violett, judges; James W. Reid and Kenneth J. Baker, clerks; Old Lorton School building, poll. Woodyards Precinct—Milton Gardner, Lemuel J. Davis and A. F. Hunsberger, judges; Estelle G. Demery and A. A. Hampton, clerks; Old Store Building, poll. Mount Vernon District: Accotink Precinct—A. S. Lynn, Thomas E. Denby and George Gillingham, judges; John T. Halsilip and C. E. France, clerks; A. S. Lyna's store, poll: Franconia Precinct, W. K. Broders, Claude H. Ward and Jeffrey R. Stewart, judges; Pauline Ward and Frances S. Stewart, clerks. Franconia Firehouse, poll: Gum Springs Precinct, L. J. Zimmerman, Mary Scheller and Joe W. Cox, judges; E. L. Popkins and C. K. Wilkerson, clerks. Reed's store, poll: Pulman's Precinct, Arthur A. Shaffer, W. F. P. Reid and Esther Devers, judges; Vivian M. Blunt and Bertha M. Roberts, clerks. Happy Valley Community Hall on Telegraph Road, poll.

Providence District: Fairfax Precinct—Annie Broadwater, S. W. Sisson, sr., and Roy Hollis, judges; Mabel Nickell and Mrs. James W. Case, clerks; Fairfax Courthouse, poll. Langley Precinct—Elizabeth C. Wells, O. V. Carper and J. W. Preston, judges; Pauline R. Arnold and R. L. Palmer, clerks; McLean Fire House, poll. The Lick Precinct—Omer L. Nigh, J. R. Llewellyn and D. M. Mills, judges; J. Preston Rogers and M. Blanche Scheid, clerks; J. R. Llewellyn's store, poll. Vienna Precinct, C. E. Roller, G. Warren Beard and Elmer E. Cockrill, judges; M. Vernon Leigh and Henry Hawhurst, clerks; Vienna Town Hall, poll.

Soldier's Widow, 23, Jailed as Prostitute

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—A 23-year-old soldier's widow, who said she had $10,900 in the bank as the result of her husband's death overseas, was sentenced to four months in Woman's Prison today after she was convicted of prostitution.

The girl, mother of a small child, accepted money and put it in her pocket after an early morning conversation with a soldier outside a Baltimore restaurant, a military policeman testified.

The girl denied the charge and said the money had been "forced" on her. She added that she was originally from Tennessee and that her present wealth was due to her soldier-husband's insurance.

Virginia Wac Officer Honored

By the Associated Press

Maj. Frances S. Cornick of Norfolk, Va., deputy Wac staff director in Europe, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal, the War Department announced today.

The award was presented in Paris by Brig. Gen. Allen R. Kimball for "meritorious service in connection with military operations."

Her citation said that a member of an advance party of headquarters officers she surveyed housing requirements for commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Wac and "displayed personal characteristics of clear vision and determined drive which assisted in her achievement of her objective and the successful conclusion of this task."

A graduate of William and Mary College, Major Cornick enlisted in the Women's Army Corps in 1942. She went to England in July, 1943, with the first Wac battalion and had been on the continent for three months.

Shipyard Worker Held as Suspect Waac Slaying

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—The detention of a fellow tenant at the rooming house where Evelyn Acker, 26-year-old warworker lived prior to her fatal stabbing on a street corner, was reported today by police, who said he was a suspect.

The man has been missing from his room since the death of Miss Acker, a former Waac, who was fatally wounded shortly after 5 a.m. last October 20, Police Capt. John R. Rollman said.

He has been unable to offer any satisfactory explanation for his absence from the rooming house, Rollman continued, adding that the suspect would be turned over to detectives for further questioning.

The suspect, 44, an employe of the Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard where Miss Acker worked as an electrician's helper, apparently has been living in a garage since leaving his room October 20, Rollman said.

The all-occasion Cocktail—Ready Mixed—Simply stir with ice and serve—Available at all good package stores and bars.

Made and Bottled by LEROUX & CO., INC.
Philadelphia New York City
Makers of LEROUX LIQUEURS—The World's Finest
60 PROOF

FREE!
PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION SCORE CARD
Send to Dept. 858 WTOP, Earle Bldg. Washington 4, D. C. follow ELECTION RETURNS from 6 p.m. on!

$100 Monthly if Sick or Injured!
Up to $6000 For Accidental Loss of Life, Limb or Sight!

OMAHA, NEB.—In order to bring all around insurance protection within the budget of added millions, old reliable Service Life Insurance Company has just announced an amazing new combination Sickness-Accident and Hospitalization policy that costs only $1 a month, yet pays cash benefits that are big enough to be worthwhile.

This new Service "Gold Seal" policy provides a monthly income up to $100 a month for either sickness or accident disability plus hospital benefits to over $650 for a single confinement. Policy also provides up to $6000 accumulated cash for accidental loss of life, limbs or sight.

NO, this is not the usual "limited" policy. This policy pays as specified, for ANY and ALL accidents, ALL the common sicknesses, even for minor injuries; and disability benefits are paid from first day of disability. No waiting period.

Policy issued BY MAIL at big savings to men or women, ages 15 to 69. NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION required. Interested persons may obtain this policy for 10 DAYS' FREE EXAMINATION without cost or obligation by sending their name, age, address and name of beneficiary to the Service Life Insurance Company, Dept. 16 Omaha 2, Nebraska. ADV.

BOSTON and NEW ENGLAND

Swift air service is provided daily to New York, Hartford, Providence, Boston. Also to Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Chicago. And to Nashville, Memphis, Dallas, Ft. Worth, Mexico City, El Paso, Tucson, Phoenix, San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Please make reservations well in advance.

TWO TICKET OFFICES:
813 15th St. N. W. and Statler Hotel, K St. Entrance at 16th
Phone EXECUTIVE 2345

AMERICAN AIRLINES Inc.
ROUTE OF THE FLAGSHIPS
GIVE NOW TO THE NATIONAL WAR FUND

How to give a drink Ear-Appeal!

HIGHBALLS mixed with Canada Dry Water sparkle out loud. "PIN-POINT CARBONATION" insures a liveliness that lasts . . . keeps drinks full of zest.

Canada Dry Water—the world's most popular club soda—is preferred in the finest bars, hotels and clubs. Its special formula points up the flavor of any tall drink. Serve Canada Dry Water in your home . . . it costs no more than ordinary mixers.

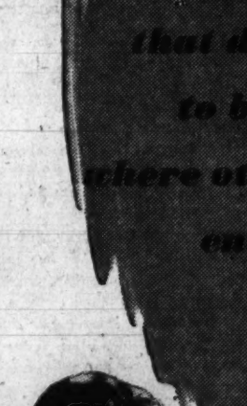
BIG BOTTLE 15¢ Plus deposit

CANADA DRY WORLD FAMOUS WATER
The Life of the Drink

Starring
Lana TURNER
with
JAMES CRAIG · JOHN HODIAK
FRANCES GIFFORD · HUGH MARLOWE
NATALIE SCHAFER · KEENAN WYNN
HERBERT RUDLEY
A ROBERT Z. LEONARD Production
Screen Play by David Hertz and Lenore Coffee • Based on the Novel by Judith Kelly • Directed by ROBERT Z. LEONARD
Produced by PANDRO S. BERMAN • An M-G-M Picture

MARRIAGE IS A PRIVATE AFFAIR

M-G-M's HEART-TO-HEART ROMANCE



DICK BUCKLEY
"Accent On Comedy"
PATSY GARRETT
"Radio's Newest Sing Comedienne"
The APPLETONS
"Dance Apache"
Extra Added ART BROWN
WOL'S "Rise and Shine Man"

ON STAGE IN PERSON
"Little Show No. III"
with
Lynn ALLISON
Sam Jack KAUFMAN
Milt SLOSSER

F at 14th
Loew's CAPITOL Now
Doors open 10:45

...unattainable...she became desirable beyond all desire!
Men were ready to die for her smile... to kill for her kiss!
GENE TIERNEY · DANA ANDREWS · CLIFTON WEBB
Laura
Never a woman so irresistible — or a picture so haunting!
Another Hit from 20th CENTURY-FOX The Company that made "WILSON"

VINCENT PRICE · JUDITH ANDERSON · PRODUCED AND DIRECTED BY OTTO PREMINGER SCREEN PLAY BY JAY DRATLER, SAMUEL HOFFENSTEIN AND BETTY REINHARDT

LOEW'S F at 13th
DOORS OPEN 10:45
LAST FEATURE 9:45
PALACE
STARTS TODAY

The Washington Post

Registered in U. S. Patent Office.

An Independent Newspaper
(Published every day in the year.)

Eugene Meyer, Editor and Publisher

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and local news of spontaneous origin published herein. Rights of republication of all other matter herein are also reserved.

New York Office.....270 Madison Avenue
Chicago Office.....360 North Michigan Avenue

CARRIER DELIVERY
District of Columbia and Suburbs.

Daily and Sunday	Sunday Only	Daily Only
One week ...$ .23	One week ...$ .10	One week ...$ .15
One month.. 1.10	One month.. .45	One month.. .65

Elsewhere

Daily and Sunday	Sunday Only	Daily Only
One week ...$ .30	One week ...$ .10	One week ...$ .20
One month.. 1.30	One month.. .45	One month.. .85

BY MAIL—PAYABLE IN ADVANCE
Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina

Daily and Sunday	Sunday Only	Daily Only
One year...$12.00	One year....$5.25	One year...$7.60
Six months.. 6.50	Six months.. 2.75	Six months.. 4.00
One month.. 1.30	One month.. .50	One month.. .85

Other States, Mexico and Canada

Daily and Sunday	Sunday Only	Daily Only
One year..$12.75	One year....$6.00	One year....$7.50
Six months.. 7.00	Six months.. 3.00	Six months.. 4.25
One month.. 1.30	One month.. .55	One month.. .85

Rates to Foreign Countries not listed will be furnished upon request.

Entered at the Postoffice, Washington, D. C., as second-class mail matter.

TELEPHONE NATIONAL 4200.

Thursday, November 2, 1944

Sweden Protests

As a result of the capture of Kirkenes by the Red army, one small corner of Norway has now been liberated from the Nazi yoke. But the campaign in northern Norway is only in its initial stage and, despite unfavorable weather conditions which make fighting extremely difficult, the possibility of further Allied action in that region is not to be discounted. Already there is a report, as yet unconfirmed, of a landing by Allied forces in the vicinity of the Lofoten Islands. If true, this would suggest an early move against Narvik and the attempted encirclement of the German garrisons in Norway's Arctic zone.

Such a development, should it occur, would bring the war very close to Sweden. With that possibility in mind, the Swedish government has been engaged in reexamining its position. During recent months it has taken an increasingly firm attitude toward the Third Reich. Shipments of ball bearings to Germany have been cut off entirely. Before that all the Swedish ports on the Gulf of Bothnia were closed to German shipping. Now Swedish public opinion is insisting that the government make strong protestations to Berlin against the Nazi reign of terror in Norway. Taking cognizance of this point of view, Premier Per Albin Hansson and Foreign Minister Christian E. Guenther have informed the Riksdag that Germany has been warned that "what happens in the countries of our Nordic neighbors" very definitely concerns Sweden.

It remains to be seen what effect such warnings will have on the Reich. The Nazis have shown that they are not influenced by any humanitarian considerations and are prepared to vent their wrath on all those who seek to slip off their yoke. But it is too late for them to take on Sweden. In fact, Sweden, should she decide to back up her protests by action, is today in a position to do more harm to the Reich than the Reich is in a position to harm her. Indeed, we cannot see what harm would come to the Swedes, and we can see a lot of good.

Dilemma Over China

In an impassioned article published in the New York Times, Mr. Brooks Atkinson, for many months that newspaper's China correspondent, explains the removal of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell from his command in China, Burma and India as an act of appeasement to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and of acquiescence by the United States "in a system that is undemocratic in spirit as well as in fact and is also unrepresentative of the Chinese people, who are good allies." Inside China, Mr. Atkinson adds, the removal of General Stilwell represents the "political triumph of a moribund antidemocratic regime that is more concerned with maintaining its political supremacy than in driving the Japanese out of China."

These are extremely serious charges, all the more so since they are made by a responsible journalist who has had an excellent opportunity to see the situation in China at first hand. Not the least disturbing thing about them is that very few of the facts advanced by Mr. Atkinson have hitherto been allowed to get out. That has been due to the censorship both in Chungking and in Washington. The result is that Mr. Atkinson's conclusions have had the impact of a blockbuster, as was shown by the host of questions which the newspapermen addressed to the President at his Tuesday conference. The view about China had been so idealistic and rosy-hued that disillusion seems to have been the reaction to the revelations.

In the general disillusion there is now a very real danger that American public opinion will swing from uncritical adulation to unrestrained criticism as unrealistic in its way as was the attitude that preceded it. For in dealing with China at this time, the choice before us is not a choice between ideals, but a choice between evils. For instance, Mr. Atkinson says of Chiang that he is a man "whose basic ideas for political leadership are those of a warlord" who "conceives of armies as political forces." That, it seems to us, is not wholly correct, but there is some truth in it. Nonetheless there appears to be at the moment no alternative to Chiang, at least so far as the United States is concerned. And, if Chiang goes, there is a real possibility that China will again dissolve into chaos, with certain anti-Western elements whom Chiang has managed to keep somewhat in check quite prepared to come to terms with the Japanese. This Chiang has steadily refused to do, as Mr. Atkinson himself admits. For that reason it is essential to bolster up Chiang's position, which has been undermined by China's military and economic crisis. How to do it without at the same time saddling further on China a regime not only unrepresentative but, from a military point of view, unable and unwilling to give battle to the Japanese, is the issue. But now that General Stilwell has been sacrificed, Chiang is put on the spot to effectuate the reforms upon which we have hitherto insisted.

In one important particular the problem resolves itself, as so many of China's current problems resolve themselves, into the problem of increasing the flow of supplies into China. Despite the tremendous efforts made by the Allies in Burma, and the heroic accomplishments of the Air Transport Command, we are not much nearer solution of this problem than we were a year ago. The only real salvation lies in the prospect that, because of events in the Philippines, we may soon be able to open a port or ports on the China coast, and thus really end the blockade which has been strangling China. Until then we shall continue to be faced, so far as our relations with China are concerned, with a choice of evils.

Security For All

Governor Dewey's demand for a "social security system available to every American and not to a selected part of our people" sets an objective that makes an appeal to all voters. However, it was unfair to imply, as Mr. Dewey did in his Tuesday address, that the Administration had "for nine long years" wilfully excluded millions of Americans from participation in the Federal old age insurance system. In our opinion those nine years have witnessed an amazingly rapid development of both compulsory old age and unemployment insurance, considering the immensity of the administrative task involved and our lack of experience in dealing with systems of compulsory insurance.

During these formative years the Social Security Board and the numerous State organizations set up to administer unemployment insurance have had their hands more than full. Indeed, no country in the world ever initiated a Nation-wide insurance program on such an ambitious scale as the United States. In Great Britain and Germany, the two outstanding pioneers in this field, many years elapsed before domestic servants and farm labor were brought into the unemployment insurance system. The exclusion of these classes of workers from the benefits of our Federal old age insurance system was due to the administrative difficulty of covering them in. Similar reasons account for the general practice of excluding such workers from participation in State unemployment insurance systems.

It has always been the intention ultimately to provide old age and unemployment insurance for all wage earners. But it would have been most unwise to risk an administrative breakdown by attempting too much at the start. As a matter of fact, in recent years the Social Security Board, with the backing of the President, has at times erred on the side of precipitancy, we think, in urging liberalization of old age and unemployment insurance benefits. The public has doubtless forgotten that many States had trouble in the thirties in administering unemployment insurance. At one time Governor Dewey's own State of New York was confronted by a breakdown of administrative machinery. There was also widespread criticism of the social insurance system as a whole, because it entailed collection of payroll levies that allegedly had a deflationary effect and contributed to aggravating industrial depression.

It should be kept in mind that unemployment insurance systems are State administered. Political opposition to any change in this respect is very strong, despite the defects of the existing set-up. For instance, Congress recently rejected proposals to extend the benefits of unemployment insurance to Federal workers and has made no effort to induce backward States to raise their existing low benefits and expand their insurance coverage. We shall never have the kind of comprehensive and reasonably liberal form of unemployment insurance system envisaged by Governor Dewey unless the existing multiple and diverse systems are unified and made a responsibility of the Federal Government, as the Social Security Board has recommended. Critics who declare that this essential reform would entail an invasion of States' rights are the greatest obstacle to progress.

Campaign Boner

Senator Truman pulled off the classic boner of the campaign when he declared in New England that the Democrats had "a chance to reform" Senator Walsh. Senator Walsh has an isolationist record as pronounced as that of any Republican diehard. But he happens to be a great vote-getter in the Bay State, which is still in the uncertain column in the Presidential contest. After a long silence he had come out for the national and State Democratic tickets, but Senator Truman's subsequent statement brought from him a hot retort, which would confirm the readers of it in feeling that Senator Walsh is probably past "reform."

The President, in point of fact, has been unfortunate in having at the head of the Senate Committees of Military and Naval Affairs two men out of sympathy with his foreign policies, Senator Walsh and Senator Reynolds. In the House he has been more favored. Representative Andrew J. May and Carl Vinson occupy the opposite posts in the House, and both are loyal supporters of the President, both have done yeoman service in their committee chairmanships. They require none of the "reform" which Senator Walsh rejected when the inept suggestion that he was ripe for it came from the Vice Presidential candidate of his party.

Resisting Monopoly

The Surplus Property Act provides that the Attorney General shall be consulted before any plant costing the Government one million dollars or more is disposed of. If that official decides that the proposed sale would violate the antitrust laws, the deal would be "off." That provision of the law explains why the sale of three Government-owned aluminum plants to Alcoa has been forbidden, the Department of Justice having withheld its approval on the ground that Alcoa is a monopoly. No doubt many similar denials will be encountered in connection with other Government-owned properties operated by large concerns.

There will be grumbling inside and outside Government circles over the consequent delays in disposing of surplus property and demands for a relaxation of legal restrictions imposed upon the selling agencies. However, the antitrust laws are on the statute books, and the Department of Justice is committed to enforcement of those laws. It would be the height of folly and of inconsistency, therefore, to permit any corporation to strengthen its monopolistic powers by acquiring surplus Government property. Furthermore, it would be extremely bad policy to foster the growth of monopoly by such means, even if the law interposed no obstacles.

The temptation will be great for disposal agencies to make quick sales of property and thus provide additional revenue for the Treasury. But it is of primary importance to make sure that before sales are made, the method of disposal follows sound principles. The indirect and unrecognized costs of heedless disposition of billions of surplus Government property would cost us much more in the long run than we should lose by refusing to sell to the first bidder who has the money and the wish to buy.

Personalities Plus

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, occupies a somewhat enviable position in the present preelection contest. Mr. Thomas' chances of being elected are about one in 25 million and his chances of getting so much as a single electoral vote are about one in 25,000. Mr. Thomas understands this very well, but he also understands that it gives him the privilege of being quite outspoken about the way his two major opponents are conducting their campaigns. Mr. Thomas, who has been a candidate for President oftener than Henry Clay, or James G. Blaine or William Jennings Bryan, says he has never known any campaign that was conducted on quite so low an intellectual level as this one is. It has boiled down, he says, to be a mere matter of personalities.

Now comes Governor Bricker with another batch of material to support Mr. Thomas' contention. In his latest speech he recited the names of seven Federal employes who, he said, "were members of subversive organizations." One of them, Arthur Goldschmidt, director of the Power Division in the Interior Department, long ago was similarly charged by the Dies Committee. But when the Kerr Committee investigated the Dies charge, it came to this conclusion about him: "There is no evidence tending to show any subversive activity on the part of this employe at any time during his entire life, but on the contrary, evidence shows that this employe is a patriotic, loyal, hard-working American . . ." Another is Dr. Lauchlin Currie, executive director of FEA, a scholarly and industrious administrator, whose record is so crystal clear that even Mr. Dies has left him alone. As for the other five, they have all previously received the accolade of notice from the Dies Committee, have been thoroughly exonerated in the minds of all reasonable men, and should be allowed to rest on their laurels.

It is on the basis of such tactics that Mr. Thomas appears to be suggesting that people will vote this year whether they like Mr. Roosevelt's looks more than Mr. Dewey's, or whether they agree with the Democratic estimate of Mr. Dewey's personality or the Republican estimate of Mr. Roosevelt's, or possibly whether they prefer Mrs. Luce's taste in hats to Mrs. Douglas'. Perhaps this is exaggerating a bit, but one must admit, rather sadly, that, on the history of the campaign to date, there is a very large core of the truth in it.

INDIAN SUMMER

There is, for almanac, small need. I know
Today, all day, brought Indian summer in.
Else why was sky so blue, sun warm and gold?
Why did the mist make far hills seem so thin?

No need for other almanac than my
Heart's calling other Indian summers back,
When, having climbed to find a hill-top elm,
We sat and watched the slow, bright river track
Silver the valley spread beneath our feet.
Heavy and somnolent around us, air
Stirred, and ripe wild-grapes and dry, brown, sweet
Fern did away with words' ineptness there.

But there is need for different almanac.
Today's dull, lonely need for finding out
When we shall climb again, lie stretched in sun,
Put every winter threat and fear to rout.

EARL DANIELS

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Campaign Windup

THIS IS THE feverish, last-minute rush when the headquarters of both major parties have the look of a department store bargain basement in the middle of a one-cent sale.

A kind of frenzy overtakes even such normally calm, calculating people as man the Dewey headquarters. Telephone lines are jammed with appeals from all over the country. The final personal appearance will turn the trick, so runs the argument.

Governor Dewey, on the advice of his campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, jr., has selected two last-minute spots. He will make a final effort in both Maryland and Pennsylvania to swing those uncertain States into the Republican column. And it's especially significant that in Pennsylvania he's going into the coal mining towns of Wilkes-Barre and Scranton where, supposedly, John L. Lewis, bitter foe of President Roosevelt, has prepared the way for Dewey.

Dewey needs both New York and Pennsylvania to win, in view of the fact that Roosevelt will garner from the Far West and the Deep South approximately 170 electoral votes, which is a long running start to the 266 necessary to win. The Republican candidate must also take most of the border States, of which Maryland is one, in order to overcome FDR's headstart.

FOR WHATEVER it means, the Republicans exude far less confidence at their headquarters than the Democrats. They still talk of the trend which is working with sufficient force to change over enough wavering States to swing the balance. They say that if you flipped a coin today it would stand on edge, so close is the outcome likely to be.

While this may be largely professional caution, there is a certain sagging of the spirit at Republican headquarters. They're inclined to speak bitterly of the fourth-term candidate. They say that he's had an expert makeup artist come on from Hollywood to work on him before he goes before the cameras; that Hollywood has also supplied lighting experts who soften the glare and arrange the baby spots when the presidential physiognomy is exposed to the cameras.

By contrast, the Democrats radiate an easy confidence. They believe they could shut up shop for the rest of the campaign and still win. Of course, they won't shut up shop. They're working around the clock to perfect the last-minute punches, in which the professionals place so much reliance.

While this may be over-confidence, the President has vetoed Cleveland, where he had considered making a last-minute appearance, and has definitely said no on Detroit. He will not make a personal appearance at Madison Square Garden at Thursday night's rally, but instead will speak from the White House by radio.

In one respect the claims of both headquarters are alike. You're told at the Roosevelt Hotel, where the Dewey people have two floors, that New York State is safely in the GOP column. At the Biltmore, a block away, the Democrats say they can't lose the big bag of 47 electoral votes that go with the most populous State in the Union.

THE REPUBLICANS are putting their hope in a majority of at least 750,000 from up-State, which they believe will swamp anything the Democratic organization can deliver. Democratic leaders long familiar with the State are inclined to agree that such a majority would do it, but the catch is, they insist, that Dewey will not come down to the city with anything like that big a lead. The industrial areas centered in Buffalo and Rochester will go so heavily Democratic that Dewey's majority is not likely to be greater than Willkie's half-million of four years ago.

Not a little may depend on the disaffection of Irish and Italian Catholics in Brooklyn and Manhattan. Some churchmen in the city have openly urged the election of Dewey.

The Republican candidate winds up here Saturday night with a traditional Garden rally. That will, to all intents and purposes, be the end of what has become a bitterly contested campaign.

Chiang As Leader

By Barnet Nover

China: The Central Problem

THE RECALL of General Stilwell from his command in China, Burma and India has broken the dam of censorship which for a long time has held back from the American people a host of disturbing facts regarding the situation in China.

Together with valuable light that is now being thrown on that situation there is also much unnecessary heat. Therein lies a grave danger to Chinese-American understanding.

The fact is that the sweeping and bitter judgments that are now being passed regarding China's fighting spirit (or lack of it), Chinese leadership, Chinese politics and related matters, while true in many particulars, often lack perspective.

The result is that the highly critical picture of China we are now getting tends to be distorted in its way as was the highly sentimental view of China long fostered by her uncritical devotees.

FOR A PROPER understanding of the Chinese problem three facts must be kept in mind:

First, the war which broke out in China in 1937, interrupted a social and political revolution that had been under way for at least a decade and a half and a counter-revolution which had brought Chiang Kai-shek into power in 1927 and kept him there. Since 1937 both revolutionary and counterrevolutionary elements in China have sought to strengthen their respective positions even while nominally cooperating in the war against Japan.

Second, seven years of war have taken their toll, particularly since the period since China was completely cut off from the western world by the rigorous Japanese blockade.

Third, the runaway inflation which resulted in large measure from the blockade and from the loss by China of its most productive areas, has had a particularly deleterious effect on the most politically conscious and enlightened element in China — teachers, professional men, government employes and others on fixed incomes. This has tended to increase the power of the feudal elements within the Chungking regime.

IT IS NOW FASHIONABLE to describe Chiang Kai-shek as a dictator.

On paper he is precisely that. He is generalissimo of the Chinese armies. He is president of the republic. He is the head of the Executive Yuan and the Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang, the only authorized political party in the land. He is also the president of the Supreme Committee of National Defense.

Actually he derives the power he has not from those offices, but from the circumstance that he is the focal point in a coalition which, at the beginning of the war with Japan, was fairly inclusive but which, during recent years, has tended more and more to be dominated by feudal and reactionary elements.

TO REMAIN in power he has had to give way more and more to the elements upon which his rule is based.

This has made it difficult for him to come to terms with the Chinese Communists. It was also at the basis of much of the friction that arose between him and General Stilwell. For Stilwell took the position that the question where supplies flown in over "The Hump" should go should be determined entirely by military needs.

With this view Chiang theoretically agreed. In practice Chiang, taking counsel of Chinese realities and particularly his dependence on old-line warlords, has tended to regard military needs in terms of political necessities.

In other words, the sole test applied by Stilwell was whether the distribution of supplies in a certain way would help beat the Japanese.

Chiang's determination to continue the war against the common enemy has been no less real. Even his bitterest critics have had to admit that. But the Generalissimo has felt that the war against Japan could not be prosecuted if China split up into factions. He has thus acted on the assumption that distribution of supplies among the warlords supporting him was an essential aspect of the Chinese war effort although the Chinese warlords tend to regard weapons and supplies, not as military instruments but as means of acquiring and retaining political power.

The question whether Stilwell was right or Chiang is right thus resolves itself in a question whether the war against the Japanese forces in China can be fought without reference to Chinese political factors and particularly without reference to whether the maintenance in power of Chiang Kai-shek is necessary both to China and to us.

It is not an easy question to answer. It will not be an easy question to answer as long as China remains cut off from her western allies, except for the trickle of supplies moving in across the Himalayas from India.

Letters To The Editor

Communications must carry writer's name and address, though pen names are permitted at the editor's discretion. Letters should be held to not more than 200 words. They are subject to condensation.

"World Citizenship"

It was refreshing and stimulating to listen to one speech of those broadcast on the final day of the Herald Tribune Forum which was not entirely devoted to current politics and which gave some evidence of thought. In her talk that evening Mrs. Claire Booth Luce presented an excellent summary of some of the better known peace plans of the past including the lesson contained in the Sermon on the Mount.

However, it is to be regretted that she did not delve further into the recesses of history in search of a solution for the ills of the world. The theories of Zeno, the Greek philosopher and founder of the Stoic school (336-264 B. C.) are still, even at this late date, at least a thousand years in the future.

This great philosopher said in his "Republic" that all the inhabitants of this world of ours should not live differentiated by their respective rules of justice into separate cities and communities, but that we should consider all men to be of one community and one polity, and that we should have a common life and an order common to us all. Plutarch, Cicero, Marcus Aurelius, St. Augustine, St. Isidore Dante, Francisco de Vitoria, Francisco Suarez, and many other great thinkers of more recent date have adopted and elaborated this concept of world citizenship as the true foundation of a lasting peace.

Would it not be a worthwhile function of the educational division of the proposed international security organization to spread far and wide these fundamental principles?

WALTER H. ZEYDEL
Washington, Oct. 24.

Japanese Broadcast

I would like to comment on Ernest Lindley's column of October 23 with regard to the Japanese broadcast. The implications contained therein were very serious.

The Japanese are a very clever and a very cunning enemy. Nothing they utter has any foundation of truth. Apparently, they are using their propaganda methods to influence the American people, but that a person of Mr. Lindley's stature as a columnist has been taken in by it is shocking.

As an average American, if the Japanese denounced the election of President Roosevelt with the hope of persuading American people that they would prefer Mr. Dewey, I would say they were very anxious to have Mr. Roosevelt reelected. They would know this would be a sure way of gaining their aims.

They are most unkind to denounce Mr. Roosevelt. American foreign policy played into their hands right up to Pearl Harbor and for many months thereafter, and until this day, almost three years later, the American people do not know the facts. The Japanese would have no reason for denouncing President Roosevelt. They would have every reason to hope for a continuation of the policies which tolerated their aggression and furnished them with materials necessary to prosecute their war against us.

And the Roosevelt topsy-turvy domestic policy must be a great source of joy to them.

ALIE THOMAS DEISROTH.
Washington, Oct. 23.

Rent Control

The recent discussions about rent control have reminded me of Austria, where I, married to an American, practiced law for several years. In 1915 the then imperial Austrian government issued an emergency decree that protected tenants against rent increases and evictions. As the war went on and the building industry came to a virtual standstill, more teeth were put into the decree, which was revamped in 1917. In 1918, after the revolution, the landlords hoped to get rid of the rent control, but in vain. The whole body of regulations were reissued by statute in 1922, establishing ceilings based upon the 1914 rent—in spite of the fact that due to the inflation the Austrian money was worth only a microscopic fraction of what it used to be worth in 1914!

No political party ever dared to remove this protective law. Thus it was in force up to and beyond the time of Austria's annexation by Germany in 1938.

HEDY PARKER.
Washington, Oct. 28.

Two-Thirds Rule

The Washington Post deserves recognition for its forthright leadership in the field of foreign policy and specifically for the editorial statement on October 21 on the two-thirds rule for Treaty Ratification. The District of Columbia League of Women Voters has been aware of that adership as well as The Post's growing, dynamic interest in District affairs. We wish to take this occasion to express our commendation.

You put it up to some of us we must get together if the fight against the two-thirds rule is to be successful. You mention the Bar Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the AFL, the CIO, the Bankers Association, the American Legion as well as the League of Women Voters. It is fairly easy to outline the kind of job of public education and legislative action that is necessary to bring about an improvement in the functioning of government, but it is not so easy to fit the residents of the District into the campaign.

Obviously, people all over the country must get over the erroneous idea that the Nation's course is safer and wiser if it is agreed upon by 64 Senators instead of 49. Granted that it would be fine if 64 Senators could agree, what happens when they don't agree? 33 Senators instead of 49 have complete and total power over the course of the Nation. This is the absolute antithesis of the democratic principle of rule by many instead of by few. Surely a majority of the American citizens could see that!

In the District where more people are associated with the functioning of government it should be easier to arouse interest in the need for change.

ALICE B. DUFFIELD.
Washington, Oct. 24.

National Unity

By Paul Winkler

French Catholicism

The events of the last four years have had a remarkably unifying effect upon the various political factions in France, due largely to General de Gaulle's appeal to these different groups on the basis of the ideas they hold in common. This newfound national unity may end, if not entirely, at least for all practical purposes, the passionate conflict which, up to the war, existed between French Catholics and those who regarded with grave apprehension any intervention of the church in political questions.

De Gaulle today has the full backing both of those parties whose history has been consistently that of a militantly anti-clerical attitude, and, on the other hand, of a politically active and progressive group of Catholics, the Christian Democrats, who played an important role in the resistance movement. Some of them are prominent in the new government.

All of these men, together with many others of similar leanings took an important part in the struggle, not only against the Germans, but also against Vichy. The Christian Democrats — embracing several smaller groups — made it clear that the hypocritical false Catholicism assumed as a mask by Petain and his associates, by which they attempted to excuse their betrayal of France, was only an elaborate disguise for their Fascism. They showed that it is definitely anti-Christian in spirit because of its enslavement of the individual and its denial of the ethical basis of Christianity, the Golden Rule. Their refusal to allow the Vichyites to assume undisputed the role of spokesmen for Catholicism, taken together with their stalwart resistance in the underground, accounts today for the fact that there is less antagonism in France between clericals and anti-clericals than ever before in the history of the Third Republic—in spite of the fact that a few high princes of the French Church (not very many) did succumb to collaborationism.

BEFORE THE WAR, the French people were split roughly into two large factions on the religious question. On one side were devout Catholics who were of the opinion that the church was not granted a sufficiently large place in public life and who deplored the separation of church and state which had been effected in 1905. On the other were those who thought that the church still exercised, unofficially, too great an influence in political matters in spite of its official severance from the organisms of the state.

It would be difficult to attempt to give any exact estimate of the relative strength of these two groups. Often the split occurred even within individual families.

But if it is difficult to give any reasonably certain figures, it is at least possible to say that there was a clear anti-clerical majority in France. At the same time, France was statistically almost completely Catholic. The number of Protestants in the country did not exceed 1 million (in a population of about 42 million) and the members of non-Christian faiths were insignificant in numbers. The revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685 had practically eliminated Protestantism in France. When new Protestant churches were permitted to open again with the return of liberal ideas, they did not attempt to direct their appeal to the masses and the number of their adherents remained limited. Consequently, criticism of certain phases of church policy, which in other countries tended to swell the number of Protestants, created in France a large category of people who, though still considered officially as Catholics, had in fact no ties with any church.

THE CATHOLIC Right Wing was generally assumed to speak for the church; but the church had a great deal more to it than the Right Wing alone. The Left Wing was strong within the French Church, its theories being dominant, for instance, in the Dominican Order, and being represented by the daily newspaper L'Aube, edited before the war by Georges Bidault, de Gaulle's present Foreign Minister.

General de Gaulle himself is not definitely affiliated with any political group; but his opinions are closer to those of the Christian Democrats than to any other, and before the war he was on good terms with many leaders of their faction. He is sympathetic to their doctrines. With his help, the Christian Democrats may contribute largely to giving France a greater unity than she has enjoyed at any time since the French Revolution.

Today and Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

The Election: One Man's View

NOTE: By the time this article is published I shall have gone overseas on a newspaper assignment. For a few weeks I shall be traveling and shall not be able to write.

THE CAMPAIGN is now near its end, and all that anyone can do is to say what in his own best judgment is the better choice.

LIPPMANN

For myself I had hoped that Governor Dewey would organize and conduct a campaign which would give reasonable assurance that he was prepared to assume quickly the tremendous responsibilities of war President. I do not think he has done this. He has not, it seems to me, shown that he has grasped the function and duties of the Commander in Chief, or that he is even as well-informed as Washington newspapermen on the military conduct of the war. Otherwise, he could not have made his remarks about General MacArthur's supplies at the very moment when General MacArthur was mounting his offensive in the Philippines. These remarks showed that he did not know what was going on and had not taken the trouble to find out.

Nor, it seems to me, has he shown an understanding of the organization of the war. Otherwise, he would not be crying from the stump that he was going to dismiss officials right and left, never stopping to indicate that he knows who are the men who have organized victory and who are the men who might with advantage be displaced. An indiscriminate cry about "house-cleaning" at a time like this is not a promise of good government, but a threat of administrative chaos beginning with election day and continuing for several months thereafter.

Nor has he, it seems to me, shown a sufficient understanding of foreign affairs and of the function of a war President in this field. He has endorsed, sincerely and sufficiently, the projects of Dumbarton Oaks. But that is not a foreign policy. That is only one of the ultimate objectives of the foreign policy. On the real task of diplomacy, which is to maintain and guide the complicated coalition through the war and into the era of pacification which will follow it, the Governor has exhibited the recklessness of a novice who does not know which guns are loaded.

WHAT HE HAS shown in the campaign confirms, I believe, the view which Alexander Hamilton expressed in the Federalist, No. 71, when he was arguing against a constitutional limitation on the number of terms of the President: "Without supposing the personal essentiality of the man, it is evident that a change of the Chief Magistrate at the breaking out of a war, or at any similar crisis, for another of even equal merit, would at all times be detrimental to the community, inasmuch as it would substitute inexperience for experience, and would tend to unhinge and set afloat the already settled train of the administration." Always in the crisis of war, in 1864 and in 1916 and in 1940, the American people have taken Hamilton's profoundly conservative and practical view.

For a change of administration at a time like this is a gamble in which the stakes are very high indeed. We know the Roosevelt record with all its faults. But of Dewey what do we know except that he has been a good prosecutor and a good Governor? Why, listening to the Governor, should we assume that he combines all the qualities which have made Roosevelt a victorious President, and that, unlike Roosevelt, he has no important faults and would make no serious errors?

CLEARLY, the task of a contender in war time is, because the people take Hamilton's view, a very difficult one. It is hard for him to prove by using words that he could act more successfully than the President in office. But the Governor could, I believe, have been more convincing than he has been on this crucial point.

For his campaign has been based on a fundamental misconception, in fact on mere wishful thinking. It is that the war is just about over and that therefore he is offering himself not as a war President but as a peace President. This has been a complete misjudgment of the real situation and the Governor's campaign strategy and argument, based upon this erroneous premise, have been irrational.

Because he thought he was running as a peace President, the Governor has argued that General Marshall and Admiral King can finish the war, and that the President needs only to keep his hands off. That is simply not true, and therefore the Governor cannot avoid being judged as to his availability and his preparedness to assume the responsibilities of Commander in Chief. But how could he prove that he is fit to be a war President when his main idea has been that the war is just about over? Instead of talking about the war in order to show that he understands the problems of conducting war, he has sought to prove his availability as President by showing that he is a relentless prosecuting attorney. But all that proves is that he is a relentless prosecuting attorney, not that he is fit and ready to be a war President.

Off the Record

By Ed Reed

"Who shall I say is indebted to us for this call?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

REAL INSIDE on the recall of Gen. "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell is long involved and goes to the root of the complicated Chinese political situation.

Briefly put, it boils down to the fact that General Stilwell served an ultimatum on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to cooperate with other Chinese armies in waging war against Japan, and you can't serve ultimatums on the head of another government.

United States Ambassador Clarence Gauss also called on the generalissomo regarding the same question of cooperation, but being a diplomat, he merely "suggested." He served no ultimatum.

Actually, the controversy revolves around a question discussed by this writer last summer, in a column vigorously criticized by the Chinese, reporting that most of the real fighting against the Japs had been done by the northern Chinese Communist Party. Chiang Kai-shek's war lords, on the other hand, have fought the so-called Communists, thus indirectly aiding the Japs.

Vice President Wallace, incidentally, had an indirect hand in the Stilwell controversy and, strangely enough, he and acid-tongued "Vinegar Joe" found themselves in basic agreement.

Here's What Happened

Here is the rather complicated story of what happened:

Two years ago, a party of Americans, fleeing from the Japs after Pearl Harbor, traveled through northern China with the assistance of Chinese Communist guerrillas, got a detailed picture of guerrilla effectiveness, later made a report to Roosevelt, who was impressed with their findings.

Later, when Madame Chiang Kai-shek came here on her first visit, FDR questioned her at length regarding the guerilla army. She dismissed the whole idea as Communist propaganda, claimed no such army really existed.

But Roosevelt, not satisfied, called in Marine Corps Col. Evans Carlson, hero of Makin Island, who had spent several years with the Chinese Communists. Carlson confirmed that they were the most effective army in China.

Finally, last spring, Roosevelt sent Wallace to China, specifically instructed him to arrange for a U. S. military mission to visit the Communist army. This was not easy. First, Wallace got Chiang's permission to visit the Communists. Later, he had to get permission from the Communist guerillas to receive an American military mission. This was really difficult.

At first, the Communists were skeptical, but after considerable vice presidential persuasion, they agreed.

Communists Fighters

THAT MISSION last summer reported directly to the White House confirming previous ideas that (1) the Chinese Communists have about 500,000 loyal troops, though poorly equipped; (2) they have another two million potential fighters now doing guerilla work behind Jap lines; (3) they have superior intelligence regarding Jap operations; (4) their commander, Tse-tung, has a brilliant record of resisting the Japs to the last ditch.

Result of all this was that the United States faced the alternative of working directly with the Communists, which would affect Chiang Kai-shek, or of trying to get Chiang Kai-shek to work with them, so the United States could then work with both.

This was what United States Ambassador Gauss and General Stilwell were trying to do—to get the generalissimo to work with the Communists. The ambassador tried diplomacy; the general served an ultimatum. Unfortunately, Chiang and Stilwell had rubbed each other the wrong way for a long while. Stilwell's blunt, brusque manners also had caused friction with Gen. Claire Chennault, Lord Mountbatten and Chiang.

American-Chinese Impasse

CHENNAULT BATTLED with Stilwell over greater use of the air, called Stilwell an old-fashioned trench fighter. Stilwell battled Mountbatten over British slowness in Burma.

Trouble with those two is not so serious. However, when you tell the head of an important Allied government flatly that he has to do a thing and he won't do it, then you put yourself in an impossible position—especially in the Orient, where "face" is all-important.

All this came to a showdown when Donald Nelson and General Patrick J. Hurley reported to Roosevelt that an unbreakable American-Chinese deadlock existed in Chungking.

NOTE—There is no question about Stilwell getting a good new job, though first he will get a long rest. Months in the Orient, bucking terrific obstacles, have made his nerves edgy. Meanwhile, it is hoped that new, more diplomatic Maj. Gen. Al Wedemeyer, who worked closely with the Chinese military mission in Washington, will persuade Chiang to cooperate with the Northern Communist Army.

Willkie Had Informants

ONE OF THE MOST humorous aspects of the present political battle is guerilla warfare and "spy work" going on inside the opposition lines.

Both Democratic and Republican big-wigs brag secretly about having planted men close to Republican Chairman Brownell and Democratic Boss Bob Hannegan. Result is, there are few secrets, much scrambling, many laughs.

The same thing happened in 1940, when the Democratic had informants close to Wendell Willkie. About a year after that election, Willkie was sitting around with a group of New Dealers, having friendly discussion. One of Willkie's guests thought it would be a good joke to tell him how many ways they had of getting information from the Willkie camp during the last campaign.

"We had three men close to you all the time," volunteered the Roosevelt supporter.

"Hell, that's nothing," replied Willkie. "I knew who they were and I occasionally deliberately fed them misinformation, which promptly got back to you."

"But," continued Willkie, delivering the knock-out blow, "did you know that I had six friends of mine working around the White House and in your headquarters?"

Jap Fleet Damaged But Not Destroyed

TOP MILITARY observers, viewing the Philippines naval victory in retrospect, now emphasize that the Japanese Navy has not been destroyed. However, enough key battle wagons and aircraft carriers have been sunk or severely damaged to render the rest of the Jap forces relatively ineffective for at least the next six months.

Japanese shipyards attempting to turn out enough vessels to keep Japan's long supply lines going will have to devote themselves almost entirely to repairing the damage caused in last week's historic naval engagement. In addition, the already over-pressed Jap steel industry, with a production of only 9,000,000 tons a year, will be thrown out of gear.

Thus the U. S. Navy has much less to fear in the Philippine waters.

America at War

By Selden Menefee

The Soldier Vote

Homestead, Fla.

AROUND TWO-THIRDS of the service vote will go to Roosevelt and Truman, judging from the GI reactions I picked up in a speaking tour of Air Transport Command bases on the East Coast from northern Maine to southern Florida. Poll-taking is prohibited by the Army, and I asked no one for whom he had voted; but the general tenor of discussion in the barracks and mess halls bears out this impression.

Other evidence points the same way. The last poll of servicemen's opinions before GI polls were prohibited, made in April, 1943, showed the preferences of the men in uniform to be fairly close to those of the youngest group of voters, aged 21-34, who were strongly pro-Roosevelt; and where differences occurred, the servicemen were more pro-Democratic.

The one historical comparison available shows that Lincoln, running against McClellan in 1864, got 53 per cent of the civilian vote but 77½ per cent of the soldier vote.

GI for Roosevelt

The average GI is for Roosevelt for two reasons: (1) He was for Roosevelt before he came into the armed forces, being young, and predominantly from the poorer half of the population (where the birth rate has been highest); and (2) he is pretty well satisfied with the way the war is being run. He may gripe about life in the Army, but if you press him he will tell you proudly that we are doing a bang-up job of getting our military manpower and materiel out to the fighting fronts where they will do the most good.

The service vote might even run heavier than two-thirds for Roosevelt except for the almost universal belief among the GI's that their "Commander in Chief" (as many of them call him) is a cinch to go back in. One soldier I met recently on a Pennsylvania train told me, "In my barracks most of the fellows who are for Roosevelt didn't vote, but most of those who are for Dewey did."

In the Washington State primaries last July, four out of five absentee ballots (most of them from service people) went to the Democratic candidates. Of course, Washington already leans toward Roosevelt; but if the service vote is two-thirds Democratic in the Nation as a whole, this will mean a plurality of nearly a million for Roosevelt from the armed forces.

Early estimates were that out of 11 million service people, of whom more than 4,300,000 have requested ballots from their States, around 2,300,000 will vote; but last-minute interest in the race will increase the vote among GI's still in the States, and the final figure may approach three million.

Keystone State

Pennsylvania is the Keystone State in more than name in this election, since Dr. Gallup puts its 35 electoral votes squarely on the 50-50 line as far as civilian voters are concerned. The Republican State administration there enacted the most generous law for soldier voting in the Nation. Any relative or friend of a service person could register him, and the civilian defense setup canvassed the State last July to make sure no one was missed. In all, 620,000 ballots were sent out.

Close to 300,000 service votes will be cast in Pennsylvania, and they will probably give Roosevelt a plurality of 80,000 or more, according to well-informed newspapermen in that State. These votes will be dribbling in until November 22, so if the election is close it may be in doubt until that date.

In Lancaster, Pa., I found that of 11,000 GI's registered, some 3000 had already returned their ballots, and 6000 were expected to do so by the deadline.

In New York State, which Gallup shows 51 per cent for Dewey, 589,054 service people have gone to the trouble of getting ballots, and a majority will certainly return them. This may swing the State's 47 electoral votes.

In New Hampshire, also a doubtful State, as many as 60 to 70 per cent of the ballots sent out (or 40 per cent of those in the services) are expected to be returned. The vote may thus reach 15,000, which was the margin by which the President carried New Hampshire in 1940.

The same situation holds in Missouri, Minnesota, New Jersey and Connecticut, all doubtful States.

(Interest Varies)

The soldier vote varies greatly from camp to camp. In some places not one GI in seven has cast his ballot; in others, where up-and-coming orientation officers consider voting to be good for morale and have lectured the boys on the importance of voting and how to go about it, the vast majority have voted. These votes are in the mail or in the ballot boxes, and will not be changed in the final days of campaigning.

In many Army bases there is little interest in the election, because the boys are isolated from the campaign and too busy to get involved anyhow. There is widespread resentment of some things, however.

One New York boy was boiling mad at the cumbersome system in effect there. He had sent for a ballot application from Italy last July, and when his ballot hadn't caught up with him by October he voted in person when he happened to be in New York. He didn't vote for Dewey, I'm sure. Nor did the Ohio lad whose ballot was returned (because he marked it with pen instead of pencil) vote for Bricker, in all probability.

Some of the GI's are also furious about the ruling by Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts that the ballots of boys who were killed after voting and before election day could not be counted. The Governor's statement that he had lost his own son in the war made little difference.

Pennsylvania started to follow suit, but the outcry was so great that this policy was overruled by Attorney General James Duff in mid-September. The decision to avoid invalidation of service ballots because of this and other technicalities will save some 20,000 votes.

One thing is sure: if GI Joe not only votes but actually clinches the election, he should consider this a pretty good proof of the democracy he is fighting for. And it is a mere foretaste of what is to come in the postwar period.

Walsh to Support 'The Party;' Ignores Rift With Truman

Clinton, Mass., Nov. 1 (AP).—Senator David I. Walsh (D., Mass.) said today that he would take no active speaking part in the campaign of President Roosevelt, but that he "would support the party."

Asked if he would do anything to patch up his recent differences with Senator Truman, Democratic vice presidential nominee, Walsh replied in the negative.

Truman, when asked in an interview Monday at Providence what the difference was between the "isolationist record of Senator Walsh and that of the eight Republican senators" Truman had urged Governor Dewey to "repudiate," had replied, "No difference except that Walsh has two years to serve and we have a chance to reform him."

Yesterday Walsh said he resented "being called an isolationist."

Kleberg Backs Dewey

By the Associated Press

Representative Richard M. Kleberg, Texas Democrat, said yesterday he had cast an absentee ballot for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential candidate.

Kleberg said he was oposed to a fourth term for President Roosevelt and to "the host of petty tyrants" who, he said, serve in Government bureaus and agencies. The Representative was defeated for renomination in the Texas Democratic primary after serving in the House since the fall of 1931.

Kleberg made his views known in a letter to E. M. Dealey, presider of the Dallas News.

Rogers Backs Roosevelt

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, announced today that former Representative Will Rogers, jr., now serving as a second lieutenant in the American Army in Holland, sent back word that he was "astonded to hear that my newspaper back in the States printed an editorial endorsing Dewey."

Rogers' newspaper is the Beverly Hills, Calif., Citizen. Hannegan said the message was sent to him by Mrs. Will Rogers, jr., frfom Los Angeles and in it Rogers asked that the message go "to my friend President Roosevelt.

In Beverly Hills, Jim Rogers, publisher of the Citizen, said there is no conflict in the fact that the newspaper and Lieut Will Rogers, one of its owners, are supporting different presidential candidates.

"The Citizen has been a Republican newspaper for 22 years," Jim Rogers said. "In the past Bill's views and those of the paper seldom have been similar."

Jim Rogers said there would be no change in the newspaper's endorsement. The paper is owned jointly by himself, Bill and their sister, Jim said.

Board Orders 27 District Men Inducted Today

Twenty-seven District men have been ordered to report for induction today. They are:

Daniel J. Corr, George E. Crawther, Francis J. Meelahan, John F. McKinley, Eugene E. Slattery, Lloyd H. Van Kirk, William E. Walters, Millard D. Watson, William R. Aphlett, Robert P. Borg, Herbert A. Chianese, Norbert J. Cook, James C. Elder, Robert K. Fox, Paul J. Leurgans, Harry E. Lyon, Edward L. Wenkel, white, and James E. Brown, Stephen T. Butler, Chester Davis, jr., John D. Glynard, William O. Hughes, Ivory Murphy, Arthur Owens, Jerome H. Parson, Milton Brockman, Marshall Peggins, Negroes.

Inducted yesterday were:

Antonio Coia, Francis A. Mazzo, Dionisios Robotis, Vernon S. Unger, Allen M. Garaway, George W. De Vore, Leomoine V. Dickinson, Henley O. Drummond, Edward L. Glover, Richard B. Hereford, George O. King, Cecil Lamm, John C. Shuster, Gilbert E. Yoder, John F. Boothroyd, Robert L. Davis, Palmer L. Edwards, Myron E. Heusinkveld, Edwin F. Jones, Lloyd D. Miller, Robert W. Rittmann, Walter Strack, jr., William R. Turner, white, and Daniel J. McIlwain, Sylvester Owens, Andrew Stover, William J. Watkins, Edward Williams, Negroes.

Council to Act On Chain Store Tax

Fredericksburg, Va., Nov. 1 (Spl.).—Repeal or revision of Fredericksburg's "chain store tax" is expected to result from a special meeting of the City Council, which has been called for November 9, to complete work on the budget for the next fiscal year.

The special session was called last night following a hearing on the tax, during which chain store spokesmen branded the levy "discriminatory," "unjust" and "unequal."

Fredericksburg is the only city in Virginia which applies an extra levy on chain outlets in addition to its general merchant's license, with the lone exception of Charlottesville. The tax is 26 cents per $100 of sales, and last year resulted in payment of $7553 by the chain establishments besides the regular merchants' levies of $6445 which they paid.

4 Minor Parties Vie for Votes In 1944 Presidential Contest

The Prohibition Party leads all other minor parties in number of candidates for President, Congress and Governors this year with 73.

It has also succeeded in getting its presidential electors on the ballot in more States than any other nonmajor political group—26.

The Socialist Party comes next with 53 candidates, with presidential electors listed in 25 States, although it had expected to qualify in about 30.

Third in candidate offerings is the Socialist Labor Party with 20 and presidential electors on 15 State ballots.

Parties 4 Years Ago

These three and the America First Party are running candidates for President and Vice President, as are the Democratic and Republican, making six national tickets in all. Four years ago there were seven, including the Communist and National Greenback. The Communist Party dissolved this year, but formed the Communist Political Association and indorsed President Roosevelt for reelection.

All told, there are 194 candidates this year for President, Vice President, Senator, Representative and Governor, under minor party or individual labels.

Besides their national thicket of Dr. Claude A. Watson, of Los Angeles, for President, and Andrew Johnson of Wilmore, Ky., for Vice President, the Prohibition Party is running 11 candidates for the Senate, 50 for the House and 10 for Governor.

Norman Thomas Runs Again

The Socialist Party nominees for President and Vice President are Norman Thomas, New York, and Darlington Hoopes, Reading, Pa. This group also has 11 candidates for the Senate, 33 for the House and seven for Governor.

Edward A. Teichert, 40-year-old steel worker of Greensburg, Pa., and Arla A. Albaugh, Massillon (Ohio) photo-engraver, form the Socialist labor national ticket, which is augmented by four senatorial candidates, eight House nominees and six running for Governor.

The America First Party is the newest in the presidential picture this time. Its convention in August nominated Gerald L. K. Smith of Detroit, for President, and Harry Romer of St. Henry, Ohio, for Vice President. Its electors are on the ballot in Michigan and Texas, says its Detroit headquarters, and the party plans a "write-in" campaign in 21 other States.

18 "Independents"

There are 18 candidates this year running as "Independents." Six are out for the Senate, 11 for the House and 1 for Governor. The American Labor and Progressive Parties each have six candidates for the House.

Among miscellaneous candidate labels are "victory without hate," "preserve American independence," "fellowship," "industrial government," and "constitutional government."

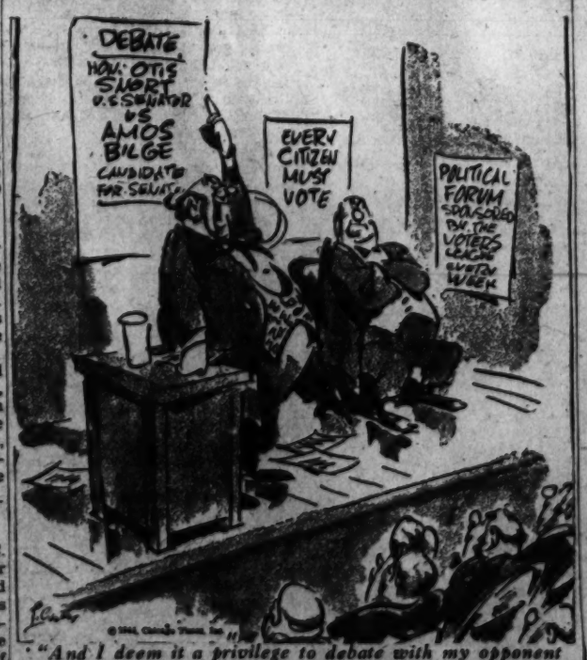
Minor parties polled 267,091 votes for President in 1940. The Socialists led with 99,557, prohibition came next with 57,812, and Communist third with 46,251.

Backs Amendment

Luray, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—C. C. Louderback, of Stanley, member of the House of Delegates and chairman of the board of trustees of the Virginia Retirement Act, today issued a statement in which he listed his reasons for support of the literary fund amendment to be voted on November 7.

Grin and Bear It

By Lichty



"And I deem it a privilege to debate with my opponent and through the medium of free speech, call him a liar, a thief, and an all-around ignoramus!"

WHO SEES WHAT?

People who ride on public transportation vehicles are in the presence of the advertising cards in these vehicles an average of 28 minutes every time they ride.

Daniel Starch and Staff made exhaustive studies in 7 large cities to find out how well these advertising cards are read. Individual city studies were so closely related that averages can be applied to Washington.

61% of the riders saw and remembered the average card. 59% could identify masked cards.

61% is a high score for any medium.

When you figure this HIGH attention value against the LOW cost of Transitads, you get a figure you can't ignore if you're spending advertising dollars.

Wouldn't you like to see Dr. Starch's booklet "First Audience Report" on street car and bus riders? It's an eye opener on the open eyes of the transportation public. A phone call brings it.

Memo to Riders in Washington Street Cars and Buses

"To save you time, to help you know who offers what you need, to get new ideas, to learn of new goods and needed services . . . read the colorful, interesting advertisements appearing in Washington street cars and buses."

NATIONAL TRANSITADS

Colorado Building Phone National 2804

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Twilight Tear Romps in Pimlico Special

This Morning

With Shirley Povich

For a few hours yesterday, there were some crazy figures being flashed across the Nation on the telephone network of the betting commissioners. The twice-beaten Navy football team was being posted as a 9-to-5 favorite over unbeaten Notre Dame in their battle on Saturday at Baltimore.

POVICH

The reason for the sudden tangent in the betting was the announcement at South Bend during the morning that Bob Kelly, Notre Dame's key halfback, had received orders to depart immediately for Lido Beach, N. Y., in the Navy's V-12 training program.

Thus the brokers, who keep their ears to the ground in such matters, quickly made Navy a heavy favorite. And then later in the day they just as hurriedly revised their figures, with Navy still the favorite but now quoted at 3 to 2. Kelly's transfer orders, it seems, were canceled and he would be available to the Irish on Saturday.

Apparently somebody high up in the Navy took quick action after the transfer of Kelly was announced. It would look too raw, what with the Notre Dame-Navy game only four days away, to eliminate Kelly by Navy action. To its credit Navy undoubtedly was leaning backward.

It's rather sensational, in any event, that Navy is moving up to the game now as a 3-to-2 favorite over the Irish. Two weeks ago, the person who might have ventured that Notre Dame would be the underdog in the Navy game would have been regarded as a candidate for the violent ward.

Two weeks ago, Notre Dame was the hottest article on the college football scene, winning games by outrageous scores and apparently invincible. Navy, in contrast, lost two of its first four games, and was tabbed as a bungling, inept outfit that was making small use of its wealth of material.

Notre Dame's narrow escape from defeat by Illinois last week served to deflate the Irish in a great measure on the same weekend that Navy finally attained at least a degree of perfection with a 26-0 victory over previously unbeaten Penn. From their comparative performances of last week stemmed the first doubt that Notre Dame could beat Navy.

Another factor in the odds-making is the absence of Chick Maggioli from the Irish lineup. He's the lad who pulled the Illinois game out of the fire for Notre Dame last week with his long touchdown gallop in the last quarter. Maggioli, a Marine trainee at South Bend, has already departed for further training at Paris Island, S. C.

The game is being rated by the brokers not on Navy's record this season, but on the potentialities of what looks like a football colossus at Annapolis. Hampered by sloppy ball handling thus far, Navy has not yet manifested all of the power of its ten first-string backs and that one good line. On the day that Navy clicks, it could beat Notre Dame or any other team.

The best commentary on that Navy team is that Hal Hamberg, though out of the lineup with an injury, may not be missed at all. Hamberg, a superb ball player for Navy the last two years, does not measure up as the same kind of a standout in this year's Navy backfield. Navy had four different backs passing the ball against Penn last week and doing very well.

Bob Jenkins is the chap who has taken over most of Hamberg's passing duties and his work has been a tremendous boon to Navy. Not only does he throw a smart pass, but his threat as a passer compliments his running game and opens up the defense for Jenkins' rugged charges with the ball.

That should be the main event at Baltimore on Saturday—Jenkins vs. Kelly. The Notre Dame lad is a faster breaker than Jenkins but without the latter's power. And he may not be surrounded by the same number of potent backfield mates. Clyde Scott, Ralph Ellsworth, and Bruce Smith would be the nucleus of a fine backfield without Jenkins, and last week at Penn Albion Walton, with his fierce charges through the middle, played at times like the best back on the field.

The students of line play ought to get a belt out of he goings-on Saturday. Navy and Notre Dame will toss lines against each other that are beauts. Navy has held three of its opponents to minus yardage this year. If Navy wins, the unsung heroes may well be that good Navy Jayvee team which all this week is simulating Notre Dame's T-Formation and taking a pounding from the Navy varsity, all in the interest of beating the Irish.

On the Line

With CONSIDINE

New York, Nov. 1.—Capt. Hank Greenberg is fresh back from China, where he was assigned to a B-29 Superfortress base. The big fellow, who has been in uniform for four years, looks fit, lean—and ready to pick up where he left off.

CONSIDINE

Where Hank left off was pretty fabulous, at that. He worked 19 days of the 1941 season—at the rate of $55,000 a year. The previous year he slugged a fair-to-middlin' ball club into the World Series, which went seven full games and made a lot of money for the Tigers and Reds.

The 1940 season saw him hit .340, change himself into an outfielder, sock 41 home runs, 8 triples and 50 doubles. He belted in 150 runs to lead the league in that department. He was named the most valuable player in the league, probably the only man ever to be given that award twice at different positions, for he won it in 1935 as a first baseman.

Hank, a good business man with a lot of good business men as friends, including Toymaker Lou Marx, did not ask for a raise for the 1941 season. Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Tigers, beat him to it with a $15,000 salary advance to $55,000, the highest paid man in the game and the second highest paid player in baseball history, if you accept the attendance-based bonus clauses which are said to have given Ty Cobb, then with the Athletics, about $70,000 for the last season of his baseball life. Babe Ruth's $80,000, of course, is the high-water mark.

Big Hank wouldn't hazard a guess about the length of the war, when we encountered him on his first evening in town.

"But if it's over in five years, say, I'm going to report back to Detroit," he smiled. "I'll still be able to hit a few, I think, even though I'll be crowding 40. I can't say what will happen regarding that salary. I still get a kick out of thinking of it, even if I never got a chance to collect it."

Hank was very diplomatic and mum when we suggested that ball players are about the only tradesmen not protected by the law which sees to it that a serviceman is given his old job if he applies for it within 40 days after being mustered out. But he did say this:

"I've always been treated right by Detroit and I don't really expect anything to change. But I guess there is a possibility that some former servicemen will be given big pay cuts when they come marching home. Baseball talent's a funny thing. It runs out on you, whether you're playing or not.

"I think that where the situation is obviously unfair to the returning ball player he should be given the courtesy of being made a free agent, so he can make the best possible deal for himself with some other club.

"However, the important thing right now—and for some time to come—is the war. Nothing else matters."

Nice note from Lieut. Col. John J. McEwan, former coach at West Point and one of the most brilliant leaders the coaching business ever attracted. He saw a piece we had about General MacArthur and Comdr. Gene Tunney:

"I clipped it and sent it to the general," Colonel McEwan writes "He will be pleased to know, I'm surp, that he was influential in changing Gene's outlook on sports, as well as the course of the country.

They call it the Golden West, and no horse owner will deny it. Take a look at some of the specials at Santa Anita, beginning on the day that beautiful place to lose your money opens—December 30:

December 30, California Breeders Stakes, $20,000 added; January 1, San Marcos Handicap, $20,000 added; January 6, San Susane Stakes, $20,000 added; January 13, San Gabriel Handicap, $20,000 added; January 20, San Felipe Stakes, $20,000 added; January 27, Santa Maria Stakes, $20,000 added; February 3, Santa Catalina Handicap, $25,000 added; February 10, San Vincente Handicap, $20,000 added; February 12, Santa Barbara Handicap, $20,000 added; February 17, San Antonio Handicap, $20,000 added; Februray 22, Santa Anita Derby, $50,000 added; February 24, San Carlos Handicap, $20,000 added; March 3, Santa Anita Handicap, $100,000 added; March 10, Santa Margarita Handicap, $50,000 added; March 13, San Juan Capistgano Handicap, $50,000 added.

Nats Draft Outfielder And Pitcher

By Charles Dunkley

Chicago, Nov. 1 (AP).—Major league bosses, with three exceptions, planked $137,500 on the line in "grab-bag" fashion for 19 league players—three more than last year—at their annual draft meeting today. In 1943, $110,000 was gambled on 16 players.

Only St. Louis' two championship clubs, the Cardinals and Browns, failed to make a player bid, while the Detroit Tigers were unable to corral any of their three choices.

The Washington Nationals, making the first American League selection, picked Marino Pieretti, Portland pitcher, who won 26 and lost 13 in the Pacific Coast this year, and on the second round obtained Walt Chipple, Montreal outfielder.

Dodgers Spend $19,000

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who finished seventh in the 1944 National League race, made the heaviest plunge, spending $19,000 for three players—Pitchers Tom Seats of San Francisco, boasting a 25-13 record; Herb Pfund, a chattel of Columbus, and Frank Laga of Norfolk.

The Philadelphia Phils, making the first choice on the basis of their last-place finish, selected 25-year-old Charley Sproull, pitcher, who won 16 while losing seven for the champion Milwaukee club of the American Association last summer.

The 19-player assortment included 17 double-A performers priced in the draft at $7500. With the exception of Veteran Pitcher Manuel Salvo, who had quite a fling in the majors before winding up with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League, the draft list was typically anonymous.

Salvo A's Second Choice

Salvo was the second choice of the Philadelphia A's, whose first selection was Outfielder Edward Smith, a .337 hitter for Buffalo last season.

Other selections: Chicago White Sox—Shortstop Dan Reynolds, Newark, and Catcher Edward Fernandez, Los Angeles; Boston Braves—Outfielder William Ramsey, Sacramento, and Catcher-Outfielder Mike Ulisney, Memphis; New York Giants—Pitcher William Emmerich, Rochester; Cleveland—Third Baseman Ed Wheeler, San Diego; Chicago Cubs—Catcher Len Rice, Syracuse; Boston Red Sox—Catcher William Holm, Los Angeles; Cincinnati—Outfielder Howard Moss, Baltimore; New York Yankees—Catcher Herb Crompton, Toronto; and Pittsburgh—Catcher Leroy Jarvis, Montreal.

The Tigers, fourteenth in line, bid unsuccessfully for Pitcher Alex Mustaikus of Toronto and Outfielders Al Mele of Syracuse and Ed Levy of Milwaukee, all ineligible because of previous selections from their clubs.

The two exceptions to the $7500 price tag were Ulisney, valued at $6000 and Laga, who cost $4000 but may not report to the Dodgers because he is in the armed services.

Breezing Home Don Meade Up, Takes Feature

Jamaica Race Track, Nov. 1 (AP).—The combination of light weight and one of Don Meade's best rides helped William Ziegler, jr.'s Breezing Home, rank outsider in the field of four, to eke out a nose triumph in the thirty-second New Rochelle Handicap before 21,947 fans here today.

Joe W. Brown's Brownie lost the photo battle while finishing a half dozen lengths clear of the Selznick Stables' topweighted favorite, Apriel Lad. Harvard Square was last. Breezing Home, under 109 pounds, was timed in 1:11 4/5 for the 6 furlongs. He paid $11 and took down a purse of $7475. Ariel Lad carried 123 pounds and Brownie, 121

Well known jockeys were much in the spotlight today. Ted Atkinson, widening his already substantial lead over all rivals for the season, won the first three events on the card, which included both ends of a $17.20 daily double. He was unplaced in the fourth contest and sat out the feature event. Meade won the fourth race on Up Front, $16.50, and came back with Breezing Home for two straight.

The New Rochele was a two-horse race for the most part. Brownie, Breezing Home, Harvard Square and Ariel Lad were bunched in that order for a quarter mile, then the front two gradually pulled away. Their heads bobbing together all the way home, the Ziegler colorbearer kept his nose in front of Brownie's under a powerful handride.

Connie Mack, Miler Officials to Confer

Chicago, Nov. 1 (AP).—Connie Mack, president and manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has proposed purchase of the Minneapolis club of the American Association, but first must confer with directors of his organization, Owner Mike Kelley of the Millers said today.

Kelley and Mack discussed the deal here today and yesterday.

"Connie has to talk with his directors and will let me know in three or four days whether he will buy my club," Kelley said. "I own every share of stock in my club, so I don't have to confer with anyone."

Declining to mention the consideration involved, Kelley said "Connie had one proposition and I had another, but the deal still is on."

This Dash Ended in Victory for Bullis High

Post Staff Photo—Klemm

Al Lowrie, Bullis High back, fighting his way goalward in the first quarter of the game with St. John's yesterday at Roosevelt. Lowrie lugged the ball for 10 yards and a touchdown and then rushed the ball over for the extra point which spelled victory, 7—6. Dick Curtin (13), St. John's halfback, flagged Lowrie for the moment at the line of scrimmage.

Wake Forest Favored to Beat Clemson

Richmond, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Wake Forest's Dynamic Deacons, with a clear record so far this season, are being picked by most observers to humble the Clemson Tigers when the two teams clash in a Southern Conference tilt at Wake Forest Saturday.

The game will be one of three conference games carded, North Carolina State making its third trip of the season to Virginia to meet Virginia Military Institute's fighting squadron at Lexington, while South Carolina's Navy V-12 Gamecocks taking on their old foe, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Va., Maryland Clash

All other conference teams with the exception of William and Mary will see action, but in nonleague clashes. Virginia travels to Washington to take on Maryland in a night game at Griffith Stadium; Duke takes on the untied and unbeaten Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets at Durham, N. C., and the University of Richmond plays host at home to the Portsmouth Fleet Eleven, Saturday afternoon.

Cemson has lost two games so far this year, to Tennessee and Georgia Tech, and will have to battle hard against a Deacon squad almost as powerful as the one which last year handed the Tigers a 41-12 pasting.

Duke Line Bolstered

Duke will go against the Yellow Jackets of the Southeastern Conference with Tackle Fred Hardison and Guard Fred Sink of Lexington, N. C., in the starting lineup. Coach Eddie Cameron said the men will replace Tackle John Kerns and Guard Garland Wolfe, who leave Durham today with the transfer of the Marine detachment, the former going to North Carolina.

With Kerns, coming back to the Tarheels is Thad Ellis, and the addition of the two huskies gives North Carolina a big edge in their game with the Gamecocks Saturday.

The Wolfpack from Raleigh, N. C., who have lost two games in six starts so far this year, will go to Lexington very much the favorites, but with the knowledge that they will have a hard fight on their hands. VMI has a fast and alert aggregation this year, and Coach Beattie Feathers has been working overtime on Cadet plays.

Feathers announced at Raleigh today that Tailback Charlie Richkus, injured slightly in the game with William & Mary last Saturday at Norfolk, Va., will be back in action Saturday.

No Longer Strategic

Pro Gridders Blasting Theory Of Out-of-Bounds Kickoff Rule

Chicago, Nov. 1 (AP).—The play-for-pay boys of the National Football League, whether by accident or design, appear to be blasting the theory of the out-of-bounds wickoff as a strategic weapon.

Whether the statistical record they have compiled in 24 games this season with st raight, down-field kicks will silence the howls heard on collegiate gridirons since the National Collegiate Athletic Association passed a ruling making it mandatory to keep the ball in bounds is problematical.

But statistics released today by the National Football League show the pros actually are keeping their foes deeper in their own territory on kickoffs this year, under a ruling simliar to that of the NCAA, than they did previously by kicking out of bounds.

Ony One Return Scores

The figures show that of 161 kickoffs in National League games this year, only one was returned for a touchdown and that the average of returns is but 20.1 yards. That average, theoretically, would place the ball somewhere between the 20 and 30 yard lines for the first play after the kickoff, as the pro booters usually get the ball back past the 10-yard stripe.

Under their previous ruling, a kickoff going out of bounds was given to the receiving team on its 45-yard line.

While the National League strategy seldom called for a deliberate out-of-bounds kick to avoid allowing a top-notch broken field runner to get the ball, that strategy was used frequently by college teams. Under the old NCAA rule, the receiving team was given the ball on its 35-yard line.

The pros now can hope for a break by which they would get possession of the ball deep in enemy territory after a down-field kick.

Eagles Lead Field

While the average kickoff has been 20.1 yards in the National League, the fleet Philadelphia backfield leads in this department with a 24-3-yards average on 11 kickoffs, followed by Cleveland with 23.6 yards. Other teams' averages: New York, 22.3; Brooklyn, 22; Chicago Bears, 20.8; Chi-Pitts, 20; Detroit, 19.9; Green Bay, 19.8; Boston, 16, and Washington, primarily because of Flipper Frank Filchock, continues to lead in the aerial department, with an average of .593 on completions and 893 yards in five games. Green Bay has marked up 900 yards on passes, but has played one more game than Washington and has an average of but .420. The Chicago Bears, with a .505 average and 810 yards, was third.

Lateral passes have been few thus far this season. Only 27 have been attempted and 21 completed, with the Bears leading the rest of the league with seven completions in nine attempts.

25 Per Cent

Rickey Buys Into Dodgers For $250,000

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodger Baseball Club the last two years, stepped into the stockholder class today when he and two associates purchased 25 per cent of the National League outfit.

Rickey, who resigned as vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals two years ago to take over the Brooklyn berth, purchased the 25 per cent block of stock held by the Edward McKeever estate. Indications were that the purchase price was around $250,000, a figure quoted in previous deals which fell through.

Acquisition of the stock gives Rickey a strategic position so far as control of the club is concerned. The 50 per cent block of stock held by some 15 heirs of the Charles Ebbets estate may be sold only as a whole, under a ruling by the Surrogate's Court in Brooklyn, while the other 25 per cent is held by Mrs. James A. Mulvey, daughter of the late Stephen McKeever, who recently said she would not sell.

Affiliated with Rickey in the purchase were Walter F. O'Malley of Brooklyn, the club's legal representative since Rickey assumed the presidency, and Andrew J. Schmitz, insurance man.

The Brooklyn club, although playing to substantial gates for years, has not paid a dividend since 1931.

Adam Walsh to Speak At Notre Dame Club

Adam Walsh, former All-American and captain of Notre Dame's famed "Four Horsemen" team of 1924, will be the principal speaker at the Notre Dame Club's rally Friday night in the Carleton Hotel.

Edwin M. Curran will act as toastmaster. Past football greats from Notre Dame and the Navy will be present.

Movies of Notre Dame's 1943 season will be shown at the rally.

Bullis High Gridders Beat St. John's, 7-6

The high school football team of Bullis Prep scored a touchdown in the first few minutes of play yesterday and then switched to a defensive game to edge a determined St. John's eleven, 7 to 6, at Roosevelt High.

The Prepmen's touchdown came after they kicked off to the Johnnies, stopped a St. John's march on the midstripe, and drove down to the 10 where Fullback Al Lowrie went over on an off-tackle smash. The winning conversion was on a fake kick in which Lowrie received the ball and plunged through center.

St. John's came back with a touchdown midway in the second period when it took possession of the ball at midfield via down and drove down to the 25 on line plunges by Bill Flanery. On the 25, Flanery made a wide sweep around left end and went all the way down the sidelines. The point which would have netted a tie failed when Dick Curtin's placement fell short.

The Johnnies played a great game throughout, stopping the Bullis power twice when the Prepmen marched deep in enemy territory. On one of these occasions, the Prepmen drove down to the 1-yard line and the Johnnies stopped three attempts through the line.

Little Nick Rossi of Bullis and Flanery of St. John's gave the small crowd of about 500 thrills galore on long runs and passes. Rossi paced the Bullis attack throughout, breaking loose several times on runs of 10 and 15 yards.

Bullis		St. John's
Harrington	L. E.	L. Hanrahan
Hamilton	L. T.	Schrider
Bating	L. G.	P. Hanrahan
Guerilz	Center	Williamson
Kirkbride	R. G.	Mitchell
Brick	R. T.	Richlli
Dougherty	R. E.	McMann
Pennikamp	Q. B.	Ponton
Rossi	L. B.	Flanery
Thompson	R. B.	Curtin
Lowrie	F. B.	Durkin

Bullis	7	0	0	0—7
St. John's	0	6	0	0—6

Touchdowns—Lowrie, Flanery. Point after touchdown—Lowrie. Referee—O'Neill. Umpire—Boyd. Head linesman—Flynn.

Terps Polish Passing; Jones May Start

Trusting that the hoodoos, jinxes, and hexas, which have beset his team, departed with Hallowe'en's hobgobline, Coach Clarence Spears put his University of Maryland footballers through a rigid drill yesterday in preparing theTerps for their clash against the Cavaliers of Virginia in Griffith Stadium Saturday night.

Emphasis was again placed on passing. Spears is striving to improve the Terp aerial offense, a department in which Maryland has been sadly lacking thus far. Bob Troll, former Central gridder, and Chuck Ryan did most of the chucking in last week's encounter with Florida and the pair received most of Spears' attention yesterday.

Another back to come in for considerable attention was Harry Jones, 17-year-old Harrisburg (Ill.) youngster. Jones looked good while in the Florida game and Spears indicated yesterday he might toss him in against the Virginians in an effort to bolster the Terp attack.

Line Coach Herman Ball worked the Maryland line at a rapid pace yesterday and expressed confidence it would be able to fulfill its duties Saturday night in good style. The Terp frontier has been one of the bright spots in the Maryland setup this fall and if the passing attack is clicking against the Cavaliers, several surprises might be in store for the boys from the Old Dominion.—DICK WYATT.

Turf Queen Scores by Six Lengths

By Walter Haight
A Staff Correspondent

Pimlico, Md., Nov. 1.—Calumet Farm's Twilight Tear, 3-year-old queen of the turf, added the 1944 Pimlico Special to her accomplishments with the greatest of ease this sunny afternoon. Never out of the grip of Jockey Douglas Dodson, the gallant daughter of Bull Lea and Lady Lark finished six lengths in front of the Greentree Stable's Devil Diver and 10 additional lengths in advance of the Christiana Stable's Megogo. A disappointing paid attendance of 12,961 saw the galloping triumph over the Devils red and blue colors.

Despite her unextended victory, Twilight Tear registered time of 1:56 3-5, matching the walk-up start time of Seabiscuit in his victory over War Admiral in the Special of 1938. The track record is 1:56 2-5, set by Riverland.

Pays $3.30 for $2

There was no catching Twilight Tear today. Defeated by Dare Me in the mud at Laurel, the filly had a fast track under her today and she hugged the rail and never gave her backers, who collected at the rate of $3.30 to $2, an anxious moment.

Trainer Ben Jones showed he had confidence in both the filly and Jockey Dodson who was in the saddle when she finished out of the money for the first time last month. The boy hustled Twilight Tear only at the start. Jockey Eddie Arcaro tried to steal the lead, getting Devil Diver away in front but Dodson urged his filly and she had command in the opening 20 yards. Megogo, conqueror of Bon Jour at Laurel, simply could not keep up.

As the field passed the stands the first time Twilight Tear had a lead of a length and a half over the Greentree hope which she lengthened to three lengths as she turned into the backstretch. At the far turn, Arcaro shook up Devil Diver with his whip. The veteran, however, refused to respond. Dodson, on Twlight Tear, then looked back, saw Arcaro's mount could not menace him and eased the filly along.

Victory Worth $25,000

In the stretch, Arcaro realized Devil Diver had no chance and was not pressing him at the end. Megogo, a bit on the sulking side even going to the post, also was being steadied at the end.

The first filly ever to compete in a Pimlico Special, Twilight Tear added $25,000 (winner-take-all) to her earnings, making her the top 3-year-old filly winner of all time with $59,610 to her credit for 1944. This amount added to her $142,555 garnered as a 2-year-old gives her a grand total of $202,165 and edges her closer to the best filly winnings recorded—Top Flight's $275,900.

Miss Ruth McClanaghan's Harford was a driving winner of the $10,000 added Grayson Stakes, the secondary feature. Harford, second to Bon Jour in the Bryan-O'Hara at Laurel, came to the finish line a length and a quarter in advance of W. P. Wetherall's Lord Calvert in the sixth running of the test over the marathon distance of a mile and one half. Lord Calvert took the place money by a neck margin from R. Sterling Clark's Bell-the-Cat. Seven answered the bugle call.

Harford Pays $4.90

Jockey Arnold Kirkland, a Baltimore boy who won the Spalding Lowe Jenkins yesterday with Col. C. V. Whitney's Hindu Kush, was being referred to as "Stake-a-Day" Kirkland after the smashing victory. Harford was the fifth favorite to win in as many races and paid a $4.90 mutuel. The Chance Play veteran was clocked in 2:33 1-5, matching the best time for the stakes set by Aaron Barr in the 1942 running.

Kirkland rode confidently. He eased Harford along in the early stages while High Command and Bell-the-Cat did the chief front running. Along the backstretch, Harford began to move up on the outside. Kirkland gradually put the 4-year-old to a drive.

Lord Calvert, never far out of it, rallied to dispose of High Command and Bell-the-Cat in the stretch and then Harford came under strong pressure. The favorite wore down the leaders and was drawing out at the end. The victory was worth $8950.

BETWEEN RACES — The meeting started with a sour note. Announcer Tommy Daly readied the crowd for the National Anthem and the speaker system gave out with a series of squawks—record trouble. Buddy Root is passing up Pimlico for a Florida vacation before getting back in the saddle in the Palm country. Col. E. R. Bradley witnessed the Special from his car in the infield as has been his custom in recent years. Laurel's purse total was above the figure it advertised before the meeting. Fog that blanketed the track in the morning lifted just before the program got under way. Art Brown, the horse, is as nosey as the radio guy he's named for. The colt stuck his nose in the winner's circle twice at Laurel. Jack Carpenter, who rooted the Baltimore Orioles into the little world series title as a scribe, has returned to the track press box crew. The finish camera here has a mirror attachment which allows the inside horses to be shown in a blanket finish.

Baltimore Jammed as Tar-Irish Clash Nears

By John F. Chandler

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Unbeaten Notre Dame and twice-trimmed Navy come to a climactic football meeting Saturday with the usual last-minute scramble today for tickets to the fray even at double the cost and more prices for squatters' rights seats near the goal line.

The annual squabble between the Sailors and Irish was a 63,000 sellout more than a week ago, and "brokers" holding forth with the few remaining pasteboards from temporary headquarters in a couple of barber shops predicted a rising market as game day neared.

Hotel rooms just aren't. Reservations closed six weeks ago and the overflow began finding its way to rooming houses. As for the game itself, the betting gentry quoted odds at 6 to 5 and take your choice, but there were predictions that Notre Dame would be two to one at the kickoff.

Talk ranged from the slippery running of Notre Dame's real Irish Bob Kelly to the physical condition of Bill the 9th, the Middies' goat mascot. And just for luch the Sailors were grooming Mellissa, their special canine mascot, hoping she would turn the tide of Irish triumphs. Navy hasn't licked Notre Dame since 1936.

And, speaking of Kelly, South Bend fans were hoping the Navy would delay his expected transfer orders until after the Middie fracas. Nevertheless, if Kelly is playing his finale for the Irish, you can be assured he'll shoot the works, which distinctly gives the future Admirals the shivers, for well do they remember what Angelo Bertelli did to Navy, 33-6, last year when making his exit from Notre Dame into the Marines.

The ticket brokers said that around 1000 persons who bought seats at $3.62 each will sell them this week to the ticket handlers for $5 to $6 and in turn be resold for $7 or $ or more. Fifty-yard liners go for $10 to $12 but few turn up in the shuffle. The dealers get stuck on same games, they said, "but never Navy-Notre Dame. One hundred thousand would jam the stadium if that many could get in."

As for color, it will be a typical autumn splash with 1500 middies parading into the stadium and onto the gridiron just before the kickoff. In the stands will be celebrities galore. Expected are:

Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal; Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet; Vice Admiral Russell Willson, former Naval Academy superintendent; Governor O'Conor of Maryland; and Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, head of the Army's Third Service Command.

Kelly to Remain in Notre Dame Backfield

Irish Hopes Buoyed by Naval Order

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 1 (AP).—Comdr. W. S. Gabel, executive officer of the Navy V-12 unit at Notre Dame, announced today he had relayed new orders to Bob Kelly, Irish backfield ace, instructing the Chicago V-12 trainee to remain at Notre Dame.

Earlier, Kelly received orders to report immediately at the Navy Training Center at Lido Beach, Long Island, N. Y.

Gabel said the latest orders from Washington instructed Kelly to remain at Notre Dame pending "clarification of his status." Kelly was quoted as saying he had been notified unofficially of an appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy.

The "why" of McKeever's concern over the 19-year-old Chicago lad's future is obvious. Kelly has scored 60 points in five games and is one of the leading candidates for an All-American backfield post.

Kelly, a 175-pounder and 5-feet-9-inches tall, has been a big factor in Notre Dame's unbeaten, untied record.

McKeever expected Kelly's transfer and was resigned when the first order arrived. It directed Kelly to report forthwith to te Lidho Beach, Long Island, Navy Training Center.

However, hard on the heels of the first order came a second instructing Kelly to remain at Notre Dame pending "clarification of his status," probably because of an expected appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy. Kelly had told McKeever that his father had informed him the appointment had been made.

There were these possibilities for Kelly's future depnding on whether the Academy appointment materializes:

1. That he may stay at Notre Dame as a V-12 trainee until sent some time later to the Academy.

2. That he may be ordered to report to the Academy immediately.

3. Or, that he may be returned to civilian status pending orders to report to the Academy.

Former Baseball Star's Son Reported Missing

Baltimore, Nov. 1 (AP).—Mervin W. Jacobson, former big league baseball player, has been notified by the War Department that his son, 2d Lieut. Merwin W. Jacobson, jr., 22, had been missing since a flight over Hungary, October 16.

Jacobson, sr., was center fielder for the New York Giants, the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Chicago Cubs, an dplayed for the Baltimore Orioles in the years when they won seven pennants.

Keydets' Offense Is Strengthened for N. C. State Game

Lexington, Va., Nov. 1 (AP).—Coach Rooie Hubert devoted the entire practice period today to polishing Virginia Military Institute's offense in preparation for the game here Saturday with North Carolina State.

The Cadets held a lengthy dummy scrimmage, Hubert deciding to refrain from high speed work until later in the week, when thre of his regulars, injured in the game last Saturday with the University of Virginia, will have recovered sufficiently to take part in the heavier drills.

Elmer Ozorra, tail back, one of the three hurst, was replaced on the "A" team by John McGiffert, and Don Florence, right tackle, and Clyde Orimenstein, right end, the remaining casualties, yielded their respective positions to John Gorman and Everett Shepherd.

G.U. Prep Jayvees Win

Georgetown Prep's Jayvees defeated Landon Prep's youngsters, 20 to 0, yesterday at Landon. Jack Lavoie, Bob O'Conner and Tom Keefe scored for Georgetown.

Pimlico

Entries

By the Associated Press

1—5½; $1500; 3-year-olds; claiming.
†Storm's Bill ..... 116 | Rough Shower 104
Midnight ..... 116 | Pharamint 109
†Annie Boston ..... 109 | Briarsesque 109
†Morgill's Lad ..... 112 | †Another Bel 111
Semper Parata ..... 104 | †Rocket Plane 116
Sunmoor ..... 108 | Joblots 116
High Priority ..... 112 | †Sun Off 109
Galant Man ..... 114 | Geneva Nurse 104
†Woodward and Zell entry.
†Gilbert and Jennings entry.
†Fraser and Waters entry.
2—5½; $1500; 3-year-olds; claiming.
†Caratinga ..... 113 | †Kiddie's Baby 112
Sky Skipper ..... 115 | Spirit Level 112
Little Bunny ..... 112 | Got There 112
Clara Beau ..... 112 | Rough Feathers 110
Royal Tinty ..... 115 | Skipper's Lad 115
†Brainsafire ..... 112 | Wood Pitt 112
Chicran ..... 118 | Orgullosa 112
James Acre ..... 110 | †Twink Shoe 115
†Shaffer and Archer entry.
†Tigani and Lindy entry.
3—3 m.; $2000; 3-yr.-olds up; clg.; chase.
†St. Patrick's Day 141 | †Simoon 140
Dingwell ..... 131 | Rollo 141
Pay Cottage ..... 143 | Greenwich Time 143
†Sussex ..... 141 | Sea Flight 130
†Mad Policy 153
†T. T. Mott entry.
†Lieut. G. H. Bostwick entry.
4—5½; $1700; maiden 2-year-olds.
Snob Tourist ..... 120 | Eva's Memory 115
†Pilate's Own ..... 120 | Grand Player 120
Jack Madigan ..... 120 | Wayne County 120
Antelope ..... 120 | Pharawell 115
Nowadays ..... 120 | Ranch Rider 120
Rate Case ..... 120 | Pendragon 120
†Temeru ..... 120 | Hail Victory 120
Bally Rag ..... 115 | Reclamation 120
†Wexler and Hyckman entry.
5—5½; $3000; 3-year-olds; class C.
Black Gang ..... 110 | Cavatorta 109
Big Push ..... 116 | Royal Prince 116
Rent It ..... 113 | Tidy Reward 111
Westwood Belle ..... 113 | Quarter Moon 116
Edemgee 116
6—1 1/16; $3000; 3-year-olds; the Sandyford.
Morning Choice ..... 116 | Blue and Grey 99
March Chick ..... 116 | Dodonough 116
Westminster ..... 119 | Cannikin 113
†Beggar ..... 110 | Fair Ann 113
†Plane Shadow ..... 110 | High Straight 119
†Leonard and Fralinger entry.
7—1 1/16; $1500; 4-year-olds up; claiming.
Cacique ..... 117 | Hazel W. 114
Manadroit ..... 110 | June Quest 115
Maroc ..... 112 | Molasses Bill 112
Jack Wilson ..... 112 | Kiddie's Image 112
Grain ..... 109 | Miss Identity 107
Big Nick ..... 107 | Strane 104
Exploration ..... 107 | Rough Aman 115
Golden Bale ..... 112 | Punctorrick 109
8—1 1/16; $2000; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Ringsway ..... 108 | Grey Pirate 108
Assailant ..... 106 | Coosa 105
Court Bienheim ..... 115 | Lost and Found 113
Our Birthday ..... 111 | Satin Rose 107

PIMLICO SELECTIONS (FAST)
1—Briarsesque, Semper Parata, Woodward-Zell entry.
2—James Acre, Tigani-Lindy entry, Gotthers.
3—No selections.
4—JACK MADIGAN, Tumeru, Hail Victory.
5—Black Gang, Edemgee, Westwood Belle.
6—Leonard-Fralinger entry, Westminster, Doodonough.
7—Molasses Bill, Jack Wilson, Exploration.
8—Court Bienheim, Satin Rose, Our Birthday.
—Louisville Times (F).

Sportsman Park

Entries

By the Associated Press

1—1/16; $1200; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Allergy ..... 108 | Blondie Jayne 113
Brilliant Jr. ..... 113 | Rejectable 113
Love Song ..... 113 | Maurice K. 116
Piggy Bank ..... 107 | Polaris 116
Big Boss ..... 120 | Van Or 113
Counsellor Pal ..... 108 | Uncle Moss 111
The Puma ..... 116 | Uncle Peter 111
Kiss-Kiss ..... 111 | American Bride 105
2—1/8; $1200; maiden 3-yr.-olds up; clng.
Hickory Jim ..... 109 | Whiteford Bill 114
Lucky Ann ..... 117 | Shining Chance 114
Prup ..... 109 | O'Yearn 111
Gainer ..... 115 | Laughing Fair 120
Pretty Thing ..... 117 | Supreme Eagle 114
Miss Bobolink ..... 111 | Infinity Flirt 111
Bun Bun ..... 117 | Border Pat 114
Pretty Bitter ..... 120 | Foot to Foot 109
3—1/8; $1200; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Air Raider ..... 113 | Quanzie 110
Mordecai ..... 113 | String Band 118
Sales Talk ..... 113 | Recalling 107
Quick Tool
4—1/8; $1200; 3-year-olds; allowances.
Vinita Major ..... 114 | Betel 107
Joe M. Jr. ..... 109 | Zackdow 107
Country Boy ..... 102 | Chanlon 99
Pirona 104
5—1/8; $1500; 3-year-olds; allowances.
Margaret T. ..... 111 | Young Buddy 120
Tawny Lady ..... 103 | Fair Band 107
R. L. Light ..... 106 | Observer 106
Missy Miss ..... 111 | Play Grier 109
Compairiot 110
6—1 1/16; $1500; 3-year-olds up; allowances.
Menninger ..... 108 | Don Devito 110
Bob's Dream ..... 114 | Quarter Nick 103
†Happy Pilot ..... 110 | Just Beans 103
†Roxy Brand 107
†Happy Hour Farm entry.
7—1-70; $1200; 3-year-olds; claiming.
Major Bull ..... 108 | Ribby 108
Stillwater ..... 109 | Sonny Boy 105
Vinita Upset ..... 112 | Sir Mickey 109
Valdale ..... 103 | Old Lover 103
8—1 1/16; $1500; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Guest Star ..... 111 | Namur 115
Patruska ..... 115 | Strombus 113
Poupeni ..... 113 | Ormolin 113
Donegal ..... 113 | Ballysarnett 115
9 (sub)—1 1/16; $1200; 3-year-olds up; clng.
Hasty Brook ..... 112 | Random Breese 120
Replication ..... 112 | Sunny Fly 115
Bay Whisk ..... 113 | Sinkoe 115
Glenmport ..... 110 | Solid 120
Gold Fancy ..... 107 | Cariarian 117
Bud On ..... 108 | Poet Laureate 117

SPORTSMANS PARK SELECTIONS (FAST)
1—Maurice K., Polaris, Big Boss.
2—Shining Chance, Laughing Fair, Gainer.
3—Quick Tool, Mordecai, Recalling.
4—Vinita Major, Betel, Zackdow.
5—MISSY MISS, Play Grier, Young Buddy.
6—Bob's Dream, Don Devito, Happy Hour entry.
7—Vinita Upset, Sibley, Major Bull.
8—Donegal, Ballysarnett, Namur.
9—Random Breese, Cariarian, Replication.
—Louisville Times (F).

Results

1—5½; $1200; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Sad Cake, 116 (Pucci) 5.00 3.20 2.20
Can Time, 107 (J. Jessop) 3.40 2.20
Ever Flying, 115 (Gilderwell) 2.60
Rescued, Colleen Sue, Memphis Bud, Border Scout, Lookout Rascal also ran. Time, 1:21⅘.
2—5½; $1200; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Devil's Frolic, 109 (J. Jessop) 16.40 8.00 5.00
Hogan, 115 (Pucci) 4.20 3.20
Stoll, 113 (Hawksworth) 5.20
David S. Jr., Yarnith, Ky-Trix, Ibex, Anytime also ran. Time, 1:30.

DAILY DOUBLE PAID $42.30.

3—1-70; $1200; 3-year-olds; claiming.
Wog, 112 (Hawksworth) 12.60 4.80 3.40
Fairy T, 110 (D. Jessop) 3.20 2.80
My Scout, 113 (Rinhard) 3.40
Lostabat, Eleanor Van, Best Blister also ran. Time, 1:31⅘.
4—5½; $1200; 3-year-olds up; allowances.
Chipmunk, 115 (Hawksworth) 2.60 2.40 2.40
Brilliant Fly, 109 (J. Jessop) 3.20 2.20
Alan P., 120 (Beverly) 2.20
Comfin, O. K. Mullins, Sunny One, King Rythet, Bagnell also ran. Time, 1:00⅘ (equals track record).
5—5½; $1500; 3-year-olds; allowances.
Mis Maria, 112 (Pucci) 13.20 6.80 4.00
Lightfoot Lady, 109 (D. Jessop) 5.20 3.40
Conference, 112 (J. Jessop) 3.40
Ted Gardner, Gray's Day, Darby Diplomat, Agrarian Son, Day also ran. Time, 1:31⅘.
6—1 1/16; $2000; 3-year-olds up; handicap.
Take Wing, 112 (Baker) 5.00 3.00 2.40
Rush Act, 112 (D. Jessop) 3.40 2.80
Code Master, 108 (Hawksworth) 3.40
Chance Game, Cherry Trifle also ran. Time, 1:54⅘.
7—1 1/16; $1400; 3-year-olds up; allowances.
Ida Sun, 110 (J. Jessop) 4.00 3.00 2.60
Mug's Game, 108 (Gilderwell) 6.20 3.80
Fair Player, 108 (Pucci) 4.80
Miss Transit, Pilate Sun, Bolivar, Mary Mick also ran. Time, 1:38⅘.
8—1 1/16; $1200; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Yaldina Kevin, 109 (Zufelt) 41.20 16.60 8.40
Intellect, 104 (D. Jessop) 6.00 4.00
Yaldina Nymph, 113 (Hawksworth) 3.20
Total, Lillian Roth, Lady Kent, Sweet Helen, Little Minx, Pasean, Recalling also ran. Time, 1:54⅘.

Official Pimlico Race Charts

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1944—By WALTER HAIGHT.
WEATHER CLEAR. TRACK FAST.

FIRST RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $3000; claiming. For 4-year-olds up. Start good. Off at 12:41. Winner, Capt. Henry H. Hecht. Value, $1400. Time, 1:54⅘.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	¾	Str.	Fin.	Straight
ÖMADA	(Dodson)	113	3	2	5¹½	5¹½	5¹½	1ns	1	$3.05
ALCA-GAL	(Meade)	114	7	4	3¹	3¹½	2¹½	2¹	2½	8.35
WAR SHY	(Kirkland)	113	1	1	1½	1ns	1ns	2ns	3²	2.40
GOLDEN MOWLEE	(Scawthorn)	110	8	8	8¹½	7²	6½	4½	4³	5.95
TOP SERGEANT	(Clark)	122	2	3	6½	4ns	4½	5²	5³	26.45
YLEE BAR	(Hamilton)	116	5	10	10⁴	8⁶	8½	6½	6¹	119.20
AGRARIST	(C. Kirk)	113	4	7	7²	6²	5²	7²	7²	89.55
ANEAC	(Adair)	116	10	9	9⁴	10¹½	10⁴	8²	8²	13.00
ALPHANORIER	(J. Riensi)	116	9	5	2¹	2ns	3¹	9⁵	9⁴	30.55
RESIDUE	(Annesly)	117	11	11	11	10	10	10	10	37.75
MISTY LADY	(Erickson)	113	6	6	4½	†				14.85

†Broke down.
OMADA, $6.10, $3.60, $2.90; ALCA-GAL, $6.40, $3.90; WAR SHY, $3.10.

SECOND RACE—One mile 70 yards. Purse, $1700; allowances. For maiden 2-year-olds. Start good. Off at 1:16. Winner, James Scaffidi. Value, $1200. Time, 1:46⅘.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	¾	Str.	Fin.	Straight
JETSAM	(Rudert)	118	3	2	2¹½	2¹½	2¹	1ns	1¹	$1.80
BLACK KNIGHT	(J. Gilbert)	118	2	1	6¹½	3¹	1ns	2²	2²	3.75
SAVING	(Wall)	115	5	9	9¹½	9⁴	7½	3½	3³	19.30
GOLD BEACH	(Scawthorn)	118	7	4	1¹½	1¹	2½	4²	4⁴	33.10
COLONEL JOHN	(Bowers)	113	1	11	7¹½	7²	6¹	6ns	5½	19.35
PINE LAKE	(Meade)	110	12	7	8¹	8½	8½	5½	6½	5.25
SIR JINX	(Jemas)	118	8	5	3¹½	4ns	4¹	4¹	7⁴	112.10
TRAGEDIENNE	(Dodson)	116	6	3	5½	5ns	5½	8¹	8²	17.80
DISPLAY FLIGHT	(Breen)	115	9	6	4¹	6¹	7²	9⁴	9⁴	41.45
OMASHANE	(Kirkland)	115	10	8	10²	10⁴	10²	10⁵	10⁵	36.05
PROUD PAFFIE	(Wright)	118	4	12	11½	11¹	11¹	11³	11³	16.10
BRIGHT MENTAKA	(Schlinl)	115	11	10	12	12	12	12	†

†C. F. Hockley and E. K. Moore entry.
JETSAM, $5.20, $3.70, $3.00; BLACK KNIGHT, $5.10, $3.60; SAVING, $7.00.

DAILY DOUBLE, OMADA AND JETSAM, PAID $15.80.

THIRD RACE—About 2 miles. Purse, $2500; allowances; steeplechase. For 3-year-olds up. Start good. Off at 1:42. Winner, Kent Miller. Value, $1650. Time, 3:58. (15 jumps.)

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	½	¾	1	2	3	Str.	Fin.	Straight
WAR BATTLE	(Owen)	138	1	3	1½	1½	1½	1¹	1¹	1¹	1¹	$1.15
FLOATING ISLE	(McCullough)	147	2	1	3²	3²	3²	2½	2²	2¹½	2²	42.55
REFUGIO	(F. D. Adams)	146	5	1	4³	4³	3¹	3¹	3⁴	4	3³	4.85
ROVER BOY	(Roberts)	144	8	6	5¹	6²	4¹	4¹	4¹	4¹	4¹	13.10
SENESKAR	(Leonard)	144	6	8	8	8	8	6²	5¹	5¹½	5²	4.90
HIGH TINT	(Smiley)	137	4	7	7²	7½	7	7	6	6	6	120.50
SPURIOUS COUNT	(McGovern)	140	7	9	6³	3¹	5¹	5¹	†			50.05
NORDMEER	(Cruz)	150	9	3	2²	2¹	1	†				12.60
KENNERUNE	(Walker)	153	3	5	†							7.55

†Eased up. ‡Pell.
WAR BATTLE, $4.30, $3.70, $3.10; FLOATING ISLE, $16.90, $9.20; REFUGIO, $3.80.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $2500; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Off at 2:16½. Winner, K. A. O'Connor. Value, $1650. Time, 1:13.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	Str.	Fin.	Straight
GOLD BOY	(Arcaro)	117	3	6	5¹½	4½	2½	1²	†$3.20
GALLANTLY	(Bowers)	111	5	11	12	9¹	5²	2ns	13.35
SHELTIE	(Ruder)	117	1	3	4¹	3¹	3ns	3²	5.10
HAMMER-LOCK	(Snellings)	115	2	5	2ns	2²	1ns	4½	11.90
BRIDE'S BISCUIT	(Scawthorn)	108	1	2	1½	1ns	4¹½	5¹	23.75
COUNTRY LAD	(Wall)	108	7	12	8¹	5ns	6¹	6ns	18.40
MISTER CHAT	(Breen)	115	8	10	11½	12	8¹	7ns	13.50
FLIGHT NURSE	(Jemas)	108	12	8	9¹	11¹	10²	8²	51.90
BIT GAY	(Clark)	112	4	7	7ns	8½	7ns	9ns	9.50
PIQUANT	(Dodson)	110	9	3	6½	7½	9²	10⁴	3.75
BEAU'S NURSE	(Kirkland)	110	10	9	10½	10½	11⁴	†
ERATO	(Meade)	110	6	4	3ns	6¹½	12	12	10.45

†K. A. O'Connor and W. F. North entry.
GOLD BOY, $8.40, $5.00, $3.10; GALLANTLY, $14.80, $7.60; SHELTIE, $3.60.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-half miles. Purse, $10,000 added. For 3-year-olds up. Start good. Off at 2:50½. Winner, Miss R. McClanaghan. Net value, $8950. Time, 2:33½.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	½	¾	1	Str.	Fin.	Straight
HARFORD	(Kirkland)	116	3	3	6¹	3¹	2½	2ns	1½	$1.45
LORD CALVERT	(Breen)	122	1	1	3¹	3½	2¹	1½	2ns	4.20
BELL-THE-CAT	(Meade)	110	2	2	2¹	2ns	1hd	3¹	3¹	14.35
MOON MAIDEN	(Arcaro)	113	5	7	5¹½	6⁴	5³	4²	4²	2.35
HI-NEIGHBOR	(Dodson)	113	7	4	4¹	4½	6²	6²	5¹	13.80
HIGH COMMAND	(Scawthorn)	116	6	5	1¹½	1½	4²	5¹	6⁴	20.50
AERA	(Jemas)	110	4	6	7	7	7	7	7	13.80

HARFORD, $4.90, $3.00, $2.80; LORD CALVERT, $5.00, $3.70; BELL-THE-CAT, $4.80.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $3000; allowances. For 4-year-olds up. Start good. Off at 3:26½. Winner, Gustave Ring. Value, $1850. Time, 1:11⅘.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	Str.	Fin.	Straight
HASTEVILLE	(Arcaro)	116	2	6	6	6	4½	1ns	$2.35
WISE ADVICE	(Bowers)	117	4	1	1ns	1ns	1ns	2½	5.30
NEW MOON	(J. Gilbert)	122	6	5	4½	2¹½	2¹½	3½	4.10
SOPHOCLES	(Jemas)	116	5	2	2¹½	2¹½	2½	4³	5.55
HORNBEAM	(Wall)	110	3	3	3ns	5½	6	5¹½	2.75
SPARE MAN	(Mora)	116	1	4	5³	4³	5¹	6	7.90

HASTEVILLE, $6.70, $4.60, $2.90; WISE ADVICE, $4.50, $3.10; NEW MOON, $3.40.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $25,000 (by invitation only). Start good. Off at 3:50. Winner, Calumet Farm. Value, $25,000. Time, 1:36⅘.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	½	¾	Str.	Fin.	Straight
TWILIGHT TEAR	(Dodson)	117	2	2	1½	1½	1²	1¹	$0.65
DEVIL DIVER	(Arcaro)	126	3	1	2¹½	2¹½	2¹	2¹½	1.55
MEOCCO	(Scawthorn)	120	1	3	3	3	3	3	6.00

TWILIGHT TEAR, $3.30. (No place or show betting.)

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $2500; allowances. For 4-year-olds up. Start good for all but SABOTEUR. Off at 4:30½. Winner, Edgehill Stable. Value, $1850. Time, 1:46⅘.

Horses	Jockeys	Wgt.	Post	St.	½	¾	Str.	Fin.	Straight
HE ROLLS	(Meade)	121	6	4	2½	2²	1²	1¹	$0.75
WISE TIMMIE	(C. Kirk)	118	1	2	5³	4¹	2½	2½	17.65
SABOTEUR	(Annesly)	117	2	7	7	7	6½	3¹	11.95
BE BRIEF	(Bowers)	121	7	2	1ns	1ns	3½	4ns	2.75
RELIOUS	(J. Riensi)	118	3	6	6³	6²	7	5²	33.60
TAMIL	(Erickson)	118	5	1	3¹½	5¹½	5²	6½	16.30
TAKE COURAGE	(Scawthorn)	115	4	3	4²	3³	3½	7	14.45

HE ROLLS, $3.50, $2.50, $2.20; WISE TIMMIE, $8.20, $4.40; SABOTEUR, $3.00.

Jamaica Entries and Results

By the Associated Press

1—5½; $2000; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Patient ..... 105 | Note 111
Wapan ..... 116 | Bollinger 109
Bit of Nerve ..... 111 | Frontier Jane 113
Listing 111
2—5½; $3000; maiden 2-year-olds.
Wakonda ..... 115 | Dolly Varden 115
High Vallis ..... 113 | Hat Maker 115
Ice Girl ..... 115 | Lady Valeska 115
Watts Girl 108
3—5½; $3000; maiden 2-year-olds.
Vrondi ..... 115 | Mist 115
Pay and Pay ..... 115 | Topsy Rose 115
Which Cup ..... 115 | Happy Forecast 115
4—5½; $2500; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Respire ..... 108 | Richmond 116
Puffed Up ..... 108 | Boy Angler 116
Old Grad ..... 126 | Hubbub 116
5—5½; $3000; 3-year-olds up; the Fishkill.
Miss Eunice ..... 107 | First Admiral 121
Ayah's Boy ..... 119 | Bay Magic 121
Still Life ..... 110 | Still Blue 118
5—1 1/16; $2500; 3-year-olds; claiming.
Sunnip ..... 119 | Close Up 115
Raw Recruit ..... 106 | Chance Mate 116
Michigan Smart ..... 108 | Miss Lovable 111
7—1⅛; $2500; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Historicic ..... 120 | Hannah B. 105
Scotch Trap ..... 120 | Jan One 111
Betty's Bobby ..... 117 | Sonnet Key 105
Calaprox 111

EMPIRE CITY SELECTIONS (FAST)
1—Note, Bollinger, Frontier Jane.
2—Watts Girl, High Vallis, Hat Maker.
3—Topsy Rose, Which Cup, Vrondi.
4—Old Grad, Richmond, Puffed Up.
5—First Admiral, Ayah's Boy, Bay Magic.
6—SUNNIP, Chance Mate, Close Up.
7—Scotch Trap, Historicic, Betty's Bobby.
—Louisville Times (F).

Results

1—5½; $2000; 3-year-olds up; claiming.
Reformatory, 122 (Atk'son) 3.00 2.30 2.20
†Note, 111 (Snider) 2.70 2.40
Third Rail, 111 (Guerin) 3.00
To Town James, Darby Drucele, Dot Gee Kay, Alatomo, Royal Welsta, †Elcinap, Delmos also ran. Time, 1:12 4-5.
†Mrs. R. H. Crawford and W. S. Jacobs entry.
2—5½; $3000; 3-year-olds; allowances.
Copper Boy, 109 (Atkinson) 7.10 3.90 3.10
Mountained, 114 (Permane) 4.40 3.10
Steel Chain, 107 (Roberts) 4.50
Febridge, Cabourg, Friary Teddy also ran. Time, 1:13.

DAILY DOUBLE PAID $17.20.

3—5½; $3000; 2-year-olds; allowances.
Big First, 114 (Atkinson) 4.20 2.50 2.20
Ace Skipper, 114 (Roberts) 2.60 2.30
Thor, 114 (Wright) 2.50
Ball Shot, Star Batter, Good Ground also ran. Time, 1:11 1-5.
4—1 1/16; $3000; 2-year-olds; claiming.
Up Front, 113 (Meade) 16.50 7.80 4.10
Lloyd's, 117 (Wright) 4.20 2.90
Houigate, 106 (Permane) 3.10
Hairanette, Reason, Stage Bond, Epicure also ran. Time, 1:47 4-5.
5—5½; $10,000; all ages; handicap.
Breezing Home, 109 (Meade) 11.00 4.50 out
Brownie, 121 (Guerin) ..... 3.40 out
Arie Lad, 123 (Mehrtens) ..... out
Harvard Square also ran. Time, 1:11 4-5.
6—1 1/16; $3500; 3-year-olds up; handicap.
Bold Dan, 109 (Mehrtens) 30.80 9.80 5.00
Light of Morn, 119 (Atkinson) 3.20 2.60
Gambling Andy, 102 (Thacker) 4.40
Coat of Arms, Quiz, Swimmin' Hole, Free Dutch also ran. Time, 1:45 4-5.
7—1 1/16; $3500; 3-year-olds up; handicap.
Le Havre, 115 (Meade) 7.50 4.40 3.10
Flaught, 119 (Atkinson) 4.50 3.20
Noview, 117 (Pittarelli) 3.10
Old Union, Victim, Fire Sticky, Peace Fleet also ran. Time, 1:45 2-5.

Jake Powell Denies He's Quitting Nats

Jake Powell, Washington outfielder, will continue in baseball despite his appointment to the Montgomery County police force, he declared yesterday.

"The stories that I was retiring from baseball are incorrect," said Powell yesterday. "My duties with the police force are only temporary and my appointment is on a 60-day basis."

Powell was sworn in as a member of the county police at Rockville, Md., yesterday.

"I expect to be with the Washington club next season," said the 35-year-old outfielder, "and I am advising Mr. Clark Griffith that there is no truth to the report I am quitting the game. I intend to play baseball as long as I am a big leaguer. I won't play in the minors."

Post Consensus

AT JAMAICA (Fast)
1—Note, Frontier Jane, Listing.
2—Lakonia, High Vallis, Lady Veleska.
3—Which Cup, Happy Forecast, Vrondi.
4—RICHMOND, Bay Angler, Old Grad.
5—Ayah's Boy, First Admiral, Still Life.
6—Michigan Smart, Sunnip, Miss Lovable.
7—Hannah B., Jan One, Scotch Trap.

AT PIMLICO (Fast)
1—Gallant Son, Rough Shower, Sunmoor.
2—Haval Tinty, Got There, Spirit Level.
3—Rollo, Mad Policy, Simoon.
4—JACK MADIGAN, Ranch Rider, Temeru.
5—Edemgee, Big Push, Black Gang.
6—Plane Shadow, Beggar, Doodonough.
7—Molasses Bill, Manadroit, Miss Identity.
8—Our Birthday, Ringsway, Assailant.

• BE DISCRIMINATING Drink America's UNEXCELLED WHISKEY

Records & Goldsborough, Inc.
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND
ESTABLISHED 1885
THE STRAIGHT WHISKIES IN THIS PRODUCT ARE 6 YRS. OR MORE OLD.

Millions Say "When" with William Penn
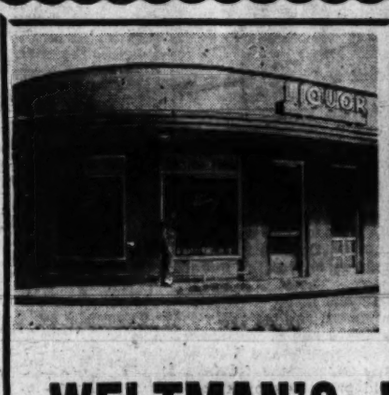
Gem of the Blends
Blended Whiskey, 86 proof. 65% grain neutral spirits
GOODERHAM & WORTS LTD.
Peoria, Illinois



THRIFTY
BEVERAGE STORES

WELTMAN'S LIQUOR STORE
East Capitol and Minnesota Avenue (in Greenway Shopping Center) TRinidad 5000

David J. "Thrifty" Weltman, one of the many Thrifty Beverage Store dealers, is ready to serve you with your favorite brand. Drop in if you're in his neighborhood . . . or at the bottom, right, you'll see the Thrifty Beverage Store in your section of the city.

There's One In Your Neighborhood

The Lowest Price Yet for Such a FINE WHISKEY

SCOOP

DUGGAN'S
Perfect Blend, Smooth WHISKEY
2.79 FIFTH

25% straight whiskey, three to seven years old; 75% pure grain neutral spirits; 86 proof.

At Your Thrifty Beverage Store

IT'S BACK AGAIN!

The superbly blended Duggan's whiskey you liked so well a few years back . . . and NOW at Thrifty Beverage Stores AT A NEW LOW INTRODUCTORY PRICE. You will enjoy Duggan's velvety smoothness . . . with its 25% of three to seven-year-old aged-in-the-wood whiskies . . . and the balance of pure, neutral grain spirits.

It's perfect for "down-the-hatch" drinking, with cocktails, highballs and holiday egg-nog.

Buy a bottle today at your neighborhood "Thrifty" store. One sample of its mellow goodness will bring you back tomorrow for a case. And it's not a bit too early to think about your Christmas gifts.

Whiskey In Case Lots At Less Than O. P. A. Ceiling Prices

California's Finest
ROM

The Gentler Sex

By Malvina Lindsay

Women at the Telephone

In the words of an old-line Democratic Party leader in Virginia, "the women are talking a lot on the telephone."

He was referring to the campaigning of women supporters of Elizabeth Chilton Murray, who is running as an Independent Democrat for Representative in Congress from probably the most rock-ribbed conservative district in the United States, the Eighth of Virginia.

However, women are also "talking a lot on the telephone" in other places, to wit, the State of Illinois, where Emily Taft Douglas, daughter of the sculptor, and wife of a University of Chicago professor, is opposing Representative Stephen A. Day, isolationist leader, for Representative at large. They are "talking a lot" all over the United States, where more women, than ever before in an election, are seeking seats in Congress. The Democratic Party has 12 candidates, the Republicans six, including its four present women Representatives.

It is not of course that women are backing their own sex against men. But many of the women running for Congress have been active in public affairs and have widespread support in women's organizations. Also, some of the candidates were induced by women voters to run for office.

Feminine Revolt

Mrs. Murray's candidacy grew out of a feminine uprising. Women supporters talked her into her daring step of opposing Representative Howard Smith, 14 years in Congress, and two other men opponents, Republican Lawrence Michael, and Socialist Clark Robb.

Her attitude toward running for public office was typical of the average women. She was too busy with her home and her family, which includes a husband, three sons in service, and two daughters in college. She didn't want to give up her other jobs, such as being Red Cross chairman of home nursing for Fairfax County, being in charge of salvage for the county, serving on the executive committee of the Fairfax Voters' League.

She wasn't sure of what support she would get. Would the women stand by her? Wouldn't it cost a lot of money? Also, her friends warned her she'd ruin her health, that people would say "awful things" about her, and that she was "too much of a lady to mess with politics." She explains in one sentence how she felt—"I didn't want to get out of my rut."

However, there were things her women supporters felt deeply about, believed she might remedy, if elected. One was that their children were handicapped by having only an 11-year school term, instead of the prevailing 12-year one. Another was lack of hot school lunches. Still another was low pay of school teachers.

"Get a man to run," Mrs. Murray repeatedly told them. No man could be found. The primaries passed. Mrs. Murray went as a delegate to the State convention. She didn't like the way things were run—to put it mildly. She filed as an Independent Democrat.

Telephone Brigade

Now women are campaigning for her in all sorts of ways over the old stamping grounds of the "barons of Virginia." They telephone endlessly, they ring doorbells, they hold teas and receptions, they gather their neighbors in and talk to them. Mrs. Murray's convervative Virginia relatives have accepted her candidacy calmly, some even with enthusiasm. A cousin, Miss Elizabeth Steptoe, of Charlottesville, is busy on the telephone working, she says, not for the relative but for "the woman." In Virginian fashion, her men supporters are telling that she is "a fine lady from a fine family."

Daughter of the late Senator William E. Chilton of West Virginia, and married to Douglas Murray, who has his roots deep in the Old Dominion, Mrs. Murray is widely related throughout the State, where she is the first woman ever to run for Congress. Her mother, now in her 70's, recently "entered politics" by going as a West Virginia delegate to the recent Democratic national convention at Chicago.

Mrs. Murray's woman sponsored campaign, the interest centering in the Connecticut race between Representative Clare Luce and Margaret E. Connors, the feminine campaigning behind Emily Taft Douglas and Ruth Grandy Fillingham in Illinois, behind Chase Going Woodhouse in Connecticut, and other prominent women candidates indicates that women at last are actively interested in politics. It also may be a manifestation of what Il Popolo, Rome newspaper, was talking about when it recently commented, "There is a revolution going on in this country, and women appear to be taking the initiative in everything."

Hyla McAllen, Mr. Bransom Are Married

Wedding of Miss Hyla Naomi McAllen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Irving McAllen of Richmond, Va., and Ensign Richard King Bransom took place Saturday at 7 p. m. in the chapel of St. James' Episcopal Church, New London, Conn. Ceremony was performed before an altar of palms and white chrysanthemums, with Chaplain Cooper, USN, officiating.

Bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white taffeta, fashioned with round neckline and yoke edged with lace ruffle, long tight sleeves ending in lace ruffles over the hands, tight bodice and full circular train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was held with an orange blossom tiara. She carried a white prayer book with an orchid showered with sweetpeas.

Miss Annie Beryl Gannet was maid of honor. She was attired in aquamarine taffeta with sweetheart neckline, tight bodice and full skirt. Her arm bouquet was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Bransom of Washington, had his brother, J. Bruce Bransom, as best man. A reception followed at the Navy Officers' Club. Couple will be at home in New London, where Ensign Bransom is attending submarine school.

Paraguayan Envoy Visiting Washington

On his first visit to the United States and to Washington is Dr. Juan Manuel Alvarez, Ambassador of Paraguay to Mexico, who is spending a few weeks in this country before returning to the Paraguayan Embassy in Mexico City.

Senor Alvarez, who was his country's Minister to Bolivia, in 1942, and has also been chairman of the board of qualifications of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Paraguay, has been stationed in Mexico for the last three months. With Senora de Alvarez, the distinguished diplomat plans to spend a few days in New York and then return to Washington on his way back to Mexico.

When Senor Alvarez recently visited Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan American Union, he was accompanied by the Paraguayan Ambassador, D. Celso R. Velazquez.

Harris & Ewing.

AIR FORCES ENTHUSIAST is Mrs. Jack C. Hodgson, whose husband Colonel Hodgson commands the USAAF in Central Canada. Time she can spare away from housekeeping duties in Cleveland Park and attending son, Jack, is spent at the office of the National Association of Air Forces Women, an organization of Air Corps wives headed by Mrs. H. H. Arnold, wife of General Arnold

EOSRA Dance Set Saturday

Lieut. (j. g.) Eddie Albert, USNR, former stage and screen actor, will be master of ceremonies at the first annual fall dance of the executive office of the secretary, Recreation Association, Navy Department, Saturday evening at the Shoreham. Guests of honor will be Vice Admiral Samuel M. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson, Rear Admiral Alex M. Charlton and Mrs. Charlton, Rear Admiral Henry Williams and Mrs. Williams, Rear Admiral James M. Irish and Mrs. Irish.

Miss Eddie Poindexter will be featured vocalist on the program during intermission.

Troth Revealed By Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Bazil Mroczkowski, New Bedford, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Mary Mroczkowski, to Henry Bernard Meckowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Meckowski, Syracuse, N. Y.

The bride-elect was graduated

MISS FRANCES MROCZKOWSKI
. . . fiance overseas

from Bryant College, Providence, R. I., attended George Washington University. She is an employe of U. S. Maritime Commission. Mr. Meckowski was graduated from premedical schoool at Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y. He attended Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., is now serving with the Army Medical Corps in Italy.

Couple plan to marry upon his return from overseas duty.

Ration Points For Today

NOVEMBER 2, 1944.

BEEFSTEAKS, roasts, canned milk, butter, margarine, cheese—Red stamps A-8, B-8, C-8, D-8, E-8, F-8, G-8, H-8, J-8, K-8, L-8, M-8, N-8, P-8, Q-8, R-8, S-8, T-8, U-8, V-8, W-8. Red tokens may be used as change. Stamps A-5 through P-5 valid.

PROCESSED FOODS — Canned vegetables, fruits, soups, juices, etc. Blue stamps A-8, B-8, C-8, D-8, E-8, F-8, G-8, H-8, J-8, K-8, L-8, M-8, N-8, P-8, Q-8, R-8, S-8, T-8, U-8, V-8, W-8, X-8, Y-8, Z-8, A-5, B-5, C-5, D-5, E-5, F-5, G-5, H-5, J-5, K-5, L-5, M-5, N-5, P-5, Q-5 and R-5, valid indefinitely. Stamps S-5 through W-5 valid.

FATS—Used fats are worth 4 cents and 2 red ration points per pound.

SUGAR—Stamps 30, 31, 32, 33, valid indefinitely. Stamp 40 worth 5 pounds of sugar for home canning valid through February 1945.

FUEL OIL—Period 4 and 5 coupons good through August 31, 1945. New period 1 coupons good for 10 gallons.

SHOES—Airplane stamps 1, 2 and 3 valid indefinitely.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Wife of Navy Man Now at Sea on First Trip Has Lost 15 Pounds Due to Frantic Anxiety; Fearing Nervous Collapse, She Asks Advice

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a Navy wife, verging on a nervous breakdown. My husband has gone out on his first trip, and I don't know where he is or when I'll see him again. I have a feeling that there is no future for us and he is constantly on my mind. If anything should happen to him, my life would be over, as he means the whole world to me. I have talked to other service wives and they feel the same way, but I am by far the worst.

I've lost 15 pounds and my doctor has given me injections for nerves, but they don't seem to help. I can't even bear to think of the coming winter without my husband. We had been married three years when he joined the service last January. At present, I am living with my uncle and aunt, and working in a defense plant in their city, although keeping up our home in a nearby town. But I don't think I can stay here much longer, as I can't bear to see other people being happy. They don't seem to realize there's a war going on.

Sense of Loss
Tortures Her

WE service wives need help as much as the boys. We would much rather be out there with them than waiting at home for God knows what. The boys are kept so busy they don't have time to think, and they are all in the same boat, but their wives must bear up alone. We haven't any children; and I'm sure it would have helped me if I had at least one. I wanted to join the Waves, but my husband said, "No." He wants me home in case he gets leave.

Won't you please help me, before I lose my mind completely. If I go home, I'll have to live alone, and yet I can't bear to stay here. I know my work does not require enough concentration. It leaves me free to think all day; and once you start thinking, there's no stopping until you lose all control of it.

H. B.

Acute Form
Of Self-Pity

DEAR H. B.: Your cry-baby abandonment to self-pity is a disgraceful performance, all things considered. One wonders what kind of letters you are writing your husband, in your present mood of passionate pessimism. They must make rather crucifying reading for him. As I see your problem, you have a choice of acting your age or going to pieces. Nobody but you can subdue your hysterics.

What are you proving in freely lending your mind to a wild orgy of subjective tortures?—in sleepwalking daily amidst imaginary scenes of total bereavement? Just this: That you are, by psychological definition, in full flight from reality; that on first panicky impulse, you fundamentally prefer to take refuge in the mental oblivion of madness, if necessary, rather than brave the prospect of walking alone, by reason's light, under the weight of grievous spiritual cross, on the rocky road of life for as long as fate may require.

Guard Portals
Of Your Mind

HERE is your situation: You are riding hard towards the living death of mental collapse. But you are taking that road from craven choice,—because it is easier to surrender to terror than to conquer it,—not for any other reason. The hour grows late for heading back toward normalcy, but you can turn back yet if you will, and take your place in the magnificent processional of heroic people who are going about the business of "life as usual," these days, even while bearing unprecedented burdens of loneliness, work, sorrow and worry.

To recover balance: (1) You must dedicate yourself sincerely to the proposition of helping yourself. (2) Then you must establish thought-control, by imposing rigid censorship on the subjects your mind is to entertain. As the saying goes, "You can't beat something with nothing,"—so, as your own mental hygienist, you must counteract the temptation to brood by consciously concentrating, constantly, on ennobling thought-substance. As a powerful aid in emergency, I recommend Dr. Emmet Fox's book, "Power Through Constructive Thinking,"—with special reference to his essay, "The Secret Place," an interpretation of the Ninety-first Psalm. The volume is published by Harper & Brothers. M. H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column; not by mail or personal interview.

Szymczaks Plan To Live in Capital

Announcement has been made of the marriage on Friday in Atlanta, Ga., of Mrs. Morag MacLeol Zamoyski to M. S. Szymczak, a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Neely. Mr. and Mrs. Szymczak will reside in Washington.

Weirs Take Wedding Trip To New York

In New York on a wedding trip are Lieut. John Gordon Weir, Air Corps, USA, and his bride, the former Lynn Davis, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Charles J. Davis. They were married at St. Margaret's Episcopal Church Monday at 5:30 p. m. Lieutenant Weir, son of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. John M. Weir, had his father as best man. The Rev. Armand T. Eyler officiated.

Bride, given in marriage by her father, wore traditional white satin of classic simplicity, with scalloped train trimmed with tailored bows. The veil of imported illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and extended to the end of the train. Her bouquet was formed with gladioli petals centered with orchids, beneath which she carried a white prayer book carried by the bridegroom's mother when she was wedded. The new Mrs. Weir wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Lelia Echols, student at Hollins College, was her cousin's only attendant. She wore white faille with a cascade of ruffles forming a slight train. Her bouquet was of red roses, matched with a coronet of similar flowers in her hair.

Ushers were Charles J. Davis, jr., Lieut. Col. William M. Connor, jr., and Lieut. Lynn Lerch. A reception at the Weir home followed.

The bridegroom will be stationed at Westover Field, Mass. The bride attended Edgewood Park, Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., was graduated from Marjorie Webster School. Lieutenant Weir is a member of the 1944 graduating class of the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.

Mercy House Food, Apron Sale Is Today

Annual food and apron sale will be held today at the House of Mercy, Rosemont st. and Klingle rd. nw., 1 to 6 p. m.

This home is maintained for young, white unmarried mothers and their babies. The girls, usually between 15 and 20, remain for a year, during which they are given training, instruction and spiritual guidance under Deaconess Yeo, who has been in charge for more than 40 years. There will be a group of members to show visitors through the house, and tea will be served between 4 and 6.

All sorts of home-cooked food—cakes, pies, candies, jams, jellies, pickles—and aprons made by the girls, as well as miscellaneous articles, will be sold. Mrs. Charles Sheerin is chairman.

Guests may reach the house by taking the bus at Irving and 17th sts., marked Tenley Circle or Westmoreland Circle, or the crosstown bus from Porter st. and Connecticut ave., getting out at Walbridge pl. Also the bus from Park rd. at 19th st. to Klingle rd., or riding to the end of Mount Pleasant carline and walking down Park rd. to Klingle rd. and turning left to Rosemont.

Underwood & Underwood

MRS. JOHN GORDON WEIR
. . . on New York honeymoon

Sulgrave Club Dance Setting

Mrs. French Myers and Mrs. Lee Murphy will receive at the officers midweek dance tonight at Sulgrave Club, the second in the winter series. Miss Catherine Hambly, Miss Sheila Brokerick and Miss Nancy Mayo, with their escorts, will serve as a floor committee.

Preceding the dance, Miss Edna Lais, daughter of Mrs. Leonor Evans Lais, will be hostess at dinner at her home for a group of young officers and girls. Guests will include Senoritas Silvia and Christina Brull, daughter of the Minister Counselor of the Cuban Embassy and Senora de Brull.

A special program of entertainment has been arranged for this party and, as always, there will be a surprise feature to be presented just before the midnight supper.

Greek Bazaar Closes Tonight; Notable Assist

The second and last day of the Greek bazaar is today from 2 to 10 p. m. at the United Nations War Relief Center, Inc., 1720 I st., sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Washington Greek War Relief. Proceeds will go toward a mobile canteen to be sent to Greece.

Presiding today—as they did yesterday—at the tea table will be Mrs. Harlan Fiske Stone, wife of the Chief Justice; Mrs. Truxton Beale, Mrs. Robert Woods Bliss, Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, Mrs. Wade Ellis, Mrs. Gilbert Hitchcock, Mrs. David Foote Sellers, Mrs. Frederick Brooke, Mrs. William L. Clayton, Mrs. William D. Connor, Mrs. Powell Clayton, Mrs. Bruce Smith, Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Mrs. Burks Summers, Mrs. Leo Brison Norris, Mrs. J. Butler Wright, Mrs. Kemper Williams and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman.

Phoebe Fitz, Capt. Wallace Are Betrothed

Of interest to Washington is the announcement by Dr. and Mrs. Reginald Fitz, Boston, of the engagement of their daughter, Phoebe Marian, to Capt. William J. Wallace, AUS. The bride-elect is a captain in the Wac.

Captain Wallace is son of Mrs. William J. Wallace of Hempstead, New Kent County, and Richmond, Va., and the late Mr. Wallace, and a brother of Mrs. Edward Stettinius, wife of the Undersecretary of State.

Captain Fitz made her debut in Boston several seasons ago and is a graduate of McGill University, Montreal. Captain Wallace attended Episcopal High School, Alexandria, Va., and the University of Virginia School of Architecture. Both Captain Fitz and Captain Wallace are stationed in Washington.

No date has been set for the wedding.

for family colds!

You can rely on SITROUX Tissues! They dry up the sniffles fast, because they're so absorbent. Easy on over-blown noses, because there's not a scratch in a carload.

Get SITROUX Tissues—in the smart vanity package—and keep them handy for colds, facial cleansings, removing lipstick, spilled liquids—and general use.

Tissue manufacturers are faced with raw material shortages and production difficulties . . . but we are doing our level best to supply you with as many Sitroux Tissues as possible. And, like all others, we are doing our best to make the finest quality tissues under present government restrictions. For your understanding and patience our appreciation and thanks!

SITROUX TISSUES
SAY SIT-TRUE

Whiter Clearer Softer Skin with Mercolized WAX CREAM

This summer watch out. Has your skin grown darker, maybe freckled, look older and less attractive? Do what thousands of smart women are doing for Fall loveliness. Use MERCOLIZED WAX CREAM. It helps you lighten freckles, invisibly peels coarsened, darkened skin. You will notice your skin growing clearer and whiter. It will feel softer and smoother, look younger and fresher. Make MERCOLIZED WAX CREAM your double duty powder base. Helps block out old Sol's rays and does a clearing up job at the same time. Start today. Just follow directions.

Try SAXOLITE ASTRINGENT. Refreshes, temporarily contracts loose surface tissue.

You see, it's made from the famous C & B ENGLISH RECIPE

Not Rationed

Ask for it by Name

TOPS IN FOOD VALUE and FLAVOR

Eat Breyers all-ways ICE CREAM

GENUINE HOOVER SERVICE!

Give Your HOOVER NEW LIFE . . . with Hoover Company Service

Low cost. Guaranteed work. Estimates furnished. 48-hour service.

Take no chances—get genuine Hoover Company service and parts at lowest cost. No one else can do it right. For example:

$2.84 ONLY

MOTOR cleaned, lubricated, new carbon brushes installed
AGITATOR or BRUSH ROLL cleaned and lubricated
BELT replaced
BAG completely renovated
CORD, SWITCH, all electrical connections checked
APPEARANCE improved
CLEANING EFFICIENCY restored

Call The HOOVER COMPANY
Factory Branch Service Station: 1305 Rhode Island Ave., N. E. • Dupont 4677

When you're "Serving" the Men in Service

IT'S MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE TIME!

Happy hours of friendly good cheer! There's no better time for a steaming cup of the famous Maxwell House blend!

Because 1 FINE QUALITY COFFEES are skillfully selected from sun-swept Latin-American plantations for richness . . . mellowness . . . and vigor. This is the first step toward Maxwell House quality and coffee at its best!

Because 2 EXPERT BLENDING combines the best features of each superb coffee in the one unmatched Maxwell House blend. Every pound is deeply satisfying—every cupful, truly good!

Because 3 RADIANT ROASTING develops every coffee bean evenly to the peak of its perfection. Vacuum-packing seals in the delicious goodness, roaster-fresh. No wonder extra-flavored Maxwell House is always so Good to the Last Drop!

A Product of General Foods

That's why MORE people buy MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE than any other brand in the world

GOOD TO THE LAST DROP!

It's Maxwell House Coffee Time on the Air, too . . . the new Frank Morgan show . . . NBC, Thursday Night

TERRY

SEE, WILLOW, THAT WAS DOPEY OF ME TO GIVE YOU THE FULL WAC RECRUITING ROUTINE BEFORE FINDING OUT THAT YOU'RE NOT YET 20 YEARS OF AGE!
WHY DON'T YOU COME HAVE DINNER WITH US? WE PROMISE NOT TO TALK WAC SHOP!
I'M REALLY SORRY ABOUT NOT BEING 20... THE WAC AFFAIRS TO ME... I HAVE NO CIVILIZED CLOTHES FOR DINNER! WOULD YOU GO WITH ME TO BUY A DRESS?
LAWSY, YES, HONEY CHILE! I HAVEN'T SEEN THE INSIDE OF A DRESS SHOP IN SO LONG, I'LL PROBABLY CLAW THE PRETTIES! CARRY ON!
MEANWHILE...
ZOUNDS, NON CAPITAINE TIMBLIN, -THE ARRIVAL OF OL' HOTSHOT CHARLIE AND FRIEND SEEMS TO HAVE CAUSED SOMETHING LESS THAN A FURORE!
HOWEVER, WHEN WE HAVE REPORTED TO COLONEL CORKIN AND LOOKED UP TERRY LEE, THE GENERAL WILL HEAR THE GLAD TIDINGS AND OFFER TO SHARE HIS QUARTERS WITH US! IS IT NOT SO?
MAYBE I SHOULD HAVE STAYED IN THE CAVALRY!

MARY WORTH

CAN'T YOU REMEMBER ANYTHING ABOUT THE TOWN YOU CAME FROM, MONICA?
NOTHING, MRS. WORTH! --NO!-- WAIT A SECOND! I DO GET A GLIMMER...
A SECTION OF THE CITY CALLED--"THE CIRCLE"--OR "THE CURVE"--SOMETHING LIKE THAT...
THERE'S A "CIRCLE" IN INDIANAPOLIS--!
NO--I'M SURE I WAS NEVER THERE--TRY SOME OTHER NAMES--"THE HOOK?"--NO DICE!
HOW ABOUT "THE LOOP?"
THAT'S IT!
THEN YOU MUST HAVE COME HERE FROM CHICAGO! NOW WE'RE MAKING PROGRESS!

MICKEY FINN

THAT'S RIGHT, BOYS! --HOOEY HAS BEEN TAKING PROTECTION MONEY FROM ME EVER SINCE HE'S BEEN SHERIFF!
CAN YOU PROVE THAT STATEMENT, DALY?
I'LL SAY I CAN! I'VE GOT A PICTURE OF ME PAYIN' HIM OFF! IT WAS TAKEN THROUGH A SLIDING PANEL THAT I HAD BUILT INTO THE WALL OF MY OFFICE, WHEN I TOOK OVER THE HIPPER-DIPPER CLUB!
WHERE'S THE PICTURE, NOW?
CHARLEY YATES, AT THE CLUB, KNOWS WHERE IT IS! GIMME A HUNK OF PAPER --I'LL TELL HIM TO GIVE IT TO YOU!
HERE! WRITE IT ON MY PAD!
--AND PUT IT ON THE FRONT PAGE!
DON'T WORRY! THAT'S WHERE IT'LL GO!

MYRTLE

WHO TOOK MY HAT OUT OF THIS CLOSET!
I SUPPOSE IT'S FUNNY TO HIDE HATS.
I'M SURE IT'S RIGHT WHERE YOU PUT IT!
SCRATCH YOUR HEAD, POP. MAYBE THAT WILL HELP YOU REMEMBER!
HOME SWEET HOME
YOO HOO!

DIXIE DUGAN

SURPRISE!
WOW! LOOKIT THAT SPREAD!
BOY, OR BOY! THIS IS TH' LIFE!
THIS IS A TERRIFIC PARTY, DIXIE! I DON'T KNOW WHEN I'VE HAD SO MUCH FUN!-- LOOK--LET'S GO UP TO THE TOWER --I'D LIKE TO TALK TO YOU ALONE!
WHY--SURE, DENNY!
DID YOU SAY ALONE?

DON WINSLOW

LOOKS LIKE THE CLENCHED FIST HAS LOST TWO FINGERS!
NOW FACE THAT DOOR AND START MARCHING!
ALL RIGHT, MA'AM, I'M MARCHIN'!
WHAT'S THE SHOOTIN' ABOUT?
FROG KILLED THE THUMB AND I KILLED THE FROG!
BOYS, THE CLENCHED FIST NEEDS REORGANIZATION! FROM NOW ON I'M CHIEF EXECUTIVE! UNDERSTAND?

CHIEF WAHOO and STEVE ROPER

WHAT'S THE ANGLE, MR. STRONG? --JUST A PHOTO --APPARENTLY SHOT IN MY CLUB!
LOOK CLOSELY, SNAPPER!
THOSE WAITERS ARE ROBBING MRS. DOUBLEDAY PRESN! ROPER TOOK THIS PICTURE AND I THINK YOU--
STEADY!-- BEFORE YOU TALK YOURSELF INTO A LIBEL SUIT, WHY DON'T YOU CALL MRS. PRESN!
I'LL DO IT, SNAPPER! --AND CALL YOUR BLUFF AT THE SAME TIME!
WHAT'S THAT?--MY "SHAH" DIAMOND MISSING?--DON'T BE ABSURD!--MY MAID IS JUST PUTTING IT IN MY JEWEL CASE!

WINNIE WINKLE

I'M GOIN' IN AN' SEE WINNIE! IT'S GOOD TO HAVE HER BACK AGAIN!
I'LL SAY IT IS--- AFTER DOING HER WORK AND MINE!!
WELL, FOR GOO'NESS SAKE, DAISY--- WHAT'S GOING ON HERE???
ALL I DONE WAS ASK WINNIE IF SHE HAD A GOOD TIME IN WASHINGTON!!

KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED

SO THE POLICE AREN'T INTERESTED IN PREVENTING CRIME?
..WELL, I'LL SHOW YOU, YOUNG LADY!
OH!
..AND YOUR YARN ABOUT MISS PRUDENCE PLENTY BEING IN DANGER BETTER BE GENUINE!
BELIEVE ME... I WISH IT WEREN'T!

Sentence of Woman Who Took Child Cut

Allegan, Mich., Nov. 1 (AP).—Under a new sentence handed down today, Mrs. Maebelle Waite, 44, childless wife of an Army private in France, will serve a 30-day term in county jail for taking a neighbor's child and claiming the infant boy was hers.

Judge Fred T. Miles rescinded the sentence of 10 months to five years which he imposed Monday because of Mrs. White's husband and because she is needed in her home here.

What's Going On And Where

Entertainment for Service Men and Women

Victory Canteen for Servicemen, 1113 Pennsylvania ave. nw., 10 a. m.

Army-Navy Masonic Servicemen's Center, 13th st. and New York ave. nw., 1 p. m.

Servicemen's Ticket Booth, E st. and Pennsylvania ave. nw., free tickets for movies, dances and lectures, 4 to 8:30 p. m.

Pepsi-Cola Canteen for Servicemen of the United Nations, 13th and O sts. nw., checking, showers and lounge, all day.

USO, 801 Market sp. nw., 6 p. m.; voice recording, 7:30 p. m., arts and craft class.

USO, 1911 H st. nw., crafts, 8 p. m.

Stage Door Canteen, 8 p. m.; Hal Black's Orchestra and acts, 8:30 p. m.; Matt Windsor, Windsor Room, 9:30 p. m., Frank J. Goven, accordionist.

Swimming, servicemen, USO, Jewish Welfare Board, 1529 16th st. nw., 12 noon to 10:15 p. m.

Dance, Officers' Service Club, 1644 21st st. nw., 8:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m.

Exhibits

National Zoological Park, 8:30 a. m.; buildings, Smithsonian Institution, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

National Gallery of Art, Smithsonian Institution, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Corcoran Gallery of Arts, 12 noon to 4:30 p. m.

Folger Shakespeare Library, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Luncheons and Meetings

Kiwanis Club, luncheon, Mayflower Hotel, 12:30 p. m.

Luncheon, Phi Delta Theta, Olmsted Grill, 12:30 p. m.

Luncheon, Junior Board, Hotel Annapolis, 12:30 p. m.

Luncheon, Cornell Men, Sheraton, 12:30 p. m.

Meeting, Washington Youth Chorus, Universalist Church, 16th and S sts. nw., 8 to 10 p. m.

Luncheon, National Capital Optimist Club, Continental Hotel, 12:30 p. m.

Luncheon, Road Gang, Cabinet Room, Willard Hotel, 12:30 p. m.

Luncheon, Federal Bar Association, Parlor, AB, Willard Hotel, 12:30 p. m.

Dinner and Dance, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Congressional Room, Willard Hotel, dinner, 7:30 p. m.; dance, 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Officers' Dance Club of Alexandria, regular dance, 9:30 p. m., Gadsby Tavern, in Alexandria.

WANT TO MAKE SOME EXTRA MONEY?

For that extra jingle in your pocket, get a job as a Washington Post carrier. It won't interfere with your after-school sports! Call National 4200 to inquire about a route in your neighborhood.

Today's Radio Programs

Thursday, Nov. 2 — Washington — Eastern War Time

	WMAL 630	WRC 980	WOL 1260	WINX 1340	WWDC 1450	WTOP 1500
	News, 6, 7, 8:30, Prelude, 6:05, Town Clock, 7:10, 7:45, 8-9, David Wills, 7:45.	News, 6, 7, 7:55, 8:30, Bill Henson, 6:05-7 7:15-7:55, 8:15-9, World Roundup, 8.	Dawn Patrol to 6:30, Art Brown, 6:35-9:30, News, 6:30, 7:30, 8 and 8:30.	Jerry Strong, 6-9, News, 6, 7, 7:30, 8, Wake Up With WINX, 7:05, 8:05.	News, 6, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, Serenade, 6:05, Mike Hunnicutt, 7, 7:35, 8:05, Crowley, 6:45.	Corn Squeezing Time, 5:45-6:45, News, 6:45, 7:30 & 8, Godfrey, 7-9:15, Mahoney, 7:40.
9 :00	The Breakfast Club	Mirth and Madness	Art Brown at the Organ	News; Music in Air	Cash; Mike Hunnicutt	News, Godfrey
:15	" " "	" " "	" "	Music in the Air	Mike Hunnicutt	Home Service Daily
:30	" " "	News	Listen Ladies!	Traffic Court	News; Mike Hunnicitt	CBS Air Theater
:45	" " "	Broadway Melodies	" "	" "	Mike Hunnicutt	(School of the Air)
10 :00	My True Story	Lora Lawton	Easy Rhythm	News; Music Hall	Cash; Bing Crosby	Valiant Lady
:15	" " "	News of the World	Mr. Moneybags	" " "	Crosby; Miss. Persons	Light of the World
:30	Dairy Program	Finders Keepers	Shady Valley Folks	" " "	News; Alice Lane	This Changing World
:45	Listening Post	" "	" "	" " "	Alice Lane	Bachelor Children
11 :00	Breakfast at Sardi's	Road of Life	News; Billy Repaid	News; Symphony	Cash; Alice Lane	Honeymoon Hill
:15	" " "	Rosemary	Morning Serenade	Mendelssohn's	Alice Lane	Second Husband
:30	Ruth Crane	Star Playhouse	Paul C. Bragg	Violin Concerto No. 1	News; Morning	Bright Horizon
:45	" "	David Harum	What's Your Idea	" "	Matinee	Aunt Jenny
12 :00	News, Evans	News; Novelette	News; Beake Carter	News; First Call Home	Password, Please	Kate Smith Speaks
:15	Little Show	Look to This Day	Music Mixers	Luncheon Music	" "	Big Sister
:30	Glamour Manor	Matinee Today	U. S. Navy Band	Weather; Luncheon	News; Music	Helen Trent
:45	" "	" "	" "	Music	Blessed Eventer	Our Gal Sunday
1 :00	Baukhage Talking	Nancy Osgood	News; Walter Compton	WINX News	All Sports Parade	Life Can Be Beautiful
:15	Jack Berch	" "	Terry's House Party	Musical Bouquets	Tony Wakeman	Ma Perkins
:30	Music Box	Carolyn Gilbert	Medicine at War	" "	All Sports Parade	News, Bernadine Flynn
:45	" "	Morgan Beatty	Russ Hodges	" "	Tony Wakeman	The Goldbergs
2 :00	Music Box	Guiding Light	News, Cedric Foster	News; Club Caravan	All Sports Parade	Joyce Jordan
:15	" "	Today's Children	Russ Hodges	Club Caravan	Tony Wakeman	Two on a Clue
:30	Ladies Be Seated	Women in White	Compton; Hodges	" "	All Sports Parade	Young Dr. Malone
:45	" "	Hymns of All Churches	Russ Hodges	" "	Tony Wakeman	Perry Mason
3 :00	Morton Downey	Woman of America	" "	WINX News	All Sports Parade	Mary Marlin
:15	Star Time	Ma Perkins	" "	T for Two	Tony Wakeman	Tena & Tim
:30	Accent on Music	Pepper Young's Family	" "	" " "	All Sports Parade	Janice Grey
:45	" "	Right to Happiness	" "	" " "	Tony Wakeman	News for Women
4 :00	News; Evans	Backstage Wife	Walter Compton	News; Concerto Mod.	All Sports Parade	Service Time
:15	Accent on Music	Stella Dallas	Russ Hodges	Concert Moderne	Tony Wakeman	" "
:30	Military Band D. C.	Lorenzo Jones	Zeb Carver's Orch.	Jam for Supper	All Sports Parade	Texas Rangers
:45	Hop Harrigan	Widow Brown	The Handy Man	" "	Tony Wakeman	" "
5 :00	Terry & the Pirates	When a Girl Marries	Art Brown	News; Music Hall	Band of the Day	Rexall Show
:15	Dick Tracy	Portia Faces Life	" "	Music Hall	Sinatra vs. Crosby	Swing Along Club
:30	Jack Armstrong	Just Plain Bill	Superman	" "	News; Theater	News; Band
:45	Captain Midnight	Front Page Farrell	Tom Mix	" "	Theater of the Air	Stump Us
6 :00	News, Optimists	News, Leif Eid	Sports Resume	WINX News	News; Melody Lane	Mahoney, Costello
:15	Godwin; Sports	H. P. Davis Awards	News, Walter Compton	Dinner Music	Melody Lane	Ned Calmer, Maj. Eliot
:30	Martin Agronsky	" "	Johnson Family	H'wood News; 1st Call	Richard Eaton	"6:30 Show"
:45	Walter Kiernan	Lowell Thomas	Music	World and America	Sports Roundup	News, J. Harsch
7 :00	Fred Waring	Chesterfield Music	News; Fulton Lewis, Jr.	News Roundup	Romantic Rendezvous	I Love a Mystery
:15	" "	News of The World	Today in History	Pop Concert	Holtz; T. Dorsey Orch.	Music That Satisfies
:30	Green Hornet	Bob Burns	American Mercury	Harmony Hall	Talking Pictures	Mr. Keen
:45	" "	" "	Pigskin Parade	" "	Bible Question Box	" "
8 :00	Watch World Go By	Maxwell House Time	News, Frank Singiser	News; Music	Catholic Hour	Suspense
:15	Lum 'n' Abner	" "	Jos. W. Martin	Serenade	" "	" "
:30	B. Stonwyck; Town	Dinah Shore's	Tangee Varieties	Let's Dance	News; 1450 Club	Death Valley
:45	Meeting of the Air	Open House	" "	" "	1450 Club	Sheriff; News
9 :00	" " "	President Roosevelt	News; Gabriel Heatter	News; Symphony	1450 Club	Major Bowes'
:15	" " "	" "	Screen Test	Shostakovich's	" "	Amateur Hour
:30	Spotlight Bands	Joan Davis and	Starlight Serenade	Symphony No. 1	News; 1450 Club	Governor Bricker
:45	" "	Haley; Wm. L. Dawson	" "	" "	1450 Club	" "
10 :00	Ray. Gram Swing	Abbott and Costello	Dem. National Comm.	Charles Pergler	1450 Club	The First Line
:15	Political Speeches	" "	" " "	Places to Go	" "	" "
:30	March of Time	Philip Murray	World's Most	Close Harmony	News; Great Scott	Here's to Romance
:45	" " "	" "	Honored Music	Senator O'Daniel	Great Scott	" "
11 :00	News, Evans	News; Music	News, Billy Repaid	News; Musical	Great Scott	News, Daly and Trout
:15	Hour of Dreams	Richard Harkness	Fulton Lewis, Jr.	Roundup	" "	Arch McDonald's
:30	" " "	New World Music	Nat Brandwynne's Or.	Weather; Slumber	News; Hits of the Day	"Moondial"
:45	" " "	" " "	" "	Music	Hits of the Day	Let's Listen

CANDY

I'VE GOT TO TAKE A FAST POWDER, CANDY! I'LL CALL FOR YOU AFTER PRACTICE!
I'M SIMPLY THRILLED TO TEARS, TED! IMAGINE, I'M GETTING A COMPLETE BEAUTY TREATMENT!
OKAY, SCRUBS, THAT'S ALL FOR TODAY!
WHAT A MESS! I WISH CANDY COULD SEE WHAT I GO THROUGH JUST TO REAP A LITTLE GLORY!
A WOMAN'S LIFE IS A SNAP! ALL THEY HAVE TO DO IS SIT AROUND AND LOOK BEAUTIFUL!
CANDY WILL BE READY IN A JIFFY, TED!
COLLAPSE, GRUESOME! I'LL BE OUT OF THIS RAT TRAP IN NO TIME AT ALL!

JOE PALOOKA

OH, HULLO. WHERE'S JOE--I MEAN PRIVATE PALOOKA?
BON JOOR, MAMSELLE IT'S INDEED A PLEZHURE AS WE SAY IN FRANSAY-- WHY HE'S--
--OVER ON A JOB. HE ONLY TRAINS WHEN HE'S OFF DUTY.
OH, HOW EX-STORD'N'RY. GRUMPOPSKI HAS--WELL I--UH-- D'YA KNOW GRUMPOPSKI??
OH, I MEAN--I NACHERLY HEAR TALK AROUND TOWN-- WHY UH--HE WAS UH-- WERE PLAYIN'--
--WHIST AT A MUCHUAL GIRL FRIENDS HOUSE AN' A FRIEND OF HERS WAS TALKIN' ABOUT THE FIGHT--HE SAID GRUMPOPSKI'S BEEN GIVEN LEAVE T'TRAIN.
WELL, HOW D'YA LIKE THAT, I'M GONNA SEE WE ARE TOO! SAY--UH-DOIN' ANYTHING T'NITE-- HOW ABOUT A HUNK A JIVE AN' A SOUPSONS OF CHINEE FOOD?

SUPERMAN

SUPERMAN ENGAGED TO MARRY ALINE WAIL?!? WELL, I'M NOT PRINTING IT WITHOUT CHECKING. BESIDES, SHE WAS REPORTED ENGAGED TO A MR. AUBREY JONES SOME TIME BACK. UNLESS... HM... WHAT A STORY THAT WOULD BE!
UNLESS WHAT?
UNLESS MR. AUBREY JONES IS SUPERMAN!
NONSENSE! ABSOLUTELY ABSURD! WHY--SUPERMAN COULDN'T BE INTERESTED IN A GIDDY THING LIKE ALINE WAIL!
OR--OR COULD HE?
WHAT ARE YOU LOOKING SO FUNNY ABOUT? GET GOING! SEE ALINE WAIL! SEE JONES! TRY TO CONTACT SUPERMAN! THIS MIGHT BE THE BIGGEST SCOOP OF YOUR CAREER.
I--I HOPE NOT!
EDITOR

JANE ARDEN

MAYBE THIS TIME I'LL GET TO SEE MR. BULLION ALONE FOR A MINUTE-- ABOUT TIME YOU GOT HERE-- I'LL TAKE THAT!
?
MR. BULLION'S LUNCH!
HE CAN'T ENJOY IT BUT I CAN--EH, VON BLEEK?
I'VE GOT TO REACH MR. BULLION-- I'LL HIDE IN THIS LINEN CLOSET UNTIL THE BUTLER LEAVES!

NAPOLEON

Capital Store Sales Up 3% In Nine Months

By S. Oliver Goodman

Washington department store sales in the first nine months this year exceeded y 3 per cent last year exceeded by 3 per cent last period, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond reported yesterday.

The bank added that September volume here was 9 per cent more than in the same 1943 month.

The Fifth Reserve District showed an even more substantial gain, store sales gaining 7 per cent in the nine-month period and 12 per cent in September.

Stocks of goods on hand in local department stores on September 30 were reported unchanged as compared with the same date last year, while the Fifth District inventories were 3 per cent heavier.

September collections on charge accounts in the Capital and in the entire Fifth District were 57 per cent of the amounts due on September 1, the bank's survey showed.

Business Briefs Of D. C. Interest

Yule Bonus Announced

Thomas A. Rota, manager of House & Herrmann Furniture Co., said yesterday that bonuses will be distributed this Christmas upon the following basis:

Two weeks' salary to employes of one year or more, and one weeks' salary to employes of more than six months but less than one year. Former employes now in the armed services will receive from one to two weeks' salary, depending upon their period of service.

Buckley Elected Treasurer

Robert E. Buckley, president of the National Permanent Building Association, has been elected treasurer of the District of Columbia Building and Loan Association. Mr. Buckley succeeds Millard T. Dixon, who retired. (The Post regrets stating erroneously in a story yesterday that Mr. Dixon was re-elected.)

League members elected one new director, Carl H. Ellingson, executive vice president of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association. Reelected directors are: Elmer J. Carlson, Martin A. Cook, E. K. Jones, Edward L. McAleer and Fred A. Smith.

AIB Committees Named

B. Bruce Frantz, president of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, yesterday announced the following committees:

Educational—Thomas J. Norris, chairman; Kenneth O. Hulse, Mrs. Minnette Dodd, Theodore Bogley, Allen H. Cannon, Harry Chenoweth, Miss Verna E. Curtis, Fred Daum, Miss Leona E. Draeger, George B. Earnshaw, Martin Gilbert, Allen Greenstreet, Wales Jack, Donald Jones, Jack Cocker, Robert H. Lacey, Arthur Meade, Mrs. Mary C. Quirk, Mrs. Ann Rider, Sidney E. Smith, Jr., and Frank Weaver.

Archives and House—Miss Reva Gue, chairman; Thomas J. Norris and Kenneth O. Hulse.

Athletic and Entertainment—Claude C. Miller, chairman; Miss Martha Green, Jack Cocker, Miss Rose Johnson and Richard Freer.

Audit—Mrs. Gladys Morris, chairman; Edgar Saylor and Miss Frances Wassman.

Banquet and Finance—George B. Earnshaw, chairman; Earle McGeary and Paul J. Seltzer.

Membership—Denzil E. Wisecarver, chairman; Miss Leona E. Draeger, William Lipscomb, Miss Margaret Cooke, Fred Loops, William Williamson, Sidney Smith, Jr., Donald Jones, Ripley Bowman, Fred Daum.

Public relations—Miss Leona E. Draeger, chairman; Miss Florinda Sariego and Martin Gilbert.

October Clearings Dip

Washington bank clearings in October totaled $170,032,989, a dip of $4,946,755 when compared with the same 1943 month. Cumulative clearings for the first 10 months this year aggregated $1,707,266,168, a gain of $67,770,619 over the corresponding period last year. The figures were reported yesterday by George H. Bright, manager of the Washington Clearing House Association.

New Sales Head Here

Burroughs Adding Machine Co. yesterday announced appointment of R. W. Barry as manager of its Washington sales and service branch.

Dr. Crane in New Post

Dr. J. B. Crane, formerly chief of the transportation staff, Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce, has joined the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore. Dr. Crane and his staff will concentrate on possible future applications of aircraft ranging from high-altitude freezing of perishable foods to the use of air transportation in Nation-wide distribution of nonperishable goods.

Inquiry Launched On Brokers' Deals

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—The New York Stock Exchange today directed members and partners of member firms to report in detail all transactions in listed stocks in which they engaged for their own accounts on October 23 and October 24.

Stock exchange spokesmen said the information was being collected at the request of the Securities & Exchange Commission but there was no comment on the purpose behind the move.

On October 23 the stock market experienced a wide deecline as a result of heavy selling in the closing hour.

'Kickback' Racket Probed in New York

New York, Nov. 1 (AP).—Assistant State Attorney General John W. M. Rutenberg said today the attorney general's office was investigating what he charged was a "kick back" racket among customers' men in Wall Street.

The disclosure came as Supreme Court Justice Benjamin F. Schrieber granted an injunction, sought by Rutenberg, to enjoin from future stock transactions Alfred Henry Holman, a customers' man employed by a New York Stock Exchange firm.

Quotations on N. Y. Stock Exchange

By the Associated Press

Total stock sales yesterday, 708,069 shares; previous day, 676,210; week ago, 638,225; year ago, 1,072,250; two years ago, 771,830; January 1 to date, 214,503,418; year ago, 242,690,004; two years ago, 94,457,266.

Dow-Jones Stocks

New York, Nov. 1.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Ch'ge.
30 ind.	146.63	147.05	146.38	146.73	+0.20
20 rails	41.62	41.88	41.53	41.66	+0.07
15 utils.	25.48	25.73	25.45	25.67	+0.27
65 stks.	52.91	53.14	52.81	52.99	+0.13

Transactions in stocks used in averages today: Industrials, 41,500; railroads, 44,420; utilities, 35,000; 65 stocks, 120,920.

Sales. Add 00	High	Low	Close	Net Ch ge
Abbott Lab.... 3	59½	59	59	—1
A C F Brill.... 3	8¾	8¾	8¾	+ ⅛
Air Reduction.... 13	39	38¾	38½	+ ⅛
Alaska Juneau.... 3	9⅛	9	9⅛	+ ⅛
Allegheny Corp. 8	2¼	2¼	2¼	....
Allegheny pf.... 12	26¾	26¾	26¾	+ ⅛
Allegh Lud Stl.... 2	25¼	25¼	25¼	....
Allen Industries 2	28½	28½	28½	....
Al Chem & Dye. 1	147¾	147¾	147¾	+ ¾
Allied Mills.... 6	100	100	100	....
Allied Stores.... 6	30¾	30¾	30¾	— ⅛
Allis-Ch Mfg.... 13	30¼	30¼	30¼	— ⅛
Alpha P Cem.... 1	39¼	39¼	39¼	— ⅛
Am Ag Ch Del.... 1	21½	21½	21½	— ⅛
Am Airlines.... 1	27¾	27¾	27¾	....
Am Bank Note.... 3	80½	80	80	— ⅛
Am Bosch.... 2	20¼	20¼	20¼	+ ⅛
Am Brake Shoe 2	45¾	45¾	45¾	....
Am Cable & Rad 6	44¾	44¼	44¼	— ⅛
Am Can.... 1	117¾	117¾	117¾	....
Am Can pf.... 4	89	89	89	....
Am Ch & Chem.... 3	88½	88½	88½	....
Am Crystal Sug 13	18¾	18¾	18¾	....
Am Distill.... 5	27	27	27	....
Am Export.... 1	25½	25½	25½	....
Am&F P $6 pf. 2	92	92	92	— ½
Am& F P $7 pf. 4	96¾	96¾	96¾	+ ¼
Am&F P 2 pf 17	17½	17½	17½	....
Am-Hawaii SS.... 1	36	36	36	....
Am Hide & Len. 8	5¼	5¼	5¼	....
Am Home Prod 21	73¾	73½	73½	— ⅛
Am Ice.... 5	8¼	8¼	8¼	....
Am Interlake.... 2	8¼	8¼	8¼	....
Am Invest Ill.... 7	8¾	8¾	8¾	....
Am Loco.... 26	21¾	20¾	20¾	— ⅛
Am Mach & Fdy.... 2	16	15¾	16	....
Am Metal.... 1	25	25	25	....
Am Pow & Lt.... 2	5¾	5¾	5¾	....
Am P&L $6 pf. 8	53¾	53	53	+ ¼
Am P&L $5 pf 11	46¾	46½	46¾	— ⅛
Am Rad & St S 1	12	11¾	12	....
Am Roll Mill 24	34¾	34¼	34¼	— ⅛
Am Safety Raz 11	17	17	17	....
Am Smelt & R 7	40½	39¾	39¾	— ⅛
Am Snuff.... 1	44¼	44¼	44¼	....
Am Stl Fdrs.... 13	25¼	25¼	25¼	....
Am Stores.... 2	17¾	17¾	17¾	....
Am Stove.... 1	23¾	23¾	23¾	....
Am Sugar Ref. 4	48¾	48	48	— ¼
Am Sugar pf.... 1	128	128	128	....
Am Sumat Tob 1	29	29	29	....
Am Tel & Tel.... 14	164	163½	164	....
Am Tobacco.... 6	66¼	66½	66½	+ ¼
Am Tob B.... 4	67¾	67½	67½	....
Am Type Fdrs.... 2	11¾	11¾	11¾	....
Am Viscose.... 1	44¾	44¾	44¾	....
Am Wat Wks.... 19	4¾	4¾	4¾	....
Am Woolen.... 4	8	7¾	7¾	— ⅛
Am Wool pf.... 1	91	90½	91	+ 2
Anaconda Cop.... 18	27¼	27	27¼	+ ⅛
Anchor Hock Gl 2	25½	25½	25½	....
Andes Copper.... 1	11¼	11¼	11¼	....
Arch-Dan-Mid.... 1	54	54	54	....
Armour & Co.... 21	5¾	5¾	5¾	— ⅛
Armour pr pf.... 1	97½	97½	97½	— ⅛
Armstrong Cork 1	44¼	44¼	44¼	....
Artloom Corp.... 1	44¾	44¾	44¾	....
Asso Dry Gds.... 3	9¾	9¾	9¾	....
Atch T & S F.... 12	66½	66½	66½	....
A T & S F pf.... 9	98¼	98	98¼	+ ⅛
Atl Coast Line 1	68¾	68¾	68¾	....
Atl G & W Ind 25	40¼	39¾	40¼	....
Atl Refining.... 18	35¼	35¼	35¼	+ 1⅜
Atlas Corp.... 7	30½	30	30	....
Aviation Corp.... 7	15½	15½	15½	— ⅛
Bald Loco ct.... 21	23¼	22¾	23	— ⅛
Balt & Ohio.... 34	8¾	8½	8½	....
Balt & Ohio pf.. 12	15	14¾	14¾	— ⅛
Bangor & Aro.... 19	12¾	11¾	12	....
Barber Asph.... 3	24¾	24¾	24¾	....
Barker Bros.... 2	18	17¾	17¾	....
Barnsdall Oil.... 7	16½	16½	16½	....
Bath Ir Wks.... 5	16½	16½	16½	....
Bayuk Cigars.... 2	31½	31½	31½	....
Beech Aire.... 120	11	10¾	10¾	— ⅛
Bell Aire.... 153	14¼	13¾	14	— ⅛
Bendix Aviat.... 9	45	44¾	44¾	....
Benef Ind Ln.... 1	19½	19¼	19¼	+ ⅛
Best & Co.... 1	41	41	41	....
Best Foods.... 7	18¾	18¾	18¾	+ 1
Beth Steel.... 20	64¼	63¾	64¼	....
Beth Steel pf.. 3	125	125	125	....
Bigelow-Sanf.... 1	47	47	47	....
Black & Decker 1	22½	22½	22½	+ ⅛
Blaw-Knox.... 12	10¾	10¾	10¾	....
Boeing Airplane 59	17	16¾	16¾	— ⅛
Bond Strs.... 1	46	46	46	....
Borden Co.... 8	33¾	33¾	33¾	+ ⅛
Borg-Warner.... 9	39	38¾	39	+ ⅛
Boston & Maine 9	5½	5½	5½	....
Braniff Airw.... 11	11½	11½	11½	....
Bridgeport Br.. 13	10¼	10¼	10¼	....
Briggs Mfg.... 7	38¾	38½	38½	— ⅛
Bklyn-Un Gas.... 3	21¼	21¼	21¼	....
Brunswick-Balke 1	20½	20½	20½	....
Bucyrus-Erie.... 2	12¼	12¼	12¼	....
Budd Mfg.... 15	10¼	10¼	10¼	....
Budd Wheel.... 3	9¼	9¼	9¼	....
Bullard Co.... 1	19¼	19¼	19¼	....
Bulova Watch.... 2	38¾	38¾	38¾	....
Burr Add Mach 1	14¼	14¼	14¼	....
Bush Term.... 8	11¾	11¾	11¾	....
Butler Bros.... 8	6	6	6	— ⅛
Butler Bros pf.. 1	31½	31½	31½	....
Butte Con & Z.. 3	3¼	3¼	3¼	....
Byers (AM) Co 1	35¼	35¼	35¼	....
Byron Jackson.... 1	21¾	21¾	21¾	....
Calif Packing.... 1	27	27	27	— ⅛
Callahan Z-Lead 8	1¼	1	1	....
Calumet & Hec 7	6¾	6¾	6¾	....
Campbell Wyant 1	19½	19½	19½	....
CanDry G Ale.. 6	28¾	28¾	28¾	....
Canad Pacific.... 4	6¾	6¾	6¾	....
Capital Adm A.. 12	10¾	10¾	10¾	+ ⅛
Carpenter Stl.... 1	20	20	20	....
Carrier Corp.... 8	18⅝	18⅝	18⅝	+ ⅛
Carriers & Gen 1	32	32	32	....
Carrier Corp pf 1	87	87	87	....
Case (JI) Co.... 2	87	87	87	....
Caterpill Tractor 8	47½	46½	46½	— ⅛
Celanese Corp.... 8	47½	47½	47½	....
Celanese 1st pf.. 4	103¾	103¾	103¾	....
Celotex Corp.... 3	13	13	13	....
Cent Aguirre.... 11	21	21	21	....
Cent Foundry.... 2	3	3	3	....
Cent RR NJ.... 1	74½	74½	74½	....
Cent VioletaSug 5	10¼	10¼	10¼	....
Century Rib M 2	11¾	11¾	11¾	....
Cerro de Pas.... 1	32	32	32	....
Certain-teed Prod 38	7¾	7¾	7¾	....
ChamPap&Fib pf 1	29¼	29¼	29¼	....
Ches & Ohio.... 18	47¾	46¾	47¼	....
Ches & Ohio pf.. 16	47¾	46¾	47¼	....
Chi & E Ill.... 1	4	4	4	....
Chi&E Ill pf A.. 7	13¾	13¾	13¾	....
Chi Gt West.... 4	5¾	5¾	5¾	....
Chi Grt W pf.... 1	22¾	22¾	22¾	....
Chi & NW pf.... 64	27¾	27¾	27¾	....
Chi&NW pf.... 10	49¾	48¾	49¼	....
Chi Pneu Tool.... 3	19¾	19½	19½	....
ChiPneuT cv pf 1	47¾	47½	47½	....
Childs Co.... 10	4½	4½	4½	....
Chrysler Corp.... 3	90	90	90	....
Chrysler & Fuel 3	20¾	20½	20½	....
Cincinnati Gas.... 1	9¾	9¾	9¾	....
Cincinnati Mill.... 1	95¼	95¼	95¼	....
Cincinnati Tel.... 1	45¾	45¾	45¾	....
Cincinnati Ut.... 1	13¾	13¾	13¾	....
Cities Service.... 1	136¼	136¼	136¼	....
Cities Service pf 3	30	29¾	29¾	....
Clev Cliffs Iron 1	35¾	35	35	....
Clev Elec Ill.... 1	32¼	32¼	32¼	....
Clev Graph Br.... 1	23	23	23	....
Climax Molyb.... 2	43	43	43	....
Cluett Peabody 2	34¾	34¾	34¾	+ ⅛
Cocoa-Cola.... 3	137½	136¾	137½	+ ⅛
Colgate-Palm-P 3	30	29¾	30	+ ⅛
Collins & Aik.... 2	35¾	35	35	— ⅛
Colum Broadcas A 13	4¾	4¾	4¾	....
Colum G&E.... 29	32¼	32¼	32¼	— ⅛
Col G&E 5% pf 4	89	88½	88½	....
Colum Pict.... 2	19½	19½	19½	....
Colum Carbon.... 1	92¾	92¾	92¾	....
Coml Credit.... 1	40¾	40¾	40¾	....
Coml Inv Tr.... 36	44¾	44	44¼	— ⅛
Coml Solvents.... 2	15½	15½	15½	....
Comwlth Edis.. 20	28¼	28¼	28¼	+ ⅛
Comwl & Sou.. 146	2¾	2¾	2¾	....
Com & Sou pf.. 14	90	88	90	+ 1¾
Congoleum-N.... 2	24½	24½	24½	....
Consol Cigar.... 2	24¼	24¼	24¼	....
Cons Copperm.... 3	3¾	3¾	3¾	....
Cons Edison.... 34	25¼	25¼	25¼	+ ⅛
Cons Edison pf 1	107¾	107¾	107¾	+ ¼
Consol F Ind.... 8	6	6	6	....
Cons F Ind pf.. 29	28	27¾	28	+ ⅛
Cons Laundries.. 2	27¼	27¼	27¼	....
Cons Nat Gas.... 29	29¼	29	29	....
Con RR Cuba pf 14	29	29	29	....
Cons Vultee.... 90	17¾	17¾	17¾	....
Cons Vultee pf.. 2	24¼	24¼	24¼	....
Consol Coal.... 2	20¼	20¼	20¼	....
Container Corp 4	28¾	28¾	28¾	....
Cont Baking.... 2	9¾	9¾	9¾	....
Cont Can.... 39	38¾	38¾	38¾	— ⅛
Cont Diam Fib 3	10¾	10¾	10¾	....
Cont Ins.... 3	48¼	48	48	— ⅛
Cont Motors.... 13	8¼	8	8	....
Cont Oil Del.... 3	58¼	58¼	58¼	....
Cont Steel.... 4	29¼	28½	28½	+ ⅛
Copperweld Stl 13	11¾	11¾	11¾	....
Corn Prod.... 9	58¾	58½	58½	....
Cornell-Dub El. 13	20¾	20¾	20¾	....
Coty Inc.... 2	6½	6½	6½	....
Crane Co.... 8	33¾	33¾	33¾	....
Cream of Wh.... 2	25¾	25½	25¾	....
Crosley Corp.... 26	27	26¾	26¾	....
Crown Cork&Sea 3	36	36	36	....
Crown Ck pf.... 1	46	46	46	....
Crown Zeller.... 2	20½	20½	20½	....
Crucible Stl.... 1	35½	35½	35½	....
Crucible Stl pf 1	80½	80½	80½	....
Cuban-Am Sug.... 1	15¾	15¾	15¾	....
Cudahy Pack.... 1	24	24	24	....
Cuneo Press.... 3	28¼	28¼	28¼	....
Curtis Pub.... 28	9¾	9¾	9¾	....
Curtis P pf pf.. 2	84	84	84	....
Curtiss-Wright 150	6¼	6¼	6¼	+ ⅛
Curtiss-Wr A.... 22	18¾	18¾	18¾	....
Cutler-Hammer.. 7	24	24	24	....
Davison Chem.... 38	15¾	15¾	15¾	....
Decca Records.... 1	38	38	38	....
Deere & Co.... 10	40½	39¾	40¼	....
Deere & Co pf.. 1	38¼	38¼	38¼	....
Del & Hudson.... 1	30¾	30¾	30¾	....
Del Lack & West 11	31¼	30½	30½	— ⅛
Detroit Edison.. 19	21¼	20¾	21	....
Diamond Match.. 1	32¾	32¾	32¾	....
Diam T Motor.. 3	31¾	31¾	31¾	....
Dist Corp-Seag.. 1	32	31¾	31¾	....
Doehler Die Cas 3	43	43	43	....
Dome Mines.... 18	22¾	21¾	22¼	....
Douglas Aircraft 21	72¾	71¾	72¼	....
Dow Chem.... 3	136	135¼	136	....
Dresser Ind.... 3	19¾	19¾	19¾	....
Dunhill Int.... 1	39	38	39	.... duPont de N.... 5	134½	134½	134½	....
duPont pf.... 5	158¼	158	158	....
Eagle Pich Ld.. 2	13¼	12¾	13¼	....
Eastern Air Lr.. 8	37	36¾	37	....
Eastman Kodak.. 5	168¾	168¾	168¾	....
Elec Auto-Lite.... 1	49	49	49	....
Elec Bond&Sh.... 1	21¾	21¾	21¾	....
Elec Boat.... 1	44¾	44¾	44¾	....
El P&L $7 pf.... 1	84	84	84	....
El Storage Bat 1	93½	93½	93½	....
Emerson El Mf.. 1	44	44¾	44¾	....
Endicott-John.. 5	15¾	15¾	15¾	....
Equit Off Bldg.. 1	14¾	14½	14½	....
Erie RR.... 21	4¾	4¾	4¾	....
Erie RR pf A.... 27	11¾	11¾	11¾	....
Eureka V Clean 2	13¾	13¾	13¾	....
Ex-Cell-O.... 3	42¾	42¾	42¾	....
Exchange Buff.. 1	4½	4½	4½	....
Fairbanks Morse 1	41½	41½	41½	....
Fairchild Engine 1	41¾	41¾	41¾	....
Fajardo Sugar.... 1	24¾	24¾	24¾	....
Farns Tel & R.. 2	3¾	3¾	3¾	....
Fed Mine & Sm.. 1	13	13	13	....
Fed Mogul.... 1	22¾	22¾	22¾	....
Fed Mot Truck.. 1	32	32	32	....
Federal D Stgs.. 1	8¾	8¾	8¾	....
Fed P Fire Ins.. 1	20¼	20¼	20¼	....
Firestone T&R.. 7	53	51¾	51¾	— ⅛

Sales. Add 00	High	Low	Close	Net Ch ge
First T&R pf.. 1	107½	107½	107½	....
Flintkote.... 6	22½	22¼	22½	+ ⅛
Fonda&Johns Stl 1	6¾	6¾	6¾	....
Food Fair Strs.. 2	15¾	15¾	15¾	....
Foster Wheeler.. 3	23	22¾	22¾	— ⅛
Francisco Sugar 4	16	16	16	— ⅛
Freeport Sulph.. 4	32½	32½	32½	— ⅛
Gabriel Co.... 2	6	6	6	....
Gair (Robert).... 1	6	6	6	....
Gair (Robt) Cp.. 1	4½	4½	4½	....
Gar Wood Ind.... 8	16	16	16	+ ⅛
Gaylord Cont.... 2	6¾	6¾	7	+ ⅛
Gen Am Invest.. 2	20½	20¾	20¾	....
Gen Am Inv pf.. 2	14¼	14	14¼	....
Gen Baking.... 4	108¼	107½	108¼	+ 2¾
Gen Cable.... 1	8¾	8¾	8¾	+ ⅛
Gen Elec.... 2	5¾	5¾	5¾	+ ⅛
Gen Foods.... 42	39	38¾	39	....
Gen G & El A.. 63	34¾	34¾	34¾	— ⅛
Gen Motors.... 68	61¼	61¼	61¼	+ ¼
Gen Out Advert 2	21¼	21¼	21¼	....
Gen Out Adv A.. 1	56	56	56	....
Gen Pres Ex.... 1	21¾	21½	21½	....
Gen Print Ink.. 2	9½	9½	9½	....
Gen Pub Service 1	2¾	2¾	2¾	....
Gen Ry Signal.. 1	26¼	26¼	26¼	....
Gen R&Stl new 14	3¾	3¾	3¾	....
Gen Refract.... 14	21¾	21	21	— ⅛
Gen Shoe.... 1	19½	19½	19½	....
Gen Time Inst.. 11	27¾	27¾	27¾	....
Gillette Saf R.. 9	12¾	12½	12½	....
Gillette Saf R pf 1	87½	87½	87½	+ ⅛
Gimbel Bros.... 1	19¾	19¾	19¾	....
Gimbel $5 pf.... 1	101	101	101	+ ⅛
Glidden Co.... 3	23¼	22¾	23¼	+ ⅛
Glidden cv pf.. 3	53	51	51	....
Goodrich (BF).. 5	49¾	49¾	49¾	....
Goodrich pf.... 1	104¾	104¾	104¾	....
Goodyear T&R.. 9	47	46¾	46¾	— ⅛
Goth Hosiery.... 1	16	16	16	....
Graham-P Mot.. 4	6	5¾	5¾	+ ⅛
Granite City Stl 1	13¾	13¾	13¾	....
Gt W Sug new.. 1	38¼	38¼	38¼	....
Gt Nor Ir Ore ct 5	17	16¾	16¾	....
Gt North Ry pf.. 36	41¾	41¾	41¾	....
Gt West Sug.... 12	29¾	29	29	....
Green (H L).... 1	33	33	33	....
Greyhound Corp 23	22¾	22¾	22¾	— ⅛
Grum Airc En.. 110	28¼	28¼	28¼	+ ⅛
Guantanamo Sugar. 1	5¾	5¾	5¾	....
Gulf Mob & O.. 17	6¾	6¾	6¾	....
Gulf M & O pf.. 1	55½	55½	55½	....
Gulf Oil.... 4	46½	46¾	46¾	....
Gulf Sulphur.... 1	19¾	19¾	19¾	+ ⅛
Hamil Watch.... 3	14¾	14¾	14¾	+ ⅛
Harb-Walker.... 2	12	12	12	....
Hayes Indust.... 1	16	16	16	....
Hayes Mfg.... 1	9¼	9¼	9¼	....
Helme (G W).... 5	77¼	77¼	77¼	....
Hercules Motors 2	22¾	22¾	22¾	— ⅛
Hercules Powder 2	81¾	81¾	81¾	....
Hershey Furn.... 1	44¼	44¼	44¼	....
Holly Sugar.... 1	6¾	6¾	6¾	....
Homestake Min 9	41¾	41¾	41¾	....
Houd-Hershey A 2	43½	43½	43½	....
Houd-Hershey B 3	16¾	16½	16½	....
Houston Oil.... 3	66¼	66¼	66¼	....
Houston Oil pf.. 1	66	66	66	....
Howe Sound.... 2	32¾	32½	32½	....
Hudson & Manu 1	13¾	13¾	13¾	....
Hud Bay M&S.... 1	27¾	27¾	27¾	....
Hudson Mot.... 5	16¼	16	16	— ⅛
Hupp Motor.... 1	4	4	4	....
Idaho Power.... 4	30¾	30¼	30¼	+ ⅛
Illinois Central 39	16½	16½	16½	+ ⅛
Ill Central pf.. 1	40	39¾	40	....
Indpls Pwr&Lt.. 1	19¾	19¾	19¾	....
Indust Rayon.... 5	37	36½	36½	— ⅛
Inspirat Con C 6	10¾	10¾	10¾	....
Intercon Corp.... 1	7¾	7¾	7¾	....
Interlake Iron.... 4	9	9	9	....
Int Bus Mach.... 3	174	174	174	....
Int Harvester.... 3	77¼	77¼	77¼	+ ¼
Int Hydro-El A 33	3½	3½	3½	....
Int Min&Ch.... 1	18¼	18	18	....
Int Min&Ch pf.. 8	18¼	18	18	....
Int Mining.... 1	77¼	77¼	77¼	....
Int Nick Can.. 31	30¾	30	30¼	....
Int Paper.... 24	19¾	19¾	19¾	....
Int Pap pf.... 9	89½	89	89½	....
Int Shoe.... 1	42	42	42	....
Int Tel & Tel.. 33	17¾	17¾	17¾	....
Interst Dept St 2	17¾	17¾	17¾	....
Jarvis (WB).... 2	17¼	17¼	17¼	....
Jewel Tea.... 4	35¾	35	35	....
Johnson & J.... 1	32	32	32	....
Johns-Manville.. 1	96	96	96	....
John & John pf 1	108½	108½	108½	....
Jones & Lau Stl 9	24¼	24¼	24¼	....
Jon&Lau Stl pf B 3	83½	83	83½	....
Joy Mfg.... 1	83¼	83¼	83¼	....
Kan City Sou.. 10	16¼	16¼	16¼	....
Kan C Sou pf.. 2	30¼	30¼	30¼	....
Kayser (J) 1	24¼	24¼	24¼	....
Kennecott Cop.. 30	34¾	34¾	34¾	....
Kimberly-Clark.. 7	36¾	36¾	36¾	....
Kimberly-Cl pf.. 32	34¾	34¾	34¾	....
Kinney (GR) Co.. 3	6¾	6¾	6¾	....
Kresge (S S).... 6	25¾	25¾	25¾	....
Kress (S H).... 1	36	36	36	....
Kroger Groc.... 5	36¾	36¾	36¾	....
Lambert Co.... 2	28½	28½	28½	....
Lee Rub & Tire 1	41¾	41¾	41¾	....
Lehigh C & N.. 29	12¾	12¾	12¾	....
Lehigh Port C.. 1	29	29	29	....
Lehigh Val Coal 1	1¾	1¾	1¾	....
Lehman Corp.... 1	24¾	24¾	24¾	....
Lehn & Fink.... 1	34¼	34	34	....
Lerner Stores.... 2